

THE DAILY EXAMINER. JUNE 23, 1883.

Notes of the Week.

Mr. Gladstone, while stating that the desire of His Royal Highness to render public service to the Crown did him the highest honor, declined to answer Baron DeWorms' questions as to whether the Duke of Albany's services had been declined as Governor-General of Canada.

The Grits have been shouting loudly and lustily over the tremendous victory of Hon Mr. Young's election in North Brant. One enthusiastic Reform paper considers that the defeat of the Conservative candidate augurs the complete annihilation of Toryism in Ontario.

In the midst of life we are in death. What words can describe the emotions of anguish and sorrow awakened by such an awful calamity as that of the Sunderland horror, in which two hundred and two happy, innocent children, were launched, without a moments warning, into eternity.

The French Government have given China an ultimatum. They reject the Chinese suzerainty of Anam, with the alteration of war, and demand an immediate answer. They declare that should Chinese soldiers be found in Anam they will be shot as bandits by the French, and should China make a movement of troops or ships to Anam it will be regarded as an act of war.

The Centennial Exhibition. THE EXAMINER's correspondent of today, shows what is the feeling here respecting the Prize List as at first published.
