A public address will be provided and it is hoped to have special music.

TOURIST COACH HERE—A Bohl Tours coach, carrying 36 tourists, arrived on the Island yesterday. This is the first time in its 27 years of operation that the tour has visited this Province. The president of the company, Mr. J. J. Greenburg, stated that "the passengers are greatly enjoying the scenic countryside, and that the tour in years to come will include Prince Edward Island in its points of call." The coach is now on its annual visit to points in Eastern Canada and the United States. It starts its trip in the State of New York, comes down through Maine, into New Brunswick, and this year to Prince Edward Island. It will stay on the Island for two days, then going to Nova Scotia, and following the coast back to New York. The tour lasts nine days.

RAMBLERS RAMBLE
OTTAWA (CP)—Seven Rover Scouts left here on a six-day trip to Boston by bicycle to add up miles toward obtaining Ramblers' badges. Barring blisters, blowouts and rain they planned on making 100 miles a day, but to return by train.

The speaker, who is a well-known author and a great-grandson of the famous author of Indian stories, James Fenimore Cooper, was introduced by chairman George Walters and thanked for his deeply interesting talk by the co-chairman, Andrew Likely.

Past District Governor P. W. Turner read the District Governors letter dealing with the death of Past District Governor Charles Hunt of St. John's, Newfoundland, whose passing was a great loss to Rotary throughout the Maritimes.

Two new members were introduced by their sponsors and given the right hand of Rotary Fellowship. Clive W. Curry was introduced by Frank Curtis and Richard E. Dowe by W. R. Cruikshank. President Hal Shaw extended a welcome on behalf of the club. The expenditure of $100.00 towards the erection of a Welcome Sign to be erected at the entrance to the city on the Malpeque Road was approved.

Visiting Rotarians were: Ken Montgomery, Edmonton, Alta.; Lowell Hancock Summerside, Max MacDermid, Ottawa, Percy Noble, Newnorth, Shallow Lake, Ont.; Ralph Lidstone, Wellington, Vermont, Earl Hooper, St. Mary's, Ont., J. E. Connolly, Bathurst, N. B. Guests of Rotary: Capt. Ackland, Kolona, B.C., Dr. F. W. Wigglesworth, Montreal, Allan Stewart, Owen Sound, Ont., Hiram D. Cook, Wallingford, Vt., A. J. Mrs. John A. Colebrook and family, Ann, Lynn and John, returned to their home in Revelstoke, B.C., recently after spending the summer with Mrs. Cole.

Thrilling Experience
Mr. Cooper, who was accompanied by Mrs. Cooper and their son was thrilled and amazed at the experience which he had looked forward to for many years. "We had perfect weather for the seven days we were away from Charlottetown. At Victory Point the temperature was 80 degrees and the Mission Father at Pelly Bay told us that the thermometer registered 94 there on the previous day.

There are RCMP detachments at the half dozen posts visited, also Catholic Missions, and at Baker Lake there is an Anglican Mission. The farthest north touch-down was at Spence Bay, where there is a Catholic mission, Hudson Bay Post and a detachment of three men from the RCMP.

"The hospitality of all whom we met was beyond belief and with daylight all the time, it was difficult to break away for a short sleep and a swim as frequently as we would have liked."

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and their son Paul Jr. (Niki) have spent five summers at Dalvay, where they find all the recreation and enjoyment necessary to assure a successful and happy vacation period.

Brackley United Church Rededicated At Impressive Service Last Sunday

Following complete interior remodeling, Brackley United Church re-opened on August 22. The minister, Rev. J. M. Sproule officiated. Guest speaker at the morning and evening services was Rev. J. A. Nicholson of Rexton, N.B.; at the afternoon service, Rev. E. B. S. Miller of Lunenburg, N.S. Special music was provided by guest singers at all services—morning, Miss Helen Wilson, soloist; afternoon, Cherry Valley and Vernon River choirs; evening, the Matheson and Carver mixed quartet. The morning service featured the dedication of memorial gifts—a pulpit Bible (Revised Standard Version) in memory of the late R. L. Bryenton, presented by Mrs.

Steele, John S. Phinney, Matthew R. Knight, Wm. H. Spargo, Silas James, Richard Opie, Thomas Hicks, George F. Dawson, Edward Bell, E. A. Westmorland, J. L. Lund, John L. Dawson, F. H. Littlejohns, C. W. Keirstead, H. T. Smith (minister at the time of church union in 1925), F. E. Boothroyd, Geo. A. Christie, J. A. Nicholson and J. M. Sproule, the present pastor.

Former remodellings took place in 1900 under Rev. Richard Opie, and in 1922 under Rev. C. W. Keirstead. High commendation is due to all concerned in achieving this place of worship, fittingly beautiful as it stands today.

Some of our Charlottetown business houses, notably the drycleaners closed down for Exhibition week and the staffs had some summer holidays. One of The Island's country stores has been following a similar plan for some time.

Within a few days H. S. MacLeod and Sons of Vernon River will close shop for a period of two weeks. During this period Mrs. MacLeod, and her two sons, who assist her in conducting the business, will be vacationing at Harmony, Maine. Their three employees will of course also enjoy a holiday.

In previous years sons, Lloyd and Don, with Mrs. MacLeod, have spent their holidays either motor-ing in New England, or Upper Canada. It is a bit unusual for an Island country store to close down for this length of time, and for employees and employers as well to forget work and business worries entirely. But the MacLeods have tried it out and have found it practical and relaxing.

Our summer hotels are not enjoying a very encouraging year. The freakish and continuous wet weather put a damper on many a planned sea-side vacation, and shortened many others. The usual warm summer season was marred mid-way in its course by the rains and cool temperatures. Until the weather man lost his equilibrium most of the hosteleries reported business as being fairly good. It is regrettable that after so much preparation and expense on the part of the hotels, that the weather soured and that less tourist money will be left in the Province, than could confidently have been expected under more favorable conditions.

With an eye to winter employment, it is worth noting that T. Eaton building on Kent Street, the new Treatment Centre at Falconwood, and the new Federal Building may all be under construction during the cold months ahead. The first mentioned two, are already being built and the Federal job is earmarked to get going this autumn. By the terms of the contract the Federal Building must be finished within two years of letting.

A fourth construction project of considerable size is also under consideration. If all four jobs should happen to be in progress this winter, seasonable unemployment would be reduced somewhat.

Island Odds and Ends

To prepare the site for the new Federal Building, probably the biggest demolition job in the history of Charlottetown will be carried out. There are thirty-seven dwellings, out-buildings and garages to be removed from the block where the building will be located, and this work is included in the contract.

Several of the contractors who are seeking the contract will submit the demolition part of the job, if they are successful bidders. A number of local men have been approached, and have already submitted a price for tearing down the almost two-score buildings. This part of the work alone will amount to a considerable job, and will provide much needed work.

Representatives of contractors who have visited the city have explained the intention of going ahead at once with the work of clearing the old buildings away, and then immediately commencing the foundation.

One of the Souris draggers brought in an unusual fish a few days ago, a small sturgeon. It weighed seven or eight pounds, and measured about thirty inches in length—a baby fish as sturgeon go. It is from this fish of course, that the costly caviar comes. It is very unlikely that many sturgeon frequent the Gulf of St. Lawrence waters, more is the pity, because the full grown specimen is well worth taking from the water.

SALE OF CANADIAN MINK IN EUROPEAN MARKETS DISCUSSED

Exception was taken by Mr. Christopher Lang, writer for the Fur Journal, to remarks regarding the sale of Canadian mink in the French and other European markets. Mr. Lang spoke extemporaneously following an address by Mr. Albert Woodley, New York, at the annual meeting of the Canadian Mink Breeders Association here yesterday.

Mr. Woodley thought that Scandinavians were using trade names which were registered in Great Britain and emphasized that the importance of labels could not be undervalued. Without the labels the identity of the mink could not be traced. He believed that ranch mink were just as good as the wild variety, but the public had not been properly educated to this view.

Mr. Lang asked what the Scandinavian breeders were to do if Canadian or United States breeders went into the European market. In this connection he recalled what happened to the fox industry in this Province.

He agreed that Canada had lived up to mink sale conventions but did not think that this country should enter the European market so aggressively.

Mr. Woodley noted that Canadian trade names were being widely used at present by Scandinavian breeders. He believed that breeders there should dig down into their pockets and do the same advertising as the Canadian breeders do. He also mentioned that the Fur Labelling Act prevented mink from being called what they ain't." Mr. Kenneth Montgomery, breeder from Alberta, felt there was a large market in Canada and other places for small pieces. By this he implied that more small garments could be sold to young girls who wish to have mink but cannot afford the cost of the full or three-quarter length garments.

Preparing To Observe Church's Jubilee

Tentative preparations are being made for the celebration of the Silver Jubilee of the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer which takes place late this fall. Painters have been busily engaged in re-vivifying and altering the color scheme of the interior of the church which presents a very pleasing appearance.

With blue in a variety of shades as the dominant color, the effects are carried throughout. The ceiling is done in olive blue, and the side walls are in sky line blue, trimmed in gold. The Sanctuary walls and back of altars and the ceiling directly over the Sanctuary are in azure blue, also trimmed in gold. Cascade blue is used on the pillars and the altars are effectively treated in white trimmed in gold. The floor finish is of plum blue. Mr. Joseph Larkin, under whose supervision the work was performed, personally renewed the colouring in the Stations
