McKenna-Moran Wedding

The Church of the Most Holy Redeemer was the scene of a very pretty wedding Wednesday morning when Mona Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Moran, Charlottetown was married to Joseph Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McKenna, also of Charlottetown.

Very Rev. Edward Baldwin, C.Ss.R. officiated at the wedding ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length dress of white embroidered nylon, over white silk with a small lace cap. She carried an arm bouquet of Carnations and Stephanotis.

Miss Ethel Moran was her sister's bridesmaid, and wore a floor length dress of white embroidered nylon over coral pink silk and small matching velvet cap. She carried an arm bouquet of pink Carnations and Stephanotis.

Mr. Reid McKenna, of Springfield, Mass. acted as groomsmen for his brother.

The ushers were Mr. Robert Morris and Mr. Frank Moran. During the Nuptial Mass, Miss Mary Moran sang "Ave Maria" by Rosewig, "My God Accept My Heart," "O God of Loveliness" and "The Prayer Perfect."

Alex H. MacLean, church organist presided at the organ. The bride's mother wore a rose suit dress with hat of contrasting color. Mrs. McKenna, mother of the groom, wore a dress of cocoa brown lace with brown hat.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at The Charlottetown Hotel. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Simon Faulk. Going away, the bride wore a suit of yellow beige gabardine with burip hat.

that Defence Secretary Louis Johnson is impressed by the argument, have been followed by a sudden review of American policy in Washington.

Chiang had been written off Washington's books, a white paper last year blamed him for the loss of China to the Communists through incompetence and corruption in his administration and because of failure to make needed reforms. President Truman said Formosa was Chinese territory and the United States was not going to get involved in the civil war.

But now in addition to what ever MacArthur may have said, reports are reaching Washington that real steps are being taken to strengthen Formosa's defences and improve its administration as well.

These reports jibe with the results of a recent private survey of opinion among virtually all the top Chinese and American officials on the island. The survey was made by people who were interested solely in learning for themselves what the true situation is.

They reached these conclusions: That both military and civilian will to fight is good. That reforms are following a new awareness of failures on the mainland. That the feeling between the islanders and Chiang's forces has been reconciled.

That there is little communism and not much danger of guerrilla fighting and sabotage such as occurred at Hainan.

That minimum military aid would make invasion unlikely to succeed.

That relations with Moscow are only slightly involved, since the Russians do not differentiate, anyway, between military aid and the economic aid which has continued, and that the Soviet is already giving substantial military aid to the Peiping regime.

I can't vouch for the soundness of these conclusions, but I know the men who made them. It represents their attempt to form an amalgam of the views of Nationalist and Formosa officials, both civil and military, educators, newspaper men, labor leaders, business men and a number of American observers and officials who are there. It probably contains some if not all of the reasons why Washington is now reviewing its policy.

Among The Farmers Federation Of Agriculture News

A Feature For Every Friday Large Attendance

The tremendous turnout to the County meetings during the last few days was very encouraging to the directors. The overall interest and general co-operation of farmers, was clearly evident in the meetings and discussions. The membership agreements were received from many districts, which had not previously reported.

About three hundred people, representing the various school districts right across Queens County, filled the Hunter River Hall to overflowing and reached unanimous agreement on the many controversial questions discussed.

The attendance last night at Summerside was equally as good.

Rain Helped The general opinion is that the hay crop will be short although it is felt that a few showers during the next few weeks would perhaps thicken it up considerably.

Damage from cutworms in some areas has developed into one of the most serious insect plagues that ever confronted Island farmers.

The rain yesterday, which was quite general although only light helped considerably. However, all our crops are suffering greatly because of the dry weather.

Potato Scheme Featured The main discussion at the County meetings centered on potato marketing, where a full, free, open and far-sighted discussion could be heard from all angles. Previous to the County meetings on Monday night, the executive and the potato committee of the Federation met with a committee from the Produce Dealers Organization to discuss the proposed scheme. It was generally conceded that the co-operation of all Producers, Dealers and Boards in at least the three Maritime provinces is needed to effect orderly marketing.

Going To Coast Arrangements have been made for Mr. Dewar, who is now attending the National Farm Forum meeting in Brandon, to go out to the Coast to meet with the officials of the British Columbia Board and study their system of Potato Marketing.

This will take a few days longer but, it was felt that after he has gone that far it would be only proper to take advantage of the opportunity to get this first-hand information from the Marketing Boards on the Pacific Coast.

Agricultural Courses As was explained at our County meeting yesterday there will be a definite and very valuable program of Agricultural training drawn up for the new Vocational School in Charlottetown next winter.

We have word from the Nova Scotia Agricultural College at Truro that there will also be scholarships offered for next term to students taking the farm course. This is the time of year when our older farm boys should start making plans to get away for a few months next winter to take advantage of the opportunities offered.

Those interested can obtain copies of next years course program in Charlottetown by writing to Ralph MacLean, Vocational School, Charlottetown or for the Nova Scotia program to "N. S. Agricultural College, Truro, Nova Scotia."

Tangible Results Our esteemed President, Dr. Hanrum, who has been re-named President of I.F.A.P. said in a closing press interview at Stockholm, that tangible results of the International farmers conference were that I.F.A.P. had been sent into action on marketing policies that all farmers wished to see established and which take public interest into full account. In addition to specific proposals for commodity marketing and surpluses, a sub-committee arrived at practical recommendations for the development of agricultural co-operation. In many other respects too, the impact of world economy on the agriculture of individual nations was clarified.

The conference concluded with an up-to-date and realistic appraisal of the international wheat agreement, a determination to keep the commodity clearing house proposal before governments, and instruction to the secretariat of I.F.A.P. itself to formulate proposals which governments must consider for commodity agreements covering dairy products and eggs.

The mood of all delegates at the conference was reflected in a quotation from the report of the policy committee, which said: "Farmers have responded to the call for increased food production to the point of depleting the world's most precious asset—its soil—and to endangering their own security. The time has come to let the world know that farmers, backed up by their national organizations, and the I.F.A.P. are not prepared again to acquiesce as they did between the two world wars, in being penalized for striving for maximum production. They therefore demand, as prerequisites to the continuation of maximum output, both assured markets and remunerative prices for efficient production."

F.A.O. Should Be Effective Plea for making the F.A.O. of the United Nations an effective organization was contained in the policy committee statement at the conference, which said: "History reveals that expansionist agricultural policies have been conspicuous in the main, only in times of war, or threats of war. I.F.A.P. is no doubt a vital and expanding agriculture working to supply all people with an adequate supply of food and clothing is the most creative approach to lasting peace.

"Governments must give full support to the United Nations and the specialized agencies. The food and Agriculture Organization must be transformed into an effective instrument and be vested with the necessary authority and finances to develop its work." Dairy Industry Seriously Threatened Prediction that if there were no regulation whatever of butter substitutes in Canada, the butter industry would be practically wiped out in a short period of time, was made by Dr. E. C. Hope, economist of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, in an address before the annual gathering of the Huron County Federation of Agriculture, June 14th.

Dr. Hope pointed out that about forty per cent of the former market for butter in Canada is now being absorbed by substitutes, which are now being manufactured and put on the market at the rate of 105 million pounds a year. If there were no ban in Quebec, if were no price support policy for butter, the impact of those substitutes would be so great as to wipe out the butter industry entirely. "For eighty years the government of Canada has considered it wise to have a profitable and sound dairy industry in Canada," said Dr. Hope, who said that over that period of time the Canadian Government had given assistance in one form or another to maintain and support the industry. Only the limiting factors on those substitutes, such as they are now, said Dr. Hope, prevented the total eclipse of the dairy industry in this country. If these limiting factors were removed, butter substitutes would be coming on the market at the rate of 200 million pounds a year, butter prices would drop to low levels, cheese and manufactured milk products also, and the surplus milk would seriously depress all fluid milk markets of Canada. The result of such a catastrophe would be that most dairy farmers would be bankrupted, said Dr. Hope. Tens of thousands of valuable dairy cows would go to the packing plants. The future of our dairy industry like most other farm crops depends on farmers organizing and staying organized. Dr. Hope will arrive in Charlottetown Monday to attend the A.I.C. convention and will meet with our Provincial executive Monday night.
