Black Market Flourishes in Russia Again

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia's black market men are back in business again as a result of what Moscow Radio called "temporary shortage of certain goods."

The radio quoted an editorial Thursday from Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, on the subject of Soviet domestic trade.

"Taking advantage of a temporary shortage of certain goods and the lack of alertness of some trade organizations which do not take properly into account the demands of the consumer, individual 'profiteering elements' make purchases for the purpose of re-selling," it said.

"In a number of cases the workers at the counter are their accomplices. A most decisive struggle must be waged against such disgraceful phenomena."

The Pravda editorial said the overwhelming number of workers in Soviet state trading organizations were conscientious and worked well, but added, "there are also dishonest ones who violate the rules of trade to make profits at the expense of the consumer."

Pravda editorial, as broadcast, did not indicate in which branches of the trade the main shortages have occurred. But it listed certain specific shortages in the rural areas. Knives, sewing machines, soap or other essential goods were mentioned.

It said also that in some places such goods as salt, matches, lamp glasses and crockery were not available.

Because of bad planning in one region the trade network had an accumulation of aluminum wire sufficient to last for five or six years.

The admitted shortage of "certain goods" may bear some relation to the fact that, for the first time in eight years, there was no April 1 announcement by the Soviet government of reductions in retail prices of food, clothing and consumer goods.

French Report Finds of Uranium

PARIS (Reuters) — Prof. Francis Perrin, French high commissioner for atomic energy, said Friday in a note to the Academy of Science: "Our country has reached the stage of producing uranium on an industrial scale."

Perrin said seven years of intense prospecting with geiger counters throughout France had led to this achievement.

The Vendee area of western France had yielded uranium in four places and the first big source in France, uranium in extracted had been discovered at La Voullie, near Limoges.

To Discuss Farm Problems At Washington This Week

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—Problems facing the North American farmer will get an airing this week at a meeting of the International Federation of Agriculture Producers, an organization which speaks for 25,000,000 farm families around the world.

Canada, as one of the big world exporters of farm products, will rank high on the agenda for the two days of discussion and will be represented at the conference by delegations from Quebec, Ontario and the three prairie provinces.

The meeting, taking place Tuesday and Wednesday, has been called to prepare the North American viewpoint for the world IFAP meeting in Rome next September. Representatives of Canada, the United States and Mexico will attend the closed sessions.

Discussion is expected to centre around the mountainous surplus of U. S. farm products, valued at $7,400,000,000, and its effect on world markets, in the over-all surplus problem will be the question of disposing of the 1,100,000,000-bushel surplus of American wheat — enough, if made into bread to supply every family in the United States with 1,400 loaves.

Canada's surpluses, small compared with the American stocks but worrisome enough for Canadian agriculture, also will enter into the picture. For one, Canada has a surplus of 20,000,000 pounds of butter which the Canadian government recently offered to hospitals and other institutions at below cost.

The general Agreement on Tariffs and Trade will be discussed and the Canadians are expected to air again Canada's objections to the waiver clause which permits the U. S. to impose quotas whenever imports of foodstuffs appear likely to harm the U. S. domestic price-support program.

Nationalists Hit Red Shipping

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist planes Sunday attacked two Red shipping concentrations in Formosa Strait and damaged eight gunboats and two big junks, the air force said.

The Red ships, presumably coastal supply convoys, were caught north and south of Pinghai. Pinghai is about midway between the Nationalist offshore island of Quemoy and the Matsus.

One flight of Nationalist planes caught six gunboats and more than 120 wooden craft said all six gunboats were damaged and one was issuing clouds of black smoke.
