LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

MANTLES A SPECIALTY.—Beer Bros.

B. I. S.—Regular monthly meeting to-night.

ADVICES from Newfoundland state that all the ice has left the North Side.

LAID TO REST.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Geo. M. Robinson took place this afternoon to People's Cemetery, and was largely attended.

POLICE COURT.—Two drunks, Robert McNeill and Joseph Walsh, were disposed of at the police court this morning. The former was fined $2 or ten days, with costs, and the latter $2 or ten days, without costs.

THE STANLEY.—The Stanley left for Pictou to-day at 10 o'clock a. m., taking the members of the McGill Glee and Banjo Clubs. She will not return this evening, but will go on the Pictou slip for repairs, preparatory for the summer's work. The mail was transfered to the steamer St. Lawrence this morning.

THE ALBERT.—The steamer Albert, Batt Bros., owners, left last evening for St. John's, Nfld., with a general cargo of potatoes, hay, oats, eggs, pork, leather, etc., and a deckload consisting of 60 head of cattle and 60 sheep, owned by Barret Henderson, and 35 horses owned by different parties. Wm. Boyle, Jos. McCarey and M. Sweeney of this city went as passengers.

FROM HALIFAX.—The steamer Fastnet, from Halifax, arrived here about one o'clock this morning, bring a full freight but no passengers. She met a grsat quantity of ice on the way, and for three days was jammed by ice in Isaac's Harbor, N. S. She leaves here about ten o'clock to-night for Summerside with a full cargo. From there she will go direct to Halifax. Capt. Churchill is again in command of the Fastnet.

FISK JUBILEE SINGERS.—The largest and most appreciative audience that has yet greeted a performance or entertainment in the Opera House, was that which assembled there last night and listened to the harmonious renderings of the Fisk Jubilee Singers, an organisation that has become famous, not only in America, but also in most European countries. A criticism of music is a difficult matter at any time, yet it is more difficult to describe the effect which are produced by the marvelous blendings of the voices of this organization. The leading members of the troupe are very fine soloists. In the choruses the chief features are an even balance and beutiful harmony, a perfect control over the others by the leader, and a conspicious absence of a harsh or grating note at times.

IN CHANCERY.

Eliza M. Moore and another, vs. John Ball and another. This action was brought before the Vice Chancellor, and was by him referred to the Chief Justice for adjudication.

The plaintiffs are the beneficiaries under the will of the late Robert Rennie, who died in August, 1876; and the defendant, John Ball, is the acting executor and trustee of said will.

The Bill of Complaint alleges mismanagement of the trust estate, and prays for an account.

The Chief Justice, after hearing the solicitors for both sides, made an order referring the taking of the account to Master Longworth, who is directed to submit his report thereon on the 21st day of June next. Mr. A. McLean, Solicitor, for complainants; Mr. F. L. Haszard, Solicitor, for defendant, John Ball.

THE McGILL COLLEGE CLUB.

A crowded house greeted the McGill University Glee and Banjo Clubs last night on their first appearance here. Among those in the audience were many old McGill men, and the colors of the University were well displayed, especially by the ladies. Amongst the gods the students of the Prince of Wales College and St. Dunstan's College added to the enthusiasm of the evening by delivering themselves from time to time of the "Mc Gill yell." The Glee and Banjo Clubs deserve the highest praise for their performance. Every selection by them was encored by the audience. As to Mr. Parker's banjo playing, it is wonderful as well as most amusing. He took all kinds of liberties with his banjo last night, but it kept on playing just the same. In answer to a special request, he also sang some comic songs, which sent his hearers into roars of laughter. The glees seemed to call forth most applause and they deserved it, for they were delightful. The instrumental selections by the Banjo Club were beautifully played, and we fancy that to some present last night the capabilities of the "old banjo" were shown in a new and surprising light. The tenor solo of Mr. Venables was very good. He has a fine clear voice, that was heard to better advantage in the encore which was promptly demanded. A bass solo by Mr. Ramsay, made his hearers want to hear him in something else, but he did not respond. Mr. Tetrean has a really splendid voice, and is a cultured and popular soloist. Taken altogether, the performance was highly creditable. We must no forget that St. Dunstan's College Glee Club contributed a couple of chorus from their seats in the body of the house during the intermission in the programme. Their singing was hearty and strong, and was promptly followed by the query, which came with a roar, "What's the matter with old McGill," and the answer just as loudly given, "She's all right."

Mr. Neil McKinnon, of DeSable, left by the Stanley yesterday for Pictou, N. S., with his well known stallion, Flower of the Flock.

Devices for swiftly stopping and repairing leaks in ships have long been sought, and now one has been found by a Frenchman. This is called the Colomes life and ship protector. To judge from a recent test made by United States Naval Constructor Nixon at the Cramps' shipyard, it fully deserves its title. It is a simple mechanical contrivance for applying and firmly fastening to a leak or hole a composition of amorphous cellulose, whose absorbent qualities induce it to swell rapidly when water touches it, thus causing it to fill tightly every ragged opening or crevice which would admit water.

She's gone from earth a full blown flower,
And dust to dust is laid;
She's gone to Eden's lovely bower
Where flowers can never fade;
Where fragrant breezes ever blow,
And saints in glory reign,
Where songs of praise forever flow
With love in every strain.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

FREE WILL OFFERINGS.

SIR,—The last issue of the Shelburne, (N. S.) Budget, edited by Rev. D. D. Currie, formerly pastor of the First Methodist Church in this city, says, in referenace to the evangelistic work of Rev. B. Fay Mills: "An idea of Mr. Mills' success may be obtained by a glance at his financial methods and results. A finance committee pays all the travelling expenses, including hotel bills, and Mr. Mills depends solely for his personal remuneration upon the free-will offerings of those among whom he labors. In Montreal, where he spent four weeks, he received in such offerings, for his private purse, about nine thousand dollars. In Halifax his private receipts were nearly two thousand dollars in the two weeks he spent there. We do not know any public men in Canada who are doing as well, financially, as Mr. Mills."

It would be interesting to know how these large sums of money are disbursed.

CYNIC.

FAVORITISM—MORE GRIT BOODLING.

SIR,—I would call the attention of the public to the new block and span at Gillis' Wharf, of which Mr. Lamont has the contract at the cost of $800. Owing to the reckless expenditure of public money carried out by Mr. Peters last year the farmers in general are in dread that the coming year's deficit will be even greater than last year, owing to what has come under their notice. The repairing of Pisquid Bridge, let by the Supervisor last fall under the name of a truss bridge,—the people have noticed that there are four plank used to support the rotten span beam that was not fit to carry its weight, but for the plank which were spiked to support it, and shingles used to cover up the misfits. The inspector of this work is the same man who is placed over Mr. Lamont to inspect Gillis Wharf. It rests entirely with the contractor, Mr. Lamont, whether the work is done according to specification or not. It is the general opinion that it is $60 at the least thrown away for nothing. The only reason Mr. Peters can give for appointing such a man is that like his colleague, he is a recent convert from the Conservative ranks to Gritism and corruption. But, Mr. Peters, it is my opinion and the opinion of the farmers in general, that it high time you should call a halt to such work, and if the wharves are to be repaired, let there be an inspector appointed that will know whether the life and property of the farmers are safe, while doing their shipping spring and fall. I am not a supporter of the present Government, but I am a farmer who ships my produce and does a large business spring and fall.

A FARMER, LOT 37.

BELFAST JOTTINGS.

The Jacques Cartier made her long-looked for appearance here on April 30. In consequence, a great deal of impetus has been given to business activity among all classes.

Our late popular and enthusiastic teacher, Mr. Theo. McLeod, paid us a flying visit the other day. We were all pleased to see him looking so well.

Our genial and enterprising townsman, Mr. K. P. Morrison, has almost finished his new store. He expects to move into it in a few weeks. Mr. Lamont has lately started a retail business here.

Much credit is due to Mr. Moore for the interest he has shown in agriculture by his experiment with the silo. A year ago it was an article of faith with most farmers that ensilage could not be a success in P. E. I. But thanks to the progressive spirit of Messrs. Moore, Miller, Dr. Morrison, of St. Dunstan's, and others, the success of the silo in P. E. I. has come to be an acknowledged fact. With the ensilage of 1½ acres and a trifling amount of meal, Mr. Moore has kept two cows in excellent condition since the first of November.

The Young People's Christian Union, organized here some time since, gave "An Evening with Spurgeon" a week ago. Papers describing the life and character of the great English divine were read by Misses Ada Macleod, Eva Lantz, Edythe Moore, Bertha Longard, E. Laraby, and Mr. T. F. West, B. A. Miss Buxton gave an address on "Personal Reminiscences of Mr. Spurgeon," which was very interesting. Miss Mira Fraser gave an excellent recitation from Sir Edwin Arnold. Miss Nicholson presided at the organ with her usual ability.

Professor Smith conducts a singing school here which is largely attended and much appreciated by all.
