

THE DAILY EXAMINER

FEBRUARY 7, 1896.

THE RESULT IN NORTHUMBERLAND

It is now evident that Mr. L. H. Davies must have been wrong when, upon his return from a missionary tour last year, he declared that "the heather is on fire in these Maritime Provinces." No such misfortune has overtaken the country. An election held in the extreme east and an election in the extreme west of the Maritime Provinces, alike, go to show that the electorate is true to the National Policy, and that there is yet no fire in the heather. The return of Sir Charles Tupper, in spite of tremendous odds, by a majority reaching close upon 800, and the defeat of the Hon. Peter Mitchell by a majority of upwards of five hundred must convince the most skeptical that the policy of the government is still the policy of the People of the Maritime Provinces, as it is of Canada as a whole. The defeat of Mr. Mitchell is even more significant of the failure of Opposition hopes than the splendid victory of Sir Charles Tupper. Mr. Mitchell's personal popularity in Northumberland is great. There is much sympathy with him in respect to his political misfortunes. One of the Fathers of Confederation, an experienced parliamentarian and an able departmental administrator, thousands of friends would still like to see him influential and respected in the councils of his country. In election after election he was successful on account of the prestige won during the days when he followed the lead of Sir John Macdonald and was true to the great party of Progress and Patriotism. But he chose to identify himself with the Opposition and to dally with their "fads." The consequences are seen in the successive defeats that he has recently sustained. His last defeat is beyond doubt decisive of his political fate. His day is done. He has not advanced with the country and he has been overwhelmed by the tide of national progress resulting from the adoption of the National Policy. The people of Northumberland are evidently awake to the fact that in the future their interests, like those of the people of Prince Edward Island, are more likely to be furthered by the party of the National Policy and Closer Relations with the Mother Country than by the party of negation led by Mr. Laurier.

SIGNIFICANT FIGURES.

A sufficient answer to the Patriot's contention of last evening, is found in the figures published by the Halifax Herald. Mr. Murray's strongholds, says the Herald, were Sydney, North Sydney, and Sydney Mines. In these three towns, there were 464 more voters than at the previous election, mostly all put on by the Grigs. They expected 450 majority in these three places, and got 320. In the Glace Bay and Port Morien mining districts, 550 new names were added, the large majority by grigs, and the grigs boasted that they were putting in some "fine work" there. They succeeded to the extent of sixty votes, in these districts Sir Charles only got 261 majority, as compared with 321 for McKee. Compared with the last election Murray made gains at Sydney Forks Leitch's Creek, Victoria, Little Bras d'Or, Hillside and Ball's Creek, making his total majorities 424 to-day, compared with 331 four years ago, or a net gain of 133. Whereas by the same comparison with McKee's vote, Sir Charles Tupper increased the Liberal-Conservative majorities as follows: Louisbourg 10, The North side of East Bay 55; Boisdale 18; Grand Narrows 45; Catalone 32; Bridgport 78; and transferred Lingan from 33 for Murray into 41 majority for Tupper; Big Pond 14 for Murray to 30 for Tupper; the South side of East Bay from 38 for Murray to 9 for Tupper, and Gabarus from 19 for Murray to 1 for Tupper. These facts and figures are significant. They prove beyond a doubt that the trend of public opinion is in favor of the Conservative party.

THE GLOBE'S CERTIFICATE

The Toronto Globe of the 3rd inst., referring to the election in Northumberland says: "The fight in Northumberland will be a spirited one, but it is the sort of a campaign Mr. Peter Mitchell is. Mr. Mitchell has been for years in sympathy with the main features of the Liberal policy. He knows how important to the interests of his native Province is the establishing of freer trade, and he has now announced himself as fully in accord with Mr. Laurier. Mr. Mitchell is an old parliamentarian and an experienced legislator. As an administrator of a department, he achieved a high reputation. He created, it may be said, the Department of Marine and Fisheries, and the electors of Northumberland would be fortunate if they chose a man of Mr. Mitchell's experience to represent them in Parliament." This was published two days before the election. It is the Globe's certificate as to the character, policy and ability of Mr. Mitchell. The fact that a large majority of the people of Northumberland have rejected Mr. Mitchell may consequently be taken as proof that Northumberland is more than ever favorable to the National Policy of the Government. As the course of popular opinion runs in Northumberland, so it runs throughout the Dominion.

BEFORE AND AFTER

The St. John Telegraph on Tuesday, the day of the Cape Breton election, published the following telegram: "The Liberals have not related their efforts in any way, and there are many persistent workers who hope for a complete victory, no matter how small Mr. Murray's majority may be." The day after the election the same paper editorially said: "The result of the election in Cape Breton yesterday was only what was to have been expected from the influence

NOTES AND COMMENTS

—How about the "nurse of bootlers" now? —Sir Richard may, now that the battle in Cape Breton County is fought and won by Sir Charles, bring forth his annual motion in favor of free coal. —In the course of one of his campaign speeches Hon. Peter Mitchell said: — "I helped to make the bargain with Manitoba, one of the terms of which was the preservation of the Catholic schools, and the Greenway bill was a violation of that act and contrary to it. —Mr. Dillon is advertising Prince Edward Island in the west as well as in the east. The Western States as well as Ontario and Great Britain are learning that this Province is capable of producing large quantities of excellent cheese and butter. We note in the "Creamery Gazette," published under the name of P. E. Island and the dairy industry that is being carried on here.

THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT

has opened several ports in Formosa to the trade of the world. The Duke and Duchess of Marlborough are travelling in the Nile in a Dahabiyah, which they have hired for six weeks. It is stated that Justin McCarthy will likely be succeeded by Thomas Sexton as leader of the Irish Parliamentary party. When the Imperial Parliament reassembles the stand taken by the Government on the Venezuelan and Armenian questions will be challenged by the Liberals. The Queen, on the coming of age, on April 10, of Walter Maxwell Scott, great-grandson of Sir Walter Scott, and heir to Aikbolston, will confer a baronetcy upon him. President Kruger, in an interview, said that he was prepared to meet the wishes of the Uitlanders, and that he had a scheme which he would submit to the Volksraad. Viscount Milton, grandson and heir of Earl Fitzwilliam, was killed a few days ago on the railroad near Doncaster while out hunting. The Viscount was only 25 years of age. The United States House Committee on Foreign Affairs on Saturday, adopted by a party vote, a resolution censuring Ambassador Bayard for his two speeches at Edinburgh, and Boston, England, in which he made statements regarding the Cardinal's political and religious intrigues, which are damaging to the prelate's reputation, has created a vast amount of offence in Catholic circles. The Westminster Gazette says, on the best authority, that though the death of her son-in-law, Prince Henry of Battenberg, caused by fever, contracted while on the Asiatic expedition, was a terrible stroke to the Queen, and that Her Majesty continues excellent. Her Majesty has granted to her daughter, Princess Beatrice, widow of Prince Henry of Battenberg, the life use of a valuable estate, where the Princess will reside with her family on the death of the Queen.

Fatal Catastrophe.

While a gang of men were repairing the bridge over the Peqouabuk River at this place yesterday, the structure gave way and twenty workmen were precipitated into the river. Eleven were drowned. THE CHARLESTOWN TRAGEDY

Further Particulars of the Sophia McLeod Murder.

The Unfortunate Victim and Her Alleged Assailant Well Known Here.

The Boston Globe of Monday last, which reached THE EXAMINER by last evening's mail, contains a lengthy article descriptive of the McLeod murder in Charlestown, exclusively announced in this paper on Monday. The Globe, however, repeats the erroneous belief that both the murdered woman and her sister under arrest for the crime, are former residents of Charlestown. The article in the Globe is professedly illustrated, showing several other things, the house in which Mrs. McLeod resided and the room in which the foul deed was committed. A very fair likeness of Mrs. Quinlan is also given, but the picture of Sophia is not so good. The Globe says the murder, in point of its commission, was one of the most heinous perpetrated in Boston in recent years. The victim was literally butchered, each of the six wounds on her head being sufficient to cause death. It is believed that the victim was wholly unconscious of the murderous intentions of her assailant. From the position of the body and other circumstances, it is judged that the victim was reclining in a rocking chair reading a newspaper when the fatal blow was dealt her.

THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN BURGLARS.

It was at first thought that the deed was the work of burglars, and this opinion was based upon information given by Mrs. Quinlan, who lived in the house. The appearance of the interior of the apartments occupied by Mrs. McLeod seemed to confirm the story told by Mrs. Quinlan. Every room on the second floor occupied by Mrs. McLeod and her brother, appeared to have been ransacked by somebody bent on plundering. A toilet room, a front parlor in which the deceased slept, and a back parlor used by a brother, all presented unmistakable evidence of an effort to loot the premises. Bureau drawers were found forced open and the covers of a writing desk broken. The contents were thrown about the floor and it was surmised and which he thought might have been used by the man who murdered his sister. He expressed the opinion that the assailant of his sister got into the house through the window of a rear room in the mansard roof story, which he reached by climbing a cast-iron spout on the adjoining house. He said there were foot-prints plainly visible on the zinc roof.

MRS. QUINLAN TAKES IN CHARGE.

The police decided that Mrs. Quinlan was the real "suspect," and took her in charge. The clothing she wore on Saturday was taken by the officers and subjected to a careful scrutiny. On the front of the dress and extending below the knees were found large purple and black abrasions which looked very much like blood. During the afternoon Mrs. Quinlan appeared very much cast down, and finally seemed on the verge of utter collapse. Her condition was such that a doctor had to be called in. Later on a younger brother of Mrs. Quinlan's called at the station and handed the officer in charge a lemon-squeezer which he found in the closet and which he thought might have been used by the man who murdered his sister. He expressed the opinion that the assailant of his sister got into the house through the window of a rear room in the mansard roof story, which he reached by climbing a cast-iron spout on the adjoining house. He said there were foot-prints plainly visible on the zinc roof.

A CASE OF HYPNOTISM

A Sensation in Fredericton.

Fredericton, Feb. 7. Professor King Regulus Bartell has been curing the people of Fredericton of all manner of diseases by hypnotism. He is now under arrest. Harry Miles, a member of the Infantry School, went off yesterday with the proceeds of a $170 cheque which he had taken to the bank to get cashed. It was learned that the hypnotic doctor had produced the team that took him away, and the allegation is that he used his peculiar influence over Miles, who is reported to have greatly changed since he became intimate with Bartell. The case is causing quite a sensation.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXAMINER

NORTHUMBBELAND RESULT.

Robinson's Majority About 500

Numbers of His Voters Aways at Work in the Woods.

CHATHAM, Feb. 7. Northumberland has spoken, and James Robinson has the honor to represent this fine country in the House of Commons. Although five hundred names were added to the list, a relatively smaller vote was cast. Otherwise Mr. Robinson's majority would have been eight hundred. The light vote is accounted for by the fact that many men were in the woods. Whilst each man concerned is not quite as good as it was at the last general election, it must not be taken from this that there is a falling off in the present Government's support of the present Government, which will doubtless be claimed by the Liberals. The real reason for this falling off, is to be found in the following facts: First, the large number of men at present engaged in the woods, lumbering, are drawn largely from Chatham and New Castle, they being engaged at other times in the many mills, and in loading vessels. These men would vote in a large majority with men who employ them, as they have the same interest. Secondly, the employees of the two pulp mills, have been threatened, to a great extent, on behalf of Mr. Mitchell, by the fact that F. Allison and G. A. Bruce, have both been ardent Mitchell men. The figures stand, with a few to Robinson, which will give Mr. Robinson another hundred majority, Robertson, 1949; Mitchell, 1547.
