

Reports Wide Response From Strawberry Growers

"There has been a tremendous response from farmers to grow strawberries on our plant on a contract basis," it was stated here over the weekend by Mr. Leo P. McIsaac, Manager of the Island Co-op Services Fruit and Vegetable Processing Plant at Sherwood.

Mr. McIsaac stated that the processing committee had put out more than 200 acres in strawberry plants to farmers all over the Province. Most farmers will grow from a half acre to one acre of berries but several have contracted for two acres.

They will receive a guaranteed minimum price of 18 cents a box and will get a higher price if the market price is higher.

According to plans the processing of poultry will get underway around September 1 and here too the prospects are very bright.

"The present market prospects indicate that the plant will have to be prepared to handle 5,000 birds instead of 3,000," it was stated by Mr. McIsaac as he referred to marketing conditions.

"The outlook for poultry this year is excellent," he continued. "The storage stocks are practically nil and the rate of consumption is holding on a high level despite an increase in price."

In comparing Canadian storage stocks of a year ago and this year he pointed out that on May 1, 1954 there were 7,500,000 pounds of poultry in storage. On May 1 this year there was less than 2,000,000 pounds and much of that has been used up during the past month.

SALES OF CHICKS
He also added that unfortunately the sales of chicks on the Island were lower than they were a year ago and the directors of the new company are considering the feasibility of putting chicks on a contract basis later this season in order to ensure sufficient value for an efficient operation of the plant and to provide an ample supply for the market.

Due to the bad weather there has been some delay in the construction of the processing building with the result that the construction in order to ensure sufficient value for an efficient operation of the plant and to provide an ample supply for the market.

LIBRARIAN ACCEPTS REGINA APPOINTMENT
Miss Grace Campbell, one of the original staff of P.E.I. Libraries, has been appointed librarian in charge of the North Central Saskatchewan Regional Library at Regina. She had previously assisted in setting up that library, having received a year's leave of absence for the purpose in 1950. That was subsequently extended for another year.

Miss Campbell takes over her new duties July 1, but has already left as she proposes to visit relatives and to attend to Canadian Library Association convention at Saskatoon.

Before her departure she was honoured by a dinner and presentation at Villa Waters by the Library staff and also by the choir of the Charlottetown B. Church.

Miss Campbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Campbell are residents of Charlottetown.

Kingston Legion Presentation

A pleasing feature of the last monthly meeting of the Kingston Branch, Canadian Legion held at the Charlottetown Legion Home Thursday night was the presentation of a past president's pin and medal to Captain Andrew MacEachern, M.C., who has been a driving force in the Kingston Branch since its organization. "Andy," as he is familiarly known to a host of friends, is a veteran of the two Great Wars. The presentation was made by Comrade C. M. Sinclair, Zone Commander of the Canadian Legion who paid tribute to Comrade MacEachern for his untiring efforts in bringing the Branch to the successful position which it now enjoys. Pictured above are Roy Bruce, president of the Kingston Branch, C. M. Sinclair and Captain MacEachern. Barter's Film Lab.

STRANGE BUT TRUE
By F. H. MacArthur
King Henry V. like some persons we know, had the habit of leaving books and not returning them. Once the prior of Christ Church, Canterbury, lent a valuable book to the king and never got it back again.

When Louis XI of France wanted to borrow one from the Faculty of Medicine at Paris, they made him deposit a valuable collection of plate as security for the books. Return before they would let him have it. Too, they made one of the kings nobles sign a joint bond with his majesty so they could be doubly sure of getting the book back. One would naturally think the members of the Faculty of Medicine at Paris acted rather boldly since in those days Kings often had heads chopped off for less reason.

Bill Austin Burt is credited with having invented the first typewriter. He called it a typograph and was as large as a writing desk. If one saw a modern typist operating such a machine one would think she or he were playing an old-fashioned organ.

The oldest books in the world were written by the Egyptians more than 4,000 years ago. Some of these books have been found in the tombs of the Egyptian nobles. They are in the form of papyrus rolls, and strange as it may seem, many of the stories told in those old books are very much like the stories we read today!

Their tales of travel, adventure, and shipwreck, one of them is almost exactly like "Sinbad the Sailor." One of them tells about medicine as the Egyptians practiced it — a curious book indeed. "It was about 66 feet long, and in it may be found all sorts of cures for all sorts of ailments. Some of the cures, like castor oil,

School committee and sick committee were re-appointed.

The treasurer was authorized to pay funds necessary for school music and school lights.

Several thank-you notes were read, also literature relating to W. I.

A serving tray, a gift to the W. I. from Mrs. Pope Hooper was gratefully received.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Cyrus MacNeill on Monday, June 13th. The roll call will be answered by a suggestion for salad making.

There will be an auction sale of remnants. The Lunch Committee will be Mrs. W. H. Horne, Miss Addie Moore, Mrs. S. Curtis, and Mrs. Howard White. Collection amounted to $12.22.

A very interesting and instructive program consisting of an illustrated talk on Homes and Gardens was given by Mr. Gordon Warren of the Experimental Farm. Following a delicious lunch and social chat the meeting closed.

are still supposed to be good for people; others were based on the belief that sickness was due to demons, and the cures recommended in those cases were in many ways much worse than the castor oil.
