IT is suggested that it would be well for the Abegweit Athletic Association to secure the Prince of Wales College grounds instead of the Caledonian field for their club grounds. The former place would be more central and, it is thought, could be obtained free of charge if the students attending the College were allowed access thereto. The suggestion is worth considering.

A PICTOU despatch to the Halifax Herald on the 29th ult., says: A man named Thomas Fraser, who works with contractor Hogan on the branch railway had a very narrow escape from meeting a watery grave this evening. He was out in a sail boat all alone and during a stiff squall, the wind blowing hard, the boat upset and Fraser was thrown out. The accident happened a couple of miles from town and no one apparently saw it. He clung to the boat for nearly an hour and had it not been for a tug boat passing the place he would have been drowned. As it was, he was in an exhausted condition when rescued.

REFERRING to Mr. Newbery's letter in another column, we may say that THE EXAMINER did not state or even imply a belief that P. E. Island could supply all the potatoes that Ontario requires. We simply expressed regret that P. E. Island for want of means of communication cannot help to supply the demand in Ontario. For the information Mr. Newbery affords as to the varieties of potatoes required by the markets we are thankful, and trust that it may be of practical use to our farmers.

Murder Mystery.

Excitement in St. John.

Body of an Unknown Man found in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Various Rumors and Theories

ST. JOHN, N. B. May 2.

Never since the Campbell murder has there been as much excitement in Carleton as there was yesterday, the cause being the peculiar discovery of the remains of an unknown man in the Roman Catholic burying ground, at Lancaster.

The remains are a greatly decomposed mass which will largely depend for recognition on the articles of clothing. All sorts of stories are told. Some persons alleged that the remains were those of Patrick McManus whose sudden and mysterious disappearance from Portland some two years since caused so much excitement.

Others are quite sure that it is the body of George Lamb, of Oxford, N. S., who ran away from his home in October, 1885 and remained in Carleton for a couple of weeks. Lamb, when he left home had about $500 in cash and his sudden disappearance from Carleton has never been explainad away.

Another theory was that it was the body of Elias White, whose disappearance from Portland will be remembered.

The next question was, how the corpse came to be in the burying ground. It is generally believed that the body was taken to the shore a short distance from the burying ground in a boat, and carried on boards from the beach to the place where it was found. M. Brennan, the caretaker, says: "I believe the person or persons who put that body in the burying ground saw a grave I had opened on Tuesday open, and wishing to dispose of the body decided to put it in the open grave before it was refilled. I filled it in on the following day and prevented their carrying out their plans. When they got to the cemetery they found the grave filled in and throwing the body down hurried away.

The Lansdowne Evictions.

QUEENSTOWN, May 1.

William O'Brien, editor of the United Ireland, and Mr. Kilbride, one of the tenants evicted from Lord Lansdowne's estates, sailed for New York on the steamer Umbria. In the course of his remarks he said he carried with him the full approval of the Irish people and felt that when liberty-loving Canadians heard the true account of Lord Lansdowne's cruelty to the tenants, they would not tolerate being governed by such a man.
