CAUGHT BEWTEEN TWO KILLERS

Antelope carcasses lie on the CPR right of way 35 miles east of Lethbridge after 35 were killed by a freight train. The animals had moved onto the right-of-way to get out of the deep snow and to browse on willow twigs. Two weeks ago 56 were killed under similar circumstances by another freight train. Religious Friendship Shows Increase In '64

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Inter-religious friendship increased remarkably in 1964, but there were jolts along the way.

It was a period of developing concourse among the various branches of Christianity, and of closer fraternity between it and Judaism.

But as the year drew to a close, there also were tensions for the forces of religion.

Among the most dramatic symbols of the rise of inter-faith activity were the travels of Pope Paul.

His trips to the Holy Land and to India, and his conciliatory meetings with leaders of other churches and non - Christian faiths, opened a new era bringing Rome into personal encounter with those outside its fold.

An epochal moment came with the embrace in Jerusalem of the Pope and Patriarch Athenagoras I, spiritual leader of all Eastern Orthodoxy, after 900 years of mute cleavage between Eastern and Western Christianity.

Aside from the personal diplomacy, the third session of the second Vatican council produced weighty charters for a new policy of rapprochement and collaboration.

SHATTER OLD IMAGE

Documents were approved asserting collective or "collegial" government of the Roman Catholic Church, shattering the old image of one-man rule, and also endorsing work and worship with other Christians.

Passage of the schema on ecumenism came amid a surge of specific steps in various places putting it into practice.

For instance, the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Santa Fe, New Mexico, joined the state Council of Churches, an interdenominational co - operative body.

In Boston, Richard Cardinal Cushing applauded the work of Baptist evangelist Billy Graham, and recommended attendance at his services.

The Vatican council also gave initial approval to a document emphasizing bonds with Judaism, and repudiating the notion that Jews bear special responsibility for Christ's death. The Episcopal Church, at its governing convention, took similar action. It also elected a new presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, the North Carolina-reared Bishop of Texas.

Another high spot of the year's religious events was the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to a Negro Baptist minister, Rev. Martin Luther King, U.S. integration leader.

The work in that field, however, produced its turmoil and controversy in the U.S.

Critics of the National Council of Churches assailed it for aiding the cause, and in California, a Roman Catholic priest accused his archbishop, Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, of not aiding it sufficiently.

The year's most violent and tragic religious scene was in The Congo, where missionaries, men and women, met assaults, and in many cases, death at the hand of rebel forces.

When your income tax form arrives in the mail, try to smile.

It's a numbered tax form that means faster handling, more economical processing.
It's Personalized. So smile.

This year about 6,500,000 income tax returns will be processed in Ottawa.

Each year the returns of thousands of new taxpayers add to the time and cost of processing.

But now we've got a new system of processing tax returns faster and more economically.

This is how it works.

You will receive a Personalized income tax form, sent direct to you instead of through your employer. (Makes it more convenient for you, faster for us.) This new tax form will have your own identification code number on it. Numbers mean quicker and more positive identification than names. Think of the 41,000 Smiths in Canada.

There's a way you can make this new system even better.

Get your income tax form completed and in the mail early. You'll give us something to smile about.
