Why we call it "Store News."

We generally avoid the use of the word "advertisement," because in its later significance it savors of solicitation. And to solicit you to come or to buy are things that we never do.
 We try to put the facts before you, and leave the rest to you. We don't argue and we don't lie. Here is the store news of to-day. If it interests you, you will come in, if it doesn't, we are regretful, but resigned.
 On this principle, you can understand why we try to make the news as economically interesting as we possibly can. The facts must do their own talking—consequently they must be forcible. A bad bargain is the very best thing we could give you for our own interests. So we make them good, quite as much for our own benefit as for yours.
 Here are some—

JAMES PATON & CO

Too Much Bait For His Fish.
 They were passing a good story at the courthouse yesterday afternoon concerning a young lawyer who was admitted to practice a short time ago and recently hung out his shingle. His office isn't a very pretentious affair, but he didn't think it necessary to apologize to his friends for his little eight by ten, with several feet partitioned off for the use of his "clerk." The other day lightning struck, and the door opened slowly, while a voice charged with a strong Irish accent asked if the lawyer was in.
 "James," said the rising disciple of Blackstone, getting up from a couch at the time, "I wish you'd step around to the First National bank and tell them that the amount of that draft isn't quite right. It should be $1,575, instead of $1,525, and before you return drop into Mr. Jolnager's office and tell him I've collected that $3,500 claim for him. While you're there, step across the hall and inform Mr. Fogoball that unless that note for $10,000 is paid in the morning I shall begin foreclosure proceedings. Don't lose any time, as I've a great deal of work for you this morning."
 "Be hivins!" gasped the client prospective, who had progressed as far as the doorway into the inner office, "this be's no place fer me wid er two dollar fifty cent claim ter k'lect." And he departed.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Things They Did in 1799.
 An advertisement in a fashionable issue of a Maryland paper in 1779 shows that the housewives of that day used cooking utensils of a kind that only a favored few can afford to use now. A coppersmith "from Lancaster" having "Baltimore-Town" advertised copper fish and wash kettles, copper and brass brewing kettles, saucepans, coffee and chocolate pots, stewpans and Dutch ovens.
 There was plenty of help in the household then with the slaves. Several advertisements refer to them. In one a "Commission and Insurance Broker" "Gratefully acknowledges the favors of his friends, and hopes for a continuance of their correspondence. —He has now for sale, a Pocket of good HOPS, a 10 inch new GIBB— and wants to buy a NEGRO CABLE— about 12 years old."
 Women were in certain kinds of business at that time, for a firm of "tailors" advertise their business as two doors from Mrs. Chilton's tavern.
 People liked to hear a little gossip in those days also, as now, and what may be called a society note follows the notice of a wedding and informs the public that "By a late marriage in St. Mary's the Lady is become Sister-in-law to her own mother and the Gentleman Son-in-law to his Sister-in-law."

A Broken Shoestring.
 "There goes a man who may wish before long that he had a good, sound shoestring in his shoe," remarked a man to a friend as a rather slipshod individual passed them on the street. The man referred to had a broken shoestring in one of his shoes, and the other had been spliced in several places.
 "I am not talking from the point of view of neatness," went on the first man, "but on account of an accident that befell me recently. I was about to get off a street car when the shoestring in one of my shoes snapped. It had been tightly laced, and the break, occurring when it did, just as I had taken my hand from the rail, was enough to make me lose my balance. I felt myself falling to the street. There was a trailer on the car, and I was pretty badly scared, as I thought that I stood a good chance of getting a leg under the wheels. Luckily I made a final effort to straighten myself, and I got clear with nothing more than a painfully twisted ankle.
 "A shoestring is a small thing, but after that scare I determined that I would always have a good one in my shoe."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

A Point of Resemblance.
 They were dancing. The music was heavenly. The swish of her silken skirts was delightful. The fragrance of the roses upon her bosom was almost intoxicating.
 "Ah," she said, looking up into his face and smiling sweetly, "you remind me of one of Whitman's poems!"
 A sudden dizziness seemed to seize him. It was as if he were floating along in a dream. When he could catch his breath to speak, he asked:
 "Which one?"
 "Oh, any one!" she replied. "The feet are all mixed up in all of them."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Tom Corwin's Mouth.
 Tom Corwin had an enormous mouth. He once said he had been insulted by Deacon Smith. The good brother asked for further explanation.
 "Well," said Corwin, "when I stood up in the lecture room to relate my experience and I opened my mouth, Deacon Smith rose up in front and said, 'Will some brother please close that window and keep it closed?'"—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Jury of Women
 Who have tested the merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills return the verdict that for backache and kidney disorders there is no preparation in any way equal to this great discovery of Dr. A. W. Chase, America's greatest physician. This great kidney cure is sold by all dealers at 25 cents a box, and has proved most effectual as a remedy for the many ills to which woman is subject.
