THE EDUCATION QUESTION.

It is not alone with reference to those portions of history in which distinctly religious questions occur that differences will arise; a Roman Catholic will take a different view of the whole scope of history from a Protestant. Arnold would have written a very different sketch of universal history from that which Bossuet wrote, though both were men of a deeply religious turn of mind. Many will remember the splendid passage in Arnold's lectures on Modern History, when he speaks of the fall of Bonaparte, and traces the hand of Providence in the results of the campaign of Russia; a Catholic could not have written that passage without an allusion to Napoleon's attack on the Pope, which marked the turning point of his career. No one can treat philosophically of modern history, without referring to the influence of Catholicity and the Popes, nor of Ancient History without contrasting its ideas with those of Catholicity. History, apart from all reference to religion, is reduced to a bead roll of dates. Nor can the classics be adequately taught without allusion to religious truths; the study of Greek and Latin literature is not the mere acquiring of the power of reading two foreign languages; their spirit must be entered into and compared with that of Christian literature. Who could read Plato with clever, ardent lads, and refrain from pointing out where natural lights had enabled that glorious pagan to reach a portion of the truth, and where even he had fallen short? Or who could go through Cicero and not enlarge on the difference between the full certitude of the Christian, and his own earnest, though hesitating groping after immortality? We may here observe that the study of the ancient classics separated from all such references to religious truth is open, in a great degree, to the charges of Paganism brought against it by the Abbe Goume and his followers. In the English Universities it has even been found that the merely unintentional omission of such correctives has led to an exaggerated estimate and affection for the classics; and that, as it is said, too many, even of the dignitaries of a certain establishment, form their mind more on Plato and Aristottle than on Christian philosophers, and have a keener admiration for Cato and Decius than for the Christian martyrs. See the preface to Madan's Juvenal and Persius.

What we have said of the study of the classics may be observed of every branch of literature, unless such studies are to be degraded into the mere parrot power of intepreting; more than this, a teacher of philosophy itself would hardly adequately discharge his task if he failed to point out the new meanings which Christianity has impacted to the words humilitas, charitas, religio, sacramentum. Doctor Whately has made manifest how the teaching of formal logic may be influenced by the religious belief of the teacher, for his work on the subject contains numerous illustrations of syllogisms constructed against Roman Catholic belief, in which he uses ambiguous middle terms; and no Catholic professor could lecture on his work without pointing out those fallacies. Geography must be reduced to a dumb map, if all allusion is to be avoided as to the fruits of Catholic missions, and Paraguay be blotted out of the map because we must not offend susceptibilities by giving the Jesuits due praise for their labors. Nor let it be said that the teacher or professor may allude to all these subjects, but refrain from expressing any opinion on them. Youth will not accept such silence from its teachers, were it possible; and abstention is often in itself equivalent to assertion. The professor himself would feel that such a restraint would stunt his teaching, and make him a mere instrument for conveying facts, not a teacher and instructor in the truest and noblest sense. Such teaching would be a dull abridgement of statistics, not an elevating and inspiring instruction in knowledge; it would be a cramming of the intellect and not a forming of the mind. Religious truth is the life and salt of all education; and it is as fatal to the vitality of education to separate religion from it, as it would be to give a man saltless food all the week, and tell him to come on Sunday and eat a peck of salt to season it.

THE EDITOR OF THE PATRIOT

Is not pleased with our ideas on the question of Education. He says that we are inconsistent, changeable and silly, and that our writings have no effect. Now, we never intended to please the pious Elder, and the continual flow of rubbish in the Patriot, directed against our efforts, is one of the best possible proofs that our humble utterings are taking deep effect, and causing great alarm to our contemporary. Christians of all denominations perceive that our arguments in favor of religious education are unanswerable, and even the pious Elder himself has never condescended to refute them. Every number of the Patriot for the past six months, or more, contains a large amount of twaddle similar to that which appears in last Saturday's issue; this is not a small proof of the influence of the EXAMINER. If our articles are so mean and despicable, why does the good Elder give himself so much trouble in endeavoring to nullify their effect? Let our contemporary hold his soul in peace; notwithstanding his serpentine contortions, and twistings and hissing, we shall continue the even tenor of our way in placing before our readers sound principles. We are only entering on our subject. We shall continue to address our remarks, not to the prejudices, but the reason and judgement of our community. The Patriot may sound its tocsin as long and loud as it please; but time will tell which will prevail, Christian toleration or tocsin tyranny. Our contemporary catechises us as to our motives and intentions. In reply, we reiterate what we have often stated before: we are anxious that even-handed justice should be meted out to all denominations of Christians If Protestants pay eleven thousand pounds for the education of their children, we maintain that this sum should be expended just as Protestant parents think proper; if they consider it necessary to teach the Bible in the schools, let them do so; if Mr. Laird and his co-religionists wish to teach their children that Catholics are idolators, that the Pope is the "Man of Sin," the "Beast," that Rome is the "Scarlet Lady," &c., by all means let them do so with the money which they pay. This is but justice; parents have a right, a sacred right, to educate their children as they please. If their ideas regarding the Pope, the Blessed Virgin, Holy Water, &c., don't happen to be square with ours, we are not going to quarrel with them on that account. Let them settle that affair with their Maker. On the other hand, if "Papists" pay nine thousand pounds for the education of their children, we think that they should be allowed to expend that money on such education as they may deem proper. They pay the money for educating their children, and we think that they should be allowed the same privileges which they are willing to accord to those who differ from them in religion. Justice to the minority, whatever may be their religious tenents, justice to the majority in like manner.

We have maintained that the memorial of His Lordship the Bishop should have been granted. It is founded on justice and common sense. Schools in which Catholics are educated, in which Catholic parents have confidence, to which many respectable Protestants send their children, are refused a reasonable share of that very money which Catholics pay for education, and which they wish to be expended on such schools. David Laird and other extra pious men say that this is no injustice. Their argument is this: "We will make you pay your thousands for education, but it must be education according to our theory and not according to your Romish superstitions; we have the majority, and so you had better be very civil; you may get up splendid schools if you will, but one cent of the eight or nine thousand pounds you pay towards the education fund, you shall not receive for such schools. By the same tolerant, Christian spirit of justice, Papists are compelled to pay three or four hundred pounds annually to the Protestant College, while their own College is not allowed a penny of the thousands which they pay to the general education fund. In the estimation of pious David this is justice, this is equality! It is a satisfaction to know that unreasonable and intolerant bigots of the pious Elder's stamp are every day becoming fewer, and that a large majority of the respectable Protestants of the Island agree with us in denouncing an act of injustice which is so patent to all.

The editor of the Patriot tries at one time to cajole Catholics—at another time to browbeat and terrify them; now and then he lets them know that the sword of Damocles is hanging over them; that he holds the rod of iron wherewith to bring under subjection their Popish backs. We don't see what good it will do for Mr. Laird to be calling the Holy Father a "despotic prince." In the last issue of the patriotic sheet he sounds the tocsin in the following style:—

"The Examiner may rest assured, that if the Roman Catholics of this Island do not consider it humiliating to be dictated to in the management of their civil affairs, by a foreign despotic prince, its Protestant population have spirit enough indignantly to resent, and promptly to resist all such interference let it come in what shape it may, direct or indirect."

We trust that our religious contemporary is doing as well as might be expected after this deliverance! We hope that he will have sufficiently recuperated his wasted energies to tell us this week how many eggs were in the last mare's nest which he discovered, and when the said eggs are likely to be hatched!!

IN last week's issue of the Progress Mr Thomas Kirwan, editor of that paper, takes leave of his patrons, being about to leave the Island. We are sorry for this. Although we have had our differences, still we always recognized him as a genial witty being. We are glad to acknowledge that in his career in this Island, as a public journalist, he exhibited an honest and independent spirit, and that he endeavored to the best of his ability to promote the welfare of the Colony. As an Annexationist, we believe he was sincere, and his efforts in that cause will leave more than transient impression upon the public mind. It is almost a pity that his labors will be rendered comparatively nugatory, from the violence of another sheet which advocates the same line of policy with regard to the United States. The only fault which we found with Mr. Kirwan was his opposition to the Bishop's policy on the School Question; but at such a time as this, we are not going to quarrel with him about it. We honestly differed with him, and we strove to convince him of the error of his ways, but in this we were not successful. We were sometimes led into employing strong language but it never left more than a passing impression upon our mind. We wish him the fullest measure of success in the new home to which he is about to depart, and we are sure that if the Island ever requires a friend to defend her interests in the United States, Mr. Kirwan will not be wanting to act that part towards her.

THE WAYS OF THE CITY.

We understand that several gentlemen have been summoned before the Mayor for riding and driving upon the side walks within the jurisdiction of the Corporation of Charlottetown, and we know of one instance of a fine having been inflicted for so doing we consider that any penalty for thus transgressing the law would be most just, because foot passengers have as much right to protection as those who ride in carriages. At the same time we advocate strict and impartial justice; first, let the Corporation make the roads passable for carts and carriages, and when these repairs are provided for, let them inflict whatever fine they may think necessary to stop persons driving on the side walks; but while the roads are left in such a condition as to be absolutely dangerous, it appears an act of gross injustice to fine persons for travelling upon the only part of the highways accessible to them. It would be well for the Corporation to reflect upon all this, because it will very naturally be urged that they keep the roads in an impassable state, for the express purpose of raising an income by fining those who they compel to drive on the foot-way, (rather an easy way of raising the wind and filling the coffers of the elders,) and we sincerely recommend the Corporation, if such be their motive, to appoint two or three gentlemen informers, who would doubtless be found ready to do the dirty work upon an agreement for receiving half the fines.—Com.

THE Easter Term of the Supreme Court commenced its sittings on Tuesday last, His Honor Judge Peters presiding. The business of the Court is principally confined to appeal cases. A report of the proceedings will be given in our next No.

AMONG the appropriations of the Dominion Parliament, we notice that of $3,000 for Steam Communication between Prince Edward Island, Pictou and Hawksbury, N. S.

PETER SINCLAIR, Esq., M.P.P. for the first District of Queen's County, was on Thursday last sworn in as a Member of the Executive Council of this Island.

THE English Mail, per City of Boston, was received at the General Post Office, Charlottetown, on Thursday evening last. In another column will be found several news items which we clip from some of our late exchanges.

By an advertisement in another column, it will be observed that Mr. John D. Reid, for several years carrying on a general Dry Goods business at Tryon, has removed to Crapaud, and taken his brother into co-partnership with him. The new firm are clever business men, and we wish them success.

BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE for April has also come to hand. WE learn from the Montreal Evening Telegraph, of the 24th ultimo, that Mr Frank Cox, of Charlottetown, son of the late J. C Cox, Esq. of Morell, and Mr. P. McLaren, of New Perth, both natives of Prince Edward Island, passed their M. D. C. M. final examination yesterday afternoon, in the University of McGill College, Medical Department. It affords us much pleasure to chronicle the success of our young men who go to other parts to prosecute their studies, and we are happy they are, in almost every instance, able to take their place in the highest collegiate ranks. We hope the success of the above named young gentlemen will stimulate the youths in our Colleges to renewed efforts, so that when they are called upon to take their trial, no matter in what branch of business, they may be enabled to acquit themselves with credit.

THE Superior of the Christian Brothers of Montreal, accompanied by one of the Brothers, after having made an inspection of the Schools in Nova Scotia, arrived here in the Steamer on Friday night last, en route for Montreal, and are the guests of His Lordship the Bishop of Charlottetown.

BURGLARIES.

AN attempt was made on Saturday night last to force an entrance into the Bank of P E Island, by wrenching off one of the iron shutters. We can hardly tell what would have been the consequences had it not been discovered by two gentlemen on Sunday, who promptly warned the parties interested.

I. C Hall's Warehouse was entered on the same night through one of the back windows and the party opened the front door through which they decamped, taking with them, it is supposed, about half a barrel of oatmeal.

As our Police Force is small, we would recommend our citizens to be prepared to treat such visitors, should they intrude upon them, in such a way as will lead to their detection.

Alpine Grant Esq., proprietor of the Halifax COLONIST arrived here on Friday evening last by the Princess of Wales.

The Barque Empress, to Messrs Owen and Welsh, with a general cargo of Merchandize, arrived to day. This is the first arrival of our Spring Ships from England.

The following gentlemen have been appointed members of the Board of Works:

Hon. R. P. Haythorne,

We have seldom seen a finer display of ladies Dress Materials than that exhibited by our friend Robert Young. They consist of an almost endless variety of fancy Dresses, from 10½ per yard upwards, Coburgs, in almost every shade and quality, Winseys, good and heavy, from 11d per yard, French Merinoes, in all the leading colors, very cheap, Prints from 8d per yard very good, and nice Ginghams from 9d. Ladies would do well to take a note of this.

GOLDSMITHS' WORK.—The progress of fine art manufacture in this branch of trade is strikingly exemplified in a little work published by J. W. Benson, of 25 Old Bond Street, and of the City Steam Factory, 58 and 60, Ludgate Hill. It is enriched and embellished with designs, (by Italian, French, and English artists) of Brooches, Bracelets, Earrings, and other articles, suitable for personal wear, or Wedding, birthday, or other presents, with their prices. Mr Benson (who holds the appointment to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales) has also published a very interesting pamphlet on the Rise and Progress of Watch and Clock-making. These pamphlets are sent post free for two stamps each, and they cannot be too strongly recommended to those contemplating a purchase especially to residents in the country or abroad, who are thus enabled to select any article they may require, and have it forwarded with perfect safety.

C. Y. M. L. Institute.

THE alarm of Fire on Wednesday night last was occasioned by the malicious setting on fire of a building containing empty fish barrels, tar, rope, &c., on the breastwork of William Heard, Esq. The fire was fortunately discovered before it had made much progress, and was extinguished by persons living in the neighbornood, before the steam engine reached the spot.—Isl.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Female Complaints.—Climates have their particular disorders; age has infirmities peculiar to it; seasons have their specific diseases; but woman in all climates, at any age, and in every season, is liable to special complaints resulting in most cases from inattention, wrong treatment, or debility of constitution. For all disorders peculiar to the sex, Holloway's remedies secure present ease and future comfort, while the natural function of every organ is fairly established by them. Under their corrective sway the greatest improvement speedily appears—the body is developed, and the spirits rise. In these preparations not a particle of mercury or other noxious ingredient ever enters; hence the parent, guardian, or patient need hold no counsel before resorting to these remedies.

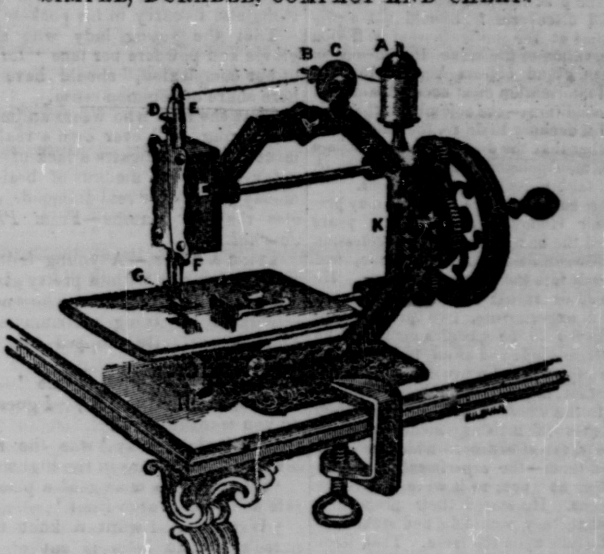
THE CELEBRATED
COMMON SENSE FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!
IMPROVED AND PERFECTED.

For Elegance of Finish it has no Rival, High Price or Low!

SIMPLE, DURABLE, COMPACT AND CHEAP.



It will sew anything that can be sewed on any high priced Machine in the land, just as nicely and just as rapidly. It will sew from Swiss Muslin up to Beaver Cloth, at the rate of twelve hundred stitches per minute.

This Machine has a new style of feeding apparatus, which makes the Machine Self guiding. The cloth, without the aid of either hand, will run nearly as true as when guided by Barnum's Self-sewer. This is one reason why this Machine is so easily managed by children. A girl with one hand can use it more successfully than she could ordinary Machines with two hands.

This Machine will Stitch, Hem, Fell, Tuck, Quilt, Cord, Bind, Braid, and Embroider in a most superior manner.

Printed instructions, German or English, Screw Driver, Hemmer, Oil Can, Four Needles, and Table Clamp, accompanying each Machine without extra cost.
