EQUINE HISTORY.

The skin of the horse is valuable for both gloves and shoes.
The first English riding academy was founded by William III.
The trotting horse is an institution of the present century. Before 1800, running was the only method of racing.
In most countries of Europe horses were not employed in agricultural labor until a comparatively recent period.
The best known horse of Napoleon was Marengo. From first to last, Napoleon had 19 horses shot under him in battle.
As a rule, wild horses, though not so large as the domesticated animals, are more muscular and can better endure protracted labor.
The working age of a horse rarely exceeds 15 years, though his natural life sometimes extends to more than twice this period.
The first mention of the horse in the Hebrew Scriptures is in the blessing bestowed by Jacob upon Dan, in which the patriarch alludes to the animal as well known—"Dan shall be a serpent by the way, an adder in the path that biteth the horse heels, so that his rider shall fall backward."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Towers For Electric Lights.

When arc lights were first introduced for street lighting, there was a very exaggerated idea of their lighting power. A light of 1,000 candle power seemed such a powerful illuminator that the idea was very naturally conceived of placing lamps on the top of tall towers and lighting the whole area of a city. Several municipalities adopted this tower system of lighting, of which the best known example is doubtless Detroit. It was at once found, however, that a cluster of arc lamps 150 feet or more from the ground might be an excellent plan for lighting the whole of a large area, but was a very poor plan for lighting city streets. In the average American city, with long blocks, the streets comprise not more than one-tenth of the area. Hence with the tower system of lighting 66 per cent or more of the illuminating power is wasted in lighting up house roofs, back yards and vacant lots.

Nearly every city of which we have information that originally adopted the tower system of lighting has abandoned it. It is therefore quite surprising to learn that Des Moines proposes to put in a municipal street lighting plant and to use the tower system. What consideration influenced the city authorities to adopt this system we do not know, but we would strongly urge them to investigate the experience of Detroit and other cities with the tower system of lighting before they construct such a plant in their own city.—Engineering News.

A Septuagenarian Student.

At Warsaw a student has just graduated at the ripe age of 75. After passing his matriculation many years ago lack of funds prevented him from at once proceeding to the university, and he was compelled to work as a tutor for 20 years in order to save enough money to enable him to continue his studies. At the end of that time he presented himself at the Warsaw Medical academy and passed the entrance examination with distinction. Before he could begin his studies the Polish rebellion of 1863 broke out, and Borysik, who was now 41 years of age, threw himself into the movement with all the enthusiasm of a youthful revolutionist. The revolt was suppressed, and Borysik was exiled to Siberia, where for 32 years he underwent hard labor in the silver mines. In 1895 he received a free pardon and returned to Warsaw. In spite of his age and the hardships he had endured Borysik lost none of his enthusiasm for medical work, and took up his studies where he had left them off in 1863. After a two years' course this remarkable man has now, at the age of 75, passed the final medical examination with honors and will begin to practice in Warsaw.—London Daily Mail.

The Duke of Leeds.

The Duke of Leeds, who, it is said, will succeed Lord Aberdeen as governor general of Canada in June, is 34 years old and has been in parliament as a member for Lambeth. In 1884 he married Lady Katherine Frances Lambeth, a daughter of the second earl of Durham, and they have four pretty little girls. The duke, when he was in parliament as the Marquis of Carmarthen, was the youngest member in the commons and the youngest looking until he grew a beard. It is told of him that on the day of his election some one asked him, "Say, boy, does your mother know you're out?" "Yes," promptly replied the youthful politician, "and when the votes are counted tonight she will know I am in." The family of the duke—the Osbornes—is one of the oldest and most aristocratic in all the peerage.

Southern Talent.

Southern talent is making itself felt everywhere in this country. Woodrow Wilson, a native of Augusta, Ga., and comparatively a young man, is professor of jurisprudence at Princeton university and has already achieved not only national but European reputation. Professor Blewett Lee, who, it is said, has declined a professorship at Harvard, with a salary of $7,000 a year, because he prefers to remain in Chicago, where he can prosecute his legal business and at the same time retain his connection with the University Law school, is a son of General Stephen D. Lee, president of the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical college.—Montgomery Advertiser.

A LITTLE PAINT
will make an old farm wagon look like new. If you keep your farm implements and tools well painted they will last twice as long as if they were never touched after they left the shop.
THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS are made for every purpose. A paint for houses, another for floors, another for barns, still another for furniture and decorative work. A paint for buggies, for shelves, for cupboards, for farm tools, for bath tubs—each exactly suited for the purpose intended and nothing else. A paint that is recommended as good for everything is probably good for nothing. No two articles to be painted are exactly alike. Upon one you may desire a glossy varnish surface, upon another an oil finish that can be washed.
THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS SPECIAL FLOOR PAINT is made for floors, and floors only. It dries quickly. It is made to walk on, and to stand being walked on.
Our booklet, "Paint Points," tells many valuable things about good paint and bad paint, how to paint and what to paint. Send to-day for a free copy, a postal will do. For booklet, address 19 St. Antoine St., Montreal.
