

ROYAL TITLE

The Ontario manufacturing city of Galt had a flour-mill, a saw-mill and a distillery as early as 1820.

"I use nothing else but Five Roses original all purpose flour..."

says Mrs. Robert Pike of Halifax, N.S.

When I was first married, over twenty-five years ago, my mother advised me, if I always wanted to have success with my baking, then I should use nothing else but Five Roses All Purpose Flour. I took her advice and have used nothing else since. My Mother has since died but in her married life of forty-five years Five Roses was the only flour she used. Her breads were so fine grained and her pies so flakey, they would simply melt in your mouth.

I have made all kinds of cakes, cookies, birthday cake, etc. and I have received all kinds of praise accordingly. Friends of mine have continually asked me for my recipes and I have told them if they expected theirs to turn out as well they would have to use Five Roses All Purpose Flour.

For cakes, cookies, pies, doughnuts, buns and bread, I find Five Roses All Purpose Flour is economical, dependable and nutritious. I've used Five Roses for years and its quality is just as good as ever — first class.

Strange But True

Japan's number one Temple of Kyoto, called the Higashi-Hongu-ji, is larger than the New York Public Library. This magnificent temple cost $8,000,000 and was seventeen years in building. In an outbuilding near the famous temple, is a rope of human hair 300 feet long and three inches in diameter contributed from the heads of the faithful and was used in dragging the giant timbers into place.

Japanese morality is as puzzling and paradoxical to the Western mind as is everything else in the Orient. The Japanese is practical and material-minded when it comes to the sexes. His parents pick his wife, believing that love is a secondary matter in marriage, since too much affection for his wife tends to draw his interests away from his family and the state. If he wishes to visit the red light district, he does so openly, making no attempt to cover up his movements.

But few males are ever guilty of insulting a woman, and a woman is never guilty of flirtation in public.

The custom of running "amok" is found among all the Mohammedan Malays in varying degrees of frequency. Since their religion teaches that to die in killing a Christian is to merit heavenly reward, the native who tires of life commits suicide in a dramatic fashion by first cutting his hair, shaving his eyebrows, paring the nails of his fingers and toes, grating up his loins, and then rushing into the street with his sword to chop somebody into small pieces.

Efficient policing has put a damper on this fiendish practice, but it still goes on in some sections of the country. Another effective remedy against such criminals, is to bury a pig with the executed one. Why? Because that's the most humiliating punishment that can befall the pig-loathing Mohammedan.

The Philippines consist of 7083 islands, or 114,000 square miles of territory, and 10,350,840 inhabitants. The dialects spoken are estimated or computed by different authorities to number from 35 to 51.

The original settlers of these beautiful South Sea Islands were little black dwarfs with flat noses, kinky hair, thick lips, and oversized feet.

It's a tragedy when daughters marry so close to home that every time a domestic cloud darkens their horizon they can run home to Mom and Dad to weep out their woes.

Success or failure in business is caused more by mental attitude even than by mental capacities. If your foot slips you have a fighting chance to recover your balance, but if your tongue slips you can never recall your words.

Competition is good if you have the sense to use it as the green-light signal.

There are substitutes for almost everything but sleep and work and action.

This is the age of triumph for the pessimist who always expected the worst.

Canton's City of the Dead is a strange place; and once each year entire families assemble here to worship the dead, whose numbers run into many millions. Coffins lay about everywhere waiting a suitable time for the final burial. Everywhere is evidence of superstition. Some of the coffins, for instance, are guarded by wooden statues of warriors, garments, and imitation jewellery.
