Gov't Deficit Adds Inflation Fuel, Is View

TORONTO (CP) — Edward H. Ely, president of the Investment Dealers Association of Canada, said Tuesday in one fiscal year the Canadian government has achieved a budgetary deficit that is more than 25 per cent of the total net surpluses achieved in 12 previous years of federal financing.

Mr. Ely, vice-president of Wood, Gundy and Co., said at an association meeting that financing of this kind puts more money in circulation and adds fuel to the inflationary fire.

The government should plan to balance the budget in the coming fiscal year and have a surplus in the following year. The surplus would be applied to this year's deficit.

He said the federal government's deficit financing is one aspect of an inflationary trend which threatens the survival of individual businesses and of billions of dollars of fixed-income securities.

Titan Firing Proves Failure

WASHINGTON (AP)—A second attempt to launch a Titan intercontinental ballistic missile from Cape Canaveral, Fla., failed Tuesday. The United States defence department said an automatic cutoff stopped the firing after a "malfunction."

A brief announcement said: "An attempt was made to test-launch the U.S. Air Force's Titan intercontinental ballistic missile at the Atlantic missile range Tuesday. Shortly after ignition a malfunction occurred causing the engines to be automatically cut while the missile was still on the launch pad. Cause of the malfunction is not available."

The first attempt to fire the big long-range missile was made Dec. 21. That firing attempt also was stopped when some trouble set the automatic cutoff into operation.
