

IN MEMORIAM

MARGARET MCKENNA

On June 5 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph McEntee, 83 Cumberland St., Mrs. Margaret McKenna passed peacefully from the measures of time to eternity.

Mrs. McKenna was the widow of the late Patrick McKenna, Auburn, the district adjoining Fort Augustus, where she was born ninety-one years ago, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly. She lived in Auburn with her husband the greater part of her long life where she reared a large family and was the model mother, setting a fine christian example in the home and in the community as well.

Her many years of activity began to draw to a close a few months prior to her death when the hand of time seemed to bear heavily upon her and fatigue, from the weight of the years she could no longer endure, and on the above mentioned date her eyes closed in death.

She leaves to cherish her memory four sons and four daughters, James, on the homestead at Auburn, John, Somerville, Mass., Patrick and Edwin of Malden, Mass., who came home to attend the funeral (Susan), Mrs. Matthew Lawson, Fife, Scotland, (Mary) Mrs. Lawrence Villard, Dorchester, Mass., (Bridget) Mrs. Charles Saunders, Charlestown, (Ann) Mrs. Joseph McEntee, Charlestown, two sisters, Mrs. Mary O'Brien, and Mrs. Theresa McNally of Fort Augustus; one step-sister, Miss Elizabeth McConnell; also thirty-five grandchildren and a number of great-grandchildren.

During her illness she was frequently visited by the Rev. Reginald Phelan who administered the final and fortifying Sacraments of the Catholic Church of which she was a devout member.

Her funeral, which was largely attended, was held from St. Patrick's Church, Fort Augustus on the morning of June 8, where Solemn High Mass, when the Mass was offered by Rev. P. Butler, assisted by Rev. W. O. Simpson as Deacon and Rev. Reginald Phelan as sub-deacon.

Interment was in the adjoining cemetery beside her husband who predeceased her fourteen years ago.

The Pallbearers were: Messrs. John Webster, John Hegarty, Damien Lynn, Douglas Docherty, John McInnis and Patrick Callaghan.

Blessed are the dead who die in Christ.
May her soul rest in Peace.

Charlotte High School seem to have shaken off the shackles of the past, in designing the building. Gone is the architectural severity of line and form that gave West Kent and Prince Street schools the more or less forbidding look of box-like premises.

The Queen Charlotte is spacious, in a spacious setting, has classrooms, attractive in layout and conveniences, will have facilities never dreamed of when the older schools were built. Through the liberal use of glass, sunshine will flood the classrooms during favorable weather, and altogether it is going to be a far more pleasant place in which to acquire an education, than the schools attended by Charlestownians of an earlier day.

Island Odds and Ends

If the North River Causeway is built and proves satisfactory, other river crossings in the Province may be reconstructed in like manner. Two bridges on the main highway leading to Wood Islands Ferry terminal are among those which could conceivably be replaced by causeways. These are the Vernon River Bridge and the one spanning the river at Pinette. Distinctly in the future, these projects are far from being in blueprints, but nevertheless are definitely in the talking stage.

Charlottetown's Old Home Week and Provincial Exhibition probably draws more people than any similar Maritime summer attraction. This statement is perhaps subject to a correction, but at any rate the island's big week is one of the greatest crowd pullers in Canada's Atlantic Provinces. And rightly so, because our annual fair is a great show many-sided in its appeal, a blend of high class entertainment well stage-managed—if that is the right word.

The men folk, and the women too, thrill to the strenuous days of night competitive horse racing, the children never tire of the vaudeville, our agriculturists admire some of the finest cattle in Canada, look with discerning eyes at prize-winning hogs, sheep and poultry, thousands admire the handcraft exhibits presided over by the Women's Institutes, and there is always the lively, noisy, shrobbing midway.

Planned very carefully, the 1964 edition of the show has everything to earn it the honor of being the best and better than anything which has gone before. The advertised attractions heralding the event, which have already appeared in the press, leave little doubt that the big week in August will maintain the Island's position, as the home of the biggest and finest fair "Down East."

It is hard to get interested in hockey when the Island is calling in the full glory of summer, its loveliness to get outdoors to the beaches, the green and fragrant countryside. But tonight those who wish to keep Charlottetown in the Maritime hockey limelight will meet at the Forum to consider ways and means. For every town which aspires to hockey honors, whether the league be big or small, the problem to be faced is always financial. You cannot conduct a sport like hockey, which can only be carried on in a more or less modern arena, on shoestring. Players must be paid, travelling expenses met, hockey equipment and gear bought in quantities, rink expenses and advertising taken into account, not to mention other and sundry outlays. Expensive it may be, but it is a great way to spend an evening, when outdoors is not as inviting as it is these fine summer days.

Some of the Islanders who went back to employment in Labrador this year have found the work less rewarding than in other years. Until this year, workers at that Northern air base were able to count on an unusual amount of overtime and hence, fatter pay envelopes. This year in certain occupations at least, overtime is kept to a minimum and the weekly wage is correspondingly lower. After board and lodging is paid, there is less chance of men bringing back to the Island, a bank-roll which accumulated mostly from the extra hours of work. Even under the less favorable conditions, the job does not lack workers, principally because only about half or less than the number formerly employed, are now needed to complete the job. The contractors, in fact, seem to be able to get all the men they need, without tapping Island resources of man power too heavily.

Out at home! With so many hard-hitting Little Leaguers like this in the clean-up position, it's no wonder more families ran out of Kellogg's Corn Flakes this morning than any other cereal. But don't blame the boys. Some thing happens every day in every season, because Kellogg's Corn Flakes just naturally taste best to more people. Always have. Still do. That's why so many folks pick up a spare package of Kellogg's Corn Flakes any time they buy any cereal of any kind. Good idea, isn't it!

Hints for the WELD-DRESSED Man

LATEST RESEARCH and newest techniques in aluminum welding are passed on to Canadian industry in clinics conducted by Aluminum Laboratories Limited, in Kingston. Plant engineers, managers, foremen and welders attend lectures and demonstrations by Alcan's research specialists.

We mention it here to show how closely the companies that use aluminum and the company that supplies it work together. More than a thousand manufacturers turn Canadian aluminum into everything from airframes to hairpins. And they know that in exploring new uses or improving old ones they can always call on Alcan to help them find the answers. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).
