TURN TO PAGE NINE

Route Is Chosen For T.-C. Highway

The route following Elm Avenue, Great George Street and Grafton Street to the new Hillsbor Bridge for the Trans Canada highway was recommended by a city committee at the regular monthly meeting of the City Council Monday night.

Councillor Frank J. Neill, chairman of the committee named to examine the project, stated that this route was favored by the Trans-Canada Highway Engineers. It would be necessary, he suggested, to widen Elm Avenue to meet the requirements of the Highway agreement, which would at the same time, provide parking along the street. This latter consideration, however, was objected to by Councillor James Haslam who considered this would be a dangerous practice.

Councillor Haslam suggested that an alternate route via Upper Queen Street should receive continued consideration as it would open that area for development and provide another access road to the Highway.

In a reversal of a previous decision the Council last night changed the date of the annual civic holiday from August 4 to August 13 to permit it to fall during Old Home Week. By resolution they also set the date for the future as falling on the Wednesday of Old Home Week.

Prior to voting on this matter Council heard from R. Earl Taylor, president of the Charlottetown Board of Trade, who said merchants of the city favored the change. They had objected, he said, to closing on the earlier date during the height of the tourist season. He maintained the majority of visitors would be attending the annual celebrations during the following week anyway and there would be little loss of business by closing then.

The Council passed a resolution expressing appreciation to the Provincial Government for permitting use of government-owned land on Kent Street as a playground. At the same time they voted $1,500 to equip the new recreation area.

Following noon hour the group enjoyed an hour of square dancing under the capable direction of Dr. George Fisher Director of Veterinary Services, P.E.I. Department of Agriculture.

The guest speaker, Dr. L. W. Shaw, Retired Deputy Minister of Education, spoke to the members on "Citizenship." He stressed the need for young people to practice good citizenship and their responsibilities as "Citizens of tomorrow."

The chairman for the program was Morning; Janet Jones, Alexandra and Districts Calf Club; Afternoon; Myrna Coles, North Milton Garment Club; Public speaking competition Eugene Donahue, Cornwall Calf Club. The pianist for the group singing was Gail Carter, North Milton Garment Club.

Additional proposals call for building a sidewalk on York Lane and Crestwood Drive extension and the placing of gravel on Goodwill Avenue, Admiral and Upper Queen Streets, and averley Court, Windsor, Villa and Green Streets and on the road to the City dump. Councillor O'Neill also plans to lay one-half mile of sidewalks in Ward 6, he said.

served that the gates to Government Pond would need to be made extremely watertight in order to prevent seepage and the consequent possibility of complete drainage.

With the completion of the new system the Pond would be deprived of many of its normal sources of replenishment, he added.

Mr. Crandall suggested that the Pond could be deepened to a depth of four feet which would cut down evaporation and add to the freshness of the water changed only once monthly on the high tides.

No Retraction Senator Insists

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator J. W. de B. Farris said Saturday he has nothing to retract in a Senate statement in which he referred to Commons member Douglas Jung as "this Chinaman."

Senator Farris has been under criticism in the Commons for using the phrase in commenting on a statement made this week in Paris by Mr. Jung, first Commons member of Chinese extraction, who sits for Vancouver Centre.

"I have nothing to retract," Senator Farris said in a statement. He said Mr. Jung himself, in a Paris interview, had referred to himself as Chinese.

"What is the difference?" the Senator said. "I would have referred to any person of any other race as I did about Mr. Jung."

Mr. Jung, Vancouver lawyer, was quoted in Paris this week as saying that Canadian delegations to Russia are hand-picked and biased while Russian delegations to Canada often cannot see the people or places they wish to see.

The Senator said he regretted his remarks had diverted attention from "really serious" statements attributed to Mr. Jung.

He said he regarded the Commons member's statements as most unfair to Canada.

VETERINARY INFORMATION

Over the past few years the Veterinary service on Prince Edward Island has shown marked increases. The number of calls responded to by the practicing Veterinarians has shown a steady upward trend each year. During the month of May over nineteen hundred calls were responded to by the six practicing Veterinarians. Each year new treatments and methods of control of the various diseases and parasitic conditions are put into effect.

It is necessary to collect this information and have it available for the Livestock Breeders in the Province as soon as possible. This is done by keeping abreast with the scientific journals and attending conventions. Recently several of the practicing Veterinarians attended the Maritime Veterinary Conference. The Director Dr. George C. Fisher will be attending the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association which is being held in Winnipeg. Mrs. Fisher is the National President of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association.

Many subjects will be presented by Veterinarians from Canada and the United States who are meeting to exchange knowledge and ideas and listen to scientific papers. Visiting speakers from the United States include Dr. W.W. Armstrong, President of the American Veterinary Medical Association and Dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine Michigan State University. Dr. F.E. Eads, Manager, Department of Veterinary Medicine, Parke, Davis and Company, Detroit, Michigan. Dr. M.K. Parent Foley, Minnesota. Dr. T.D. Simpson, American Synamabik Company, Princeton, New Jersey and Dr. S. Barker, Public Health Service, Washington, D.C. This latter speaker is one of the world's experts on rabies.

Other prominent speakers from Canada are Dr. A.C. Abbott, Winnipeg; Dr. J.C. Bankier, B.C. Animal Pathology Laboratory, Vancouver; Drs. A.J. Cawley and C.M. Fraser, Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph; Dr. Connell, Veterinary Research Officer, Lethbridge; Dr. J.E.B. Graham, Toronto; Drs. R. Gwathkin and A.E. Lewis, Health of Animals Division, Ottawa; Dr. G. F. Hamilton, Saskatoon; Dr. M. Hanson, Calgary and Dr. E.W. Singam, University of Manitoba Winnipeg.

CONCENTRATED MILK

It may not be long until the nations milk drinkers will be able to buy several months milk supply in one trip to the store, reports Dairy Digest. The new concentrated, sterilized milk recently patented by the University Wisconsin will come packed in cans that can be stored for several months with or without refrigeration without losing its fresh characteristics. This development should mean broader market for the dairymen because concentrated milk can be shipped long distances and can be marketed entirely stores just as other canned foods are now.

CLEANLINESS

A clean yard and sanitary feed house on the farm, especially during hot summer days, will keep flies and odors down to a minimum. Without first dumping refuse on the ground, take it right out of the yard. Sprinkle limestone on the ground under pens to sweeten the soil and discourage flies which may transmit disease. Liberal use of a good fly repellent and fly traps are advisable.

Cleanliness is equally as important in the feed house. Dr. Fisher recommends screens on doors and windows. Cement floors
