They Drag On

ONCE again the Maritime baseball playdowns are dragging on into football and hockey weather.

This statement is meant is no way to reflect upon those handling baseball in Prince Edward Island. Indeed the Island has a long time ago decided upon its champions, and is waiting patiently for the other provinces to meet them.

Souris won the Island bantam crown and has been eliminated by the New Brunswick champions, Charlottetown Juniors, provincial titlists, were ousted from further play by Halifax Vaughan Furriers.

But the midget, intermediate urban and intermediate rural titleholders are still idle, anxiously awaiting to find out whom they play against on the mainland.

DATES were set and provinces ordered to have champions ready by those dates. The Island followed these instruction to the letter only to be left for a long period of time on the sidelines.

Our midgets were to have their series with New Brunswick completed by September 16. Our intermediate teams, urban and rural, were also supposed to have their feud settled with New Brunswick by the same date. But here it is September 21 and the only sound we hear is that our midgets will see action this Sunday and will not complete their series with New Brunswick champions until at least two weeks after the deadline imposed.

When the intermediates will see action is anybody's guess. He hops they are saving some of these games for the Christmas holidays.

Teams Lose Players

PLAYERS on many teams throughout the Maritimes were college boys who have long since gone back to their schools of learning. They certainly will not be available when these long-delayed playoffs finally come.

Grand Falls, the junior champions of New Brunswick, were forced to default the Maritime crown to Halifax because they could not muster enough players. One of the reasons for that was that several of their players had gone back to college. (A later report has this team ousted because of over-age players).

The whole affair is downright ridiculous and it's far past the time when an end should come to it.

It teams knew they must meet a deadline or forfeit a series, then they'd meet that dadline. The way the thing is run now, a team plays just whenever it is ready to play.

It's Shaping Up

WE can see it shaping up as before.

You can bet your last dollar that they'll be playing Maritime baseball playdowns over the Thanksgiving holiday. They'll be urging fans in various centres to go out and see the boys. They'll be asking them to leave their nice, warm living rooms and shiver in the stands at a baseball game.

And that will be the very weekend that New York Yankees will be entertaining the National League champions in the world series Saturday, Sunday and Monday. If these Maritime baseball moguls think they can entice folks away from their television sets on those three days, then they have another think coming.

But these fellows will try it—you can be sure of that, and the players on the various teams who waited all season to watch the world series will be out playing themselves to empty stands.

MARITIME baseball playoffs will soon be a thing of the past if this kind of work continues. Baseball commisioner Jack Ready for Prince Edward Island and Maritime Baseball Association vice-president, Dave Boswell, have done nobly here. They got everything over in apple pie order but are left now without teams to play.

We know that Mr. Ready and Mr. Boswell are just as disgusted with the setup as we were. They've tried their best to do things right but the effort was certainly not duplicated in the other provinces.

It surely is time to wake up before the Maritime baseball playoffs fade out of the picture entirely.

Georgetown Eagles Take One Game Lead In Series

By ED CLINTON
Souris Bureau of The Guardian

Georgetown Eagles have taken a one game lead in their quest for Island Intermediate rural baseball honors when they defeated Kinkora in Georgetown last Sunday. Dependable Allie MacPhee went all the way for the victory. The series resumes this week-end on the Kinkora diamond. On their way to the Island finals, and Eagles eliminated Morell and Mount Stewart.

The Souris Marauders, Island Bantam champions were sort of jumped upon by Chatham last Saturday in Moncton in the Maritime semi-finals. However the fact that they got that far has given baseball a big boost in the town. Their efforts should not go unrewarded. We think that they should be honored by some of the sportsminded organizations of the town. After all, they did bring Souris its first Island baseball championship. And no matter what happened in Moncton, an Island title is an excellent accomplishment.

The baseball season is not quite ended for these boys yet. This Saturday afternoon in Souris they will play an exhibition game against the Truro, N.S. Stanfields. The Stanfields are the Truro Pony League champions and it promises to be a good game. This will be the first time in quite a number of years that a team not from Prince Edward Island has played in Souris. Looks like the Bantams have more than one first to their credit.

MAKING DEBUT

Canadian Football, a game we've never seen, except on television, is making its debut in Souris this fall. At the present time, the boys are confined to the "touch" variety, but, we understand that all the necessary equipment has been ordered, and that before too long they'll be making the bit league tackles. John Mullally and Father J.J. Dunphy are the two men responsible for bringing the game to town.

Did anyone notice that just about everyone you talk to has definite opinions as to who is going to win the Patterson-Liston fight. No ifs, ands, or buts. Either they're all for Patterson, or all for Litson. Quite frankly, we have our doubts. However, here is our opinion, for what it's worth (No cracks, Mike). If the fight goes beyond six rounds, Patterson will be the winner. If it's a KO before six rounds, it will be Liston taking the bout. How's that for evasive action?

And, by the way, since it would appear to be a certainty that those few missing games of the King's County League will continue to be missing.

We'll release the final official statistics in a few days time.

Long River Team Feted

The members of Long River softball team were feted at a banquet on Saturday night, when they with their wives and girl friends were the guests of Long River Women's Institute, at Long River Hall and the Woodleigh trophy was presented to the team which was the winner for the season in the Farmer's League.

The team captain, Clair MacLeod, acted as master of ceremonies and grace was offered by Garth Gillispie.

Breton Cole, captain of the Spring Valley team which was beaten by Long River in the finals proposed a toast to the winners, to which George Doughart responded. Fred Doughart thanked the three men from outside the district who played on the team, and George Riley responded. Hillard Bernard expressed appreciation to the umpires, and Lloyd Profit thanked the ladies for the delicious hot chicken supper.

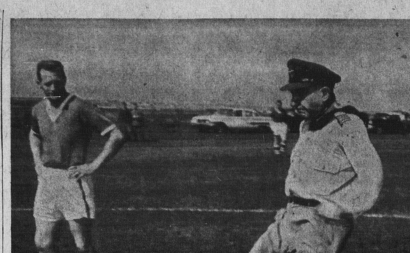
Entertainment included an hour of entertainment and games under the direction of George Doughart, who also read a poem in which the players were featured. A highlight of the evening was a poem of 63 verses, relating the past summer's activities of the team, the games and the League, composed and read by Mrs. Elmer MacLeod.

The president of the Farmer's League, Boyd Beairsto, voiced his approval of the excellent co-operation of all the teams, and congratulated the winners.

The Woodleigh trophy was presented to the captain, Clair MacLeod, by Archie Johnstone on behalf of his father, Lieut Col. E.W. Johnstone. Mr. Johnstone said he was very pleased with the way in which interest in the league has developed in the three years since the trophy was first presented for competition.

Members of the Long River ball team are: Clair MacLeod, Hillard Bernard, Lloyd Profitt, Garth Gillispie, Dale and Barry Johnstone, Fred and George Doughart, Edwin Campbell, Edwin Johnson, Margaret George Riley, Baltic, Eddie Leggett, Kensington.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Beairsto, Mr. and Mrs. Benton Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Johnstone, and Mr. Earle Dunning of Kensington who was replaced as an outside-the-district player when he was injured while playing the first game.



GREENWOOD TRIUMPHS

Bubel, Acting Commanding Officer, kicking the ball to open the game. Summerside's coach and captain were, respectively, Scotty Semple and D. Rossiter. For Greenwood, Wilf Hoare and Jack McNeil acted in the same capacities

Stars Whip Rovers 8-2 To Enter League Finals

The Stars moved in front in the second inning with a pair of runs and they added another one in the fourth before getting an answer from the Johnny Squarebriggs coached Rovers.

The losers counted their only two runs in the fifth inning. Lefty Dunn driving in both runs with a single. They had little luck on the baselines, leaving a total of seven runners stranded. In the ninth inning, with the bases loaded and only one out slugger Bobby Rice hit back to pitcher Shepherd and then Moe Stanley struck out to end the game.

Emmett Ellsworth and little Jamie Kennedy paced the winners last evening, each with three hits in five appearances. Moose McIsaac, who went in to replace Len Ellsworth in the third inning, was tops for the Rovers with two hits in three outings.

George Hawkins called the balls and strikes.

Buck Whitlock's Stars entered the City Baseball League finals last night when they defeated Rovers 8-2 in the second game of a best of three series.

Wilf Shepherd was credited with the victory. The southpaw hurler tossed a six-hitter at the Rovers and walked six over the nine innings.

Len Ellsworth started for the Rovers but gave way to Lefty Dunn in the third inning. The Stars got to them for a total of fifteen hits and they bunched five of them in the top of the ninth inning for a five run rally. Up to that time the Stars were leading by only run with the score reading 3-2.

Rider-Lion Game Rated 4-Pointer

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

When Winnipeg coach Bud Grant described Edmonton Eskimos and British Columbia Lions Friday as the two best teams in the Western Football Conference ever had, he probably wished they'd stay there.

But Dave Skrien made it clear his Lions intend to be anywhere but last by the time they play first-place Winnipeg Monday night.

He called the B.C.-Roughriders meeting in Regina tonight a "four - pointer, because it's as important for us to hold Saskatchewan down as it is for us to go up."

Riders are in third place with seven points, one ahead of Edmonton Eskimos and Lions. Calgary Stampeders are second.

Skrien planned no lineup changes and said he ordered no extra - length practices this week despite being mangled 31-6 Monday by Hamilton Tiger-Cats

GIVES REASONS

"Our philosophy," he said, "is that by rigid scheduling and hard work every minute, we can get more done in 90 minutes on the field than we could in three hours of helter-skelter work."

Riders coach Steve Owen also indicated no lineup changes for the tussle with Lions. But halfback Larry Dumelie may return after missing Riders' last game with a hip injury.

Riders decided against bringing back Canadian quarterback Ron Adam as rumor had them doing. Starting quarterback will be Bob Ptacek.

Looking toward Monday's game in Winnipeg, Grant said Lions have always meant trouble for Winnipeg and "I don't see why they shouldn't this time."

Stamps Nip Riders 36-32

By DAVE McINTOSH

Exciting Racing Set For Tonight

A nine - dash harness racing program is on tap for Charlottetown Driving Park patrons tonight.

This card promises of top notch racing entertainment and some of the season's choicest mutuel pays are quite likely.

Feature attraction finds Janet M, leaving on the rail in dash number four and getting her competition from a star-studded field. This field includes Stalag Hanover, Real Gold, Stormy Song, Morley's Pride and Arturo Hanover. Any of the half dozen starters could romp home in front in the clashes which occur in races four and eight.

Third and seventh dashes look like sizzlers with a crowded field of eight ready and waiting. The first trip of ths race finds Clarke Smith going away with Ginger E. on the rail. If Ginger stays pacing throughout, it will be hard to beat him. Those attempting to do just that are Sky Prince, Dennis Herbert, Anthony Lo, Princess Mark, Ray Grattan Up, Captain Chief and Homestretch Lady. These two dashes should keep the mutuel betors in a real state of confusion.

Six get the word in races two and six and these meetings are certain to be extremely interesting. Randall MacDonald has opped the rail for the first try with his Sonny Budlong. The other five are Primo, Here Am I, Jolly Frisco, Edward M. and Helen's Dream.

There's every indication of tonight's show providing as many thrills as any card yet presented in 1962.

Patrons are reminded that starting time has been fixed for 8 o'clock.

Boston Bruins Pare Squad

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins pared their squad Friday before starting a pre-season exhibition hockey trip. Veteran goalie Bruce Gamble and three other players were sent to minor league teams.

Gamble, the Bruins' regular goal tender at times for the last two seasons, was assigned to Kingston in the Eastern Professional League along with defenceman Eddie Westfall, a regular last year.

Dallas Smith was sent to Portland of the Western League. Terry Gray will be assigned shortly.

The Bruins general manager, Lynn Patrick, said of Gamble's transfer:

"We know what Gamble can do in competition. We want to find out what Bob Perreault and Ed Johnston can do. I'm disappointed that Gamble didn't try harder in our practices here and I told him so. But his transfer can be only temporary."

3,000 VESSELS EXPECTED

Large Spectator Fleet Worries Yacht Skippers

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The largest spectator fleet ever to follow a yacht race—a flotilla of 3,000 bessels carrying 50,000 fans including President and Mrs. Kennedy — is expected to swarm into the Atlantic today for the fourth America's Cup race between Weatherly and Gretel. The U.S. leads the best-of-seven clash two victories to one.

"It could be a madhouse," a U.S. Coast Guard spokesman said Friday. "If it's a good day, you'll be able to walk across the bay without getting your sines wet."

To meet the situation, the coast guard has brough additional ships from Boson reinforce its cutter patrol and has warned of fines up to $500 for persons invading the race area.

The camps of the defender Weatherly and the gritty Australian challenger Gretel, both enjoying an off day, appeared more concerned about the potential spectator fleet than the possible weather.

"A turnout that big is bound to affect the race," said Emil (Bus) Mosbacher, Weatherly's skipper.

COME TOO CLOSE

The spectator boats, ranging from huge excursion liners to motor runabouts, kick up a "slop" on the course and often stray too near the racers.

Jock Sturrock, the tanned helmsman of Gretel, asked an observer at dockside about spectator estimates for today.

"They say there were 2,000 boats of all kinds on the water last Saturday," he was told. "Tomorrow, they are looking for at least 1,000 more."

Sturrock winced.

CONCERNED ABOUT WINDS

Equally discouraging from the Australian standpoint was the weather forecast which calls for gentle, variable winds in the morning followed by southwesterly breezes in the afternoon freshening to 11 to 16 knots.

These are moderate airs. The Australians, beaten in two of the first three races in the best-of-seven series, need heavy weather—winds to 20 knots and above.

The fourth race, like the second won by Gretel by a margin of 47 seconds, will be over a 24-mile triangular course—the first eight miles upwind, followed by two reaches of eight miles each. Starting time is 12:10 p.m.

NHL To Honor Jack Adams With Dinner

WINNIPEG (CP)—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, announced Friday that the NHL will hold a testimonial dinner for Jack Adams, 66, general manager of Detroit Red Wings who retired last April after 42 years with the NHL club. The dinner will be held in Detroit this year but no date has been set.

"Most likely it will be late November or early December," Campbell said.

"We want to get together as many hockey people as we can to honor this man. We have planned it for a long time. The NHL will invite professional and amateur hockey officials and friends of Jack Adams. Every NHL club, of course, will be well represented."

Adams retired April 26 after 44 years in the NHL as player, coach and general manager. His retirement came a month after Red Wings completed their season on the outside of the Stanley Cup playoffs for only the second time in 24 seasons.

Builder of one of the NHL's most powerful dynasties in the 1950s, he had led the Wings to seven Stanley Cup championships and 12 league titles in the 35 years he ran the club.

The Abbies have shown loads of ability in all departments and local fans expect them to give a right smart account of themselves against the powerful St. Stephen crew.

Commenting on the Abbies last night coach Charles Ryan said, "This is the best Midget team we've ever had and unless they (the Firemen) have a terrific team we should whip them." He added "I rate them on a par, if not better than this year's Junior team.

The probable lineup for Sunday's game is as follows: — catcher - Wayne MacDougall, first-Sterling Breedon or Ricky Gallant; second - Jamie Kennedy; 3rd Freddy MacDonald; shortstop - Joey Gallant; outfielders - Brian McCallum; Barry Ellis, Ian MacDonald Cyril MacDonald and Lyall Huggin.
