

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

NOVEMBER 7, 1883.

Thanksgiving Day.

We are told to give thanks "in everything;" and everyone has undoubtedly at all times cause for thankfulness. But to-morrow the community generally is to give thanks for the special blessing of "the bountiful harvest with which Canada has been blessed." The duty of giving thanks to God being admitted, "Thanksgiving Day" will, of course, be well observed in this Province. Ordinary work will be suspended for the time, the churches will be filled, thanksgiving and praise will ascend from every home; for our barns are full of all manner of store.

The European War Cloud.

The clouds of war which always hang over Europe are thickening portentously in two directions:

1. The French Chamber has passed a vote of confidence in the Ferry Ministry. This is regarded by the representatives of China as the first step towards war; and it seems probable that the forces of China will soon enter Tonquin. It is reported that great activity prevails in the arsenals at Toulon, that fresh transports have been ordered to be in readiness for use, and that the members of the Chinese Legation in France are seriously considering the question of demanding their passports. It is significant that M. Challemel Lacour has resigned the office of Minister of Foreign Affairs because he has "publicly intimated his belief that a foreign power—namely, England—has been urging China to resist France."

2. The complications between Germany and Russia afford serious ground for alarm—that is if our advices are reliable. It is stated that the Government at Berlin is greatly incensed on account of the action of the Russian authorities in massing such large numbers of Cossacks on the frontier, and that the cabinet is seriously considering the advisability of at once preparing and forwarding a note to the Russian government, demanding an explanation of this sudden movement of troops. The Schlesische Zeitung says that Germany will not be satisfied with mere assurance of pacific intentions on the part of the Czar and M. de Giers, prime minister of Russia. On the other hand, it is stated that there is no evidence of pacific intentions beyond the bare declaration that Russia is peacefully disposed; and the massing of Cossack troops on the German frontier and the unrestrained Pan-slavic agitations in Poland are strongly of variance with such professions. As it is "the situation" is interesting.

Editorial Notes.

—A Summerside correspondent of the Monetary Times writes: "We want you to understand that our Island is the garden of America, and our people are not fed on potatoes and smelts, but on the contrary we have plenty of the best mutton, beef, and mackerel on earth." On which the Times remarks that "Barnum ought to be after this man."

—Speaking at the recent National League Convention, Parnell said that as a general election was approaching it was of the utmost importance that the league organization should be ruled by a body possessing the confidence of the branches and dominated by the same policy, consisting of a small number of men. Mr. Parnell then proposed a resolution to that effect, and nominated the seven members of the Irish Parliamentary Party to form the executive, with Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., as President.

—The troubles in Ireland do not seem to be over yet. Recently Orangemen have evinced a spirit of great hostility to the nationalists and threaten that if the latter invade Ulster, as they have originally resolved to do, there will be war between them, and as in all such conflicts, the best party wins. The following address, which is only one of many, serves to give an idea of the determined and warlike spirit of the Orangemen of Ireland. "No surrender."

—To the Orangemen of Fermanagh.—The rebel association for murder and outrage having been defeated in Tyrone, has invaded Fermanagh. Come in your thousands to Roslea on Tuesday, 16th, to protest against Repeal, Home Rule, Universal Suffrage, and the disruption of the British Empire, by the defenders of the dynamite and dagger conspirators. Ut Probavi. "God save the Queen."

The advance of the Southern States in material improvement and prosperity in recent years has been remarkable. Not only have lands advanced greatly in assessed value since 1880, and the railroad mileage in the same period increased 8,789 miles, or one-fourth the increase of the whole union, but the increase of manufacturing interests has been startling. This is best shown in regard to cotton mills. In the four states of Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina, in 1880 there were 128 mills, with 451, 601 spindles and 9,509 looms; in 1883 there were 150 mills, with 826,731 spindles and 14,978 looms, an increase of over 60 per cent. in barely three years. And these mills pay from 15 to 20 per cent. on the capital invested, which but few of their competitors in New England and the Middle States can equal.

The statement that the Orleans Princes sounded Bismarck relative to their claims to the French throne is declared untrue.

Meeting of Presbytery.

The Presbytery of P. E. Island met in Summerside, on the 6th instant. There were present Revs. Kenneth MacLennan, M. A., J. M. MaLeod, A. Stirling, Wm. Grant, A. F. Carr, M. A., Wm. P. Archibald, M. A., George MacMillan, B. A., Wm. A. Mason, B. A., and A. B. McLeod, ministers; and Thomas McNeill, Archibald Ferguson and Joseph Linkletter, elders.

At the request of the congregation of East St. Peter's, Rev. Messrs. Carr, Archibald, and McMillan, were appointed a committee to meet with and aid them in the election of church rites. Charles Fraser was appointed to preach in the Lot 16 section of this congregation when not otherwise employed in the Presbytery.

The next quarterly meeting of Presbytery was appointed to be held in Zion Church, Charlottetown, on first Tuesday of February, at eleven o'clock, a. m.

JOHN M. MACLEOD,
Presbytery Clerk.

The Export of Live Stock.

One of Westmorland's heaviest local dealers in live stock, Mr. John Avard, of Botsford, was in Moncton on Saturday last. A Transcript reporter had some conversation with him about his business this season, which is given below:

Reporter—What has been the extent of your shipment in stock this year?

Mr. A.—I have shipped three thousand sheep and lambs, three hundred cattle and a number of horses.

Reporter—Where was the stock purchased principally?

Mr. A.—In Prince Edward Island. The stock I spoke of a moment ago was all Island stock. I do almost all my buying on the Island.

Reporter—Will you make any more shipments this fall?

Mr. A.—I expect to bring over about one thousand more sheep, and probably some produce.

Reporter—Where did you dispose of the animals?

Mr. A.—The cattle were all for St. John and Miramichi dealers. The horses and sheep all went to Boston, except 800 sheep which were sent over to England, by some Sackville men as an experiment.

Reporter—How do prices range for stock and produce?

Mr. A.—Prices are fair. I have not bought any great quantities of produce yet this year. The prices in live stock are about the same as last year.

Reporter—Has the export this season from the Island in animals and produce been heavy thus far?

Mr. A.—The number of horses purchased on the Island this year for the American markets is something immense—it must run up well into the hundreds. Great quantities of farm produce is being shipped now in sailing vessels, and the steamers also have carried away considerable.

Our Advertisers.

"The Gypsy Queen, or the Flowers of the Forest" will be produced this evening, at Market Hall.

G. Herbert Haszard calls attention to his stock of choice winter flowers.

THE Rev. James Prand pastor of the Congregational Church, Oberlin, has been sued by Frank E. Bronson, a druggist, of the same place, for $30,000 damages, because the former preached a sermon in which he intimated that Bronson was in the habit of selling liquor. The following is claimed to be part of the sermon: "The shadows of death are the golden haze which heaven's light makes when it meets the earth, and mingles with its shadow. But to thee (meaning Bronson) there shall be shadows full of phantom shapes. Images of terror in the future shall dimly rise and beckon. The ghastly deeds of the past shall stretch out their skinny hands and hush thee. Thou shalt not die unattended. Despair shall seize thee. Agony shall tender to thy parched lips her fiery cup. Remorse shall feel for thy heart and rend it open. Good men shall breathe freer at thy death, and utter thanksgiving when thou art gone. Men shall place thy gravestone as a monument and a testimony that a plague is stayed, and as, borne on the blast, thy guilty spirit whistles toward the gates of hell, the shrieks of those whom thou has destroyed shall pierce thee—hell's first welcome."

China Point Notes.

"The melancholy days have come, the saddest in the year." Leaves are falling, flowers are fading, nights get colder, days shorter, the whole aspect of nature is undergoing the annual change, while people are all enthusiastic, getting their shipping and other fall work done, in order to give "Jack Frost" a suitable reception when he comes.

The question down here now is "Who is Rambler?" Some suggest this one, others that, and people eagerly ask each other "Who is he?" and echo answers "Who?"

Messrs. George Beers and David Irving are at present loading a schooner with potatoes, oats and turnips, for the foreign markets, while Mr. Thomas Crane expects one in shortly to carry off his surplus products. These gentlemen all farm on a large scale, and nearly every autumn load vessels and sell in the market abroad.

The allusions made by "Rambler" in your last issue to Mr. Crane were entirely uncalled for. Although a strong Conservative and a keen and powerful logician, his aspirations were never of so lofty a character as to represent the people in Parliament.

On the farm adjoining Mr. C.'s on the east, is situated the comfortable dwelling house of Mr. Peter Carrier, who is one of those farmers that believe in keeping up to the times. His stock of horses, cattle and sheep are always the best. Some time ago he sold a fine Durham Steer to Mr. McGregor Butcher, Lot 48, and it beat anything of its age in the record of P. E. Island.

A grievance felt severely in this part of the country, is the want of a Post Office. Why do we not have one? I see by late papers that new Post Offices are being established in other parts of the Island; still we are left in the lurch. The people should stand up and assert their rights.

Mr. George Crane, the energetic and obliging ferryman, is always at his post in sunshine and storm, dispensing kind words to the weary, and sunny smiles to all. Although he gets "soaked" pretty often, like the Chinese, he never loses his equanimity, but takes everything coolly. Mr. Crane is a deservedly popular officer, and we wish him a pleasant winter.

AGRICOLA.
China Point, Nov. 6, 1883.

Long Creek Notes.

Potato hauling and shipping seems to be the order of the day. Messrs. Farguharson & Stewart are running their starch factory at full blast; yet they cannot keep pace with the farmers who are hauling potatoes. So great is the rush some days that farmers have the dissatisfaction of hauling their loads home again.

Mr. Hugh McMillan has loaded several vessels at the bridge this fall; but there seems to be very little ready money on the move, and farmers are rather at a loss what to do with their potatoes to turn them into cash.

On hallowe'en night a practical and rather amusing joke was played on Mr. Paul McPhee, an enterprising farmer of this locality. Some miscreants entered his cabbage garden through the silent hours of the night and left him minus of 200 head of fine cabbage. Night prowlers of this description should be brought to justice.

About twelve or fifteen days ago a resident of this vicinity, named John Oldfield, suddenly made his disappearance, and although every possible enquiry has been made, no traces of his whereabouts have hitherto been found. Information from anybody that will lead to his discovery will be thankfully received. A considerable uneasiness is being felt with regard to his safety.

Cape Traverse Notes.

Everyone speaks highly of the work being done on the wharf, and the work is going on rapidly. Mr. Connor, the foreman, thinks the situation very good for a first rate little harbor. The day, probably, is not far distant when the Capes will become the mail and passenger route, summer as well as winter.

We hear the mails are taken from the "St. Lawrence," and she is not allowed to carry a passenger under a penalty of four hundred dollars. People, no doubt, would prefer the "St. Lawrence" to the "Summerside." It seems strange that passengers, when two boats are running, are not allowed to make a choice. Has some one discovered a rotten spot in her, and said she is not safe to carry mails and passengers? It is rather a shabby way of disposing of so good a man as Captain Evans, and his noble crew. At one time, for a number of years, Captain Evans did the whole work of the Island—between Charlottetown, Pictou, Summerside and Shediac. He was run day and night, and almost run blind. These were good old Conservative times, very much like the present. Business was brisk, money plenty, and people were moving. Captain Evans is yet an energetic man, the public have still every confidence in him, and why should he be treated in this way?

The Government offers a reward of £500 for information leading to the conviction of the perpetrators of the underground railway outrages. The railway companies offer £500 for the apprehension of the miscreants. The physicians find that the tympanic membranes of the persons injured are ruptured, which can be only attributed to the detonation of dynamite. It is evident that the explosive was similar to that employed by Dr. Gallagher and his confederates.
