Hein?

by Derek Ellis and
Emily Murphy

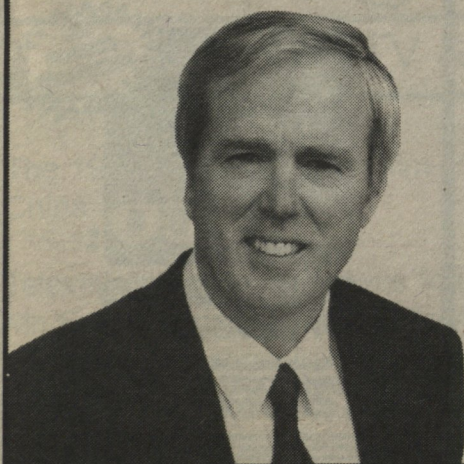

I think a good idea to make new friends would be to invite them over to your house and pretend that you will kill them if they don't become friends with you. Then when you tell them that you were just kidding, chances are they'll be relieved and stick around...just in case.

I think the ultimate key to life is forgiveness. Mostly cause I slept with your wife.

My parents say my room smells bad and that I should clean it. I don't have the heart to tell them the smell is due to my collection of DEAD BODIES!

Skipping is a fun pastime, just be careful you don't skip into a VOLCANO!!

I think being a cow would be fun. You get milked every day; get plenty of grass to eat. Except sometimes people will play practical jokes on you, like tipping you when you're sleeping, and killing you when you're delicious.
