

Mr. Earle offers for sale his splendid residence on West street, opposite the residence of Jas. Peake, Esq. mar 31

The Colonial mail arrived in this city at 2 o'clock.

There will be a meeting of the City Council this evening at 7.30.

There were no trials before the Stipendiary Magistrate's Court this morning.

The Northern Light arrived in Georgetown from Pictou this morning.

We shall publish the Report of the Union Bank Directors and the Cashier's statement in to-morrow's issue.

TO-DAY—Ash Wednesday—extra services were held in St. Dunstan's Cathedral, and in St. Peter's and St. Paul's Churches.

The meeting of the Small Debt Court was postponed until to-morrow. There are over one hundred and eighty cases for trial.

RELIGIOUS.—The meetings in the new Church House (entrance Malpeque Road) will be continued for a few evenings, services commencing at 7 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend.

The ice continues in the evenings to be swarmed with all manner and kinds of vehicles. Jockeying prevails to a great extent, and no doubt those recent practices will result in a $500 challenge.

THERE were two Concerts in town last night. Mr. Earle's benefit concert and a concert under the auspices of the Reform Club. We are compelled, from want of space, to hold notices of both over till to-morrow.

A MEETING of the liquor dealers of this city was held in the hall of the "Commercial House" last evening. The resolutions passed were ordered to be kept private. We suppose they are to the effect that the new license law will be tested before the Supreme Courts of the Dominion.

The report of the untimely death of a young man named Alexander Carroll, formerly of this city, was received here last night by his friends. The deceased was a carpenter, and while at work on a house in Boston, he fell from a considerable height, and received severe injuries, from the effects of which he died.

The Toronto Mail says: If the Government would only send the resurrected Mr. Brown to represent us at the Baden Baden Congress, Mr. James Young's chances of "just dropping in" to the Cabinet would be much improved. The dictator's reappearance has probably thrown the hon. member for North York altogether out of the running for the Cabinet vacancy. But then there's the Auditorship.

After all, we were wrong. The Patriot is a morning paper. The forms are locked up immediately before going to press, and they go to press as the clock is on the last stroke of twelve (St. Dunstan's Cathedral time). Immediately after the press work is completed—say 12.15—the "forms" (of the staff) are "locked" in sleep, until it is time to send around the paper.

SUDDEN DEATH OF AN ISLANDER.—Mr. Simon Cavanagh, of Lot 30 in this Island, was killed by falling into a pit at Lexington, Mass., on the 24th of February. The deceased was employed on the farm of Hammond Read, of the above named place; and, while attending to his work near the pit, accidentally fell in, breaking his neck, and causing instant death. The deceased was 30 years old. To his friends in Lot 30 and this city we tender our sympathy.

THE NEW GENERAL.—The dispatches vaguely announce that General McDougall will take command of the forces in Canada next May. This is probably Major General Patrick Leonard McDougall, who now holds the position of Deputy Quarter Master General, Intelligence Department, at Horse Guards. The dispatch adds that General McDougall will be authorized to raise 10,000 Canadians for service in Europe, in case of war. Here's a chance for many to serve their country, and earn the bubble reputation.

The iron and hardware trade in England is in a most depressed condition. A Cheshire ironfounder writes:—"A well-known Leeds ironfounder, wishing to erect an enormous iron shed, absolutely let the whole job to a Belgian firm. Again, we see that the great patriot Mundella, the colleague of Mr. Bright, removed his enormous iron business to that favored place, and hence, if we look over the stocks in almost any ironmonger's shop in England, we shall find three-fourths of the stock is foreign make, though in many cases bearing English brands."

Affairs in Queensland, Australia.

The state of Queensland is described as something frightful, and unless (writes a correspondent) we get rain there will be far worse famine than the Indian in Queensland. In the country districts they have to carry water ten or fifteen miles, all the grass is burnt up, and riding out twenty miles last week there were cattle dead from starvation all along the route. The hide is the only part of the cattle worth anything, and now they are reduced in price to next to nothing, from 3½d. per lb. to a 1d.; and people don't feel inclined to buy at that. Then the kangaroos and wallaby are so numerous that if there is any green feed they devour it all before them, and the cattle have no chance left. Some, in fact nearly all, the farmers have lost hundreds of cattle, while a larger proportion have not a single head of cattle left, and are thus left destitute, with no money to pay their rents, and nothing to depend on except a dried up crop. Yet they keep deluging the place with immigrants. Only the opening up of Government railways and other works will prevent the greatest disaster. It is the general talk of the whole colony, and nothing else is thought of but rain, rain, rain. It has been prayed for for months, but only slight thunder showers have yet come to relieve us. Not only are the farmers affected by this drought, but it throws a shadow over all the business of the colony, as storekeepers cannot collect their accounts, and, in fact, there is no money flying about.

Special Dispatch to Examiner.

LONDON, March 6.
A despatch from Galatz says that the work of removing obstructions in the Danube will begin to-morrow. It is expected that navigation will be open in two weeks.

Information has been officially recorded that, by the terms of peace, English interests are not interfered with.

The Standard's Paris correspondent hears from thoroughly reliable sources, that France and Italy intend to propose a naturalization of the Bosphorus and Dardanelles.

VIENNA, March 6.
A special to the Political Correspondence from St. Petersburg says: "It is confirmed that the treaty includes a clause providing that ratification must be exchanged at St. Petersburg within a fortnight."

LONDON, March 6.
May Fair states that Baroness Burdett Courts has made arrangements for securing the lease of Drury Lane Theatre, and means to conduct the establishment on a scale with which a State supported theatre in Paris or elsewhere is kept up. The manager will probably be Henry Irving.

BERLIN, March 6.
In the German Parliament to-day the debate commenced on the bill for representation of the Imperial Chancellor.

The Bavarian Minister present declared himself, in the name of Bavaria, against the proposal to form an Imperial Ministry, and as tending to weaken the authority of the Federal Council and prejudice the autonomy of the several States of Bavaria. He said he recognized the necessity of the appointment of a Vice-Chancellor.

Nearly all the speakers approved of the proposal to appoint a Vice-Chancellor, but strong opposition was manifested to the formation of an Imperial Ministry, on the part of Ultramontanes and Conservatives.

LONDON, March 6.
Advices from Rio Janeiro reports that yellow fever prevails there. The number of deaths from the disease in the city were from 40 to 50 in the first fortnight in February.

OTTAWA, March 6.

Mr. Plumb spoke till recess.

He said the financial views of McDonald, of Toronto, were Empirical; the causes of depression lay deeper than over importation. The Opposition did not seek to gain by the spectre of hard times. The Party making political capital out of the depression was unworthy of confidence. He was astonished at the slur cast by Mr. McDonald of Toronto, in saying that manufacturers would need no protection if they had more intelligence, capital and character. That gentleman's business as an extensive importer explained his views.

Mr. Plumb disclaimed advocating a protective system like that of the United States. He reviewed the expenditures of the late Government, claiming they were justified by the financial position of Canada. He animadverted on Cartwright's calculations, and deplored the failure to provide for meeting the deficit. Mr. Plumb declined Mr. Dymond's proposal to talk right through the dinner recess, and resumed at eight, speaking till ten—four hours and a half in all.

Mr. Bertram said he was disappointed, after listening to so long a speech, to hear no policy enunciated. The freight on goods was less from Liverpool than from New England; our protection being therefore greater against the United States than England. It was only the last two years the Conservatives had raised the Protection cry. We had been fairly successful in developing our resources; had expanded territory; had contributed great public works, and were we to repudiate a policy under which this had been done, and try another? He asked the Conservatives to pause before trying further to launch the country into an experimental Protective policy.
