The general economy of Canada without prejudicing the economy of any of the other Provinces."

MAYOR STEWART

At the conclusion of the City's presentation, Mayor Stewart was asked what percentage of the property within the City was tax-exempt to which he replied 77,000,000 out of $25,000,000. He said on further questioning that 33-35 per cent of the tax dollar in the City was going for education.

His Worship told the Commission about Charlottetown's Centennial celebration this year, noting that the tourist industry and general business had increased greatly. The Commission was interested to know how this increase had been realized and were told that every effort had been made to bring as many new visitors here as possible, relying on the theory that every new tourist would be a sales-man for the Province when he left.

Mayor Stewart said the extension of the Charlottetown Airport runways was most important to the economy of the City. First of all, he pointed out, the landing of larger planes here would be a boon to the hotel business which is usually slack during the winter months. He said that the extension of the airport runways having to move their staff elsewhere suggested that perhaps this Company would come back to Charlottetown if the needed extensions were made.

Mr. Gordon thanked the Mayor for his presentation and for the manner in which he answered the questions asked him. He reminded His Worship that he would be hearing him again when as President of the Federation of Mayors and Municipalities he would be appearing before the Commission.

AGRICULTURE

The longest submission made at the hearing was from the Federation of Agriculture by Mr. J. L. Dewar. The Commission Chairman congratulated Mr. Dewar on a fine presentation and the forthright manner in which he replied to the Commission's enquiries.

Questions asked Mr. Dewar revealed that about 2,000 immigrants have come to the Province since 1946. Most of these were from the Netherlands and in almost all cases they had proven themselves to be excellent citizens and very good farmers. Asked whether they had any difficulty in getting settled on their own farms, he said that they were considered good risks and quite often were allowed to buy property with a very small down payment.

Dr. Gushue asked Mr. Dewar if the possibilities of shipping a "reduced milk" product to Newfoundland had been considered. Dr. Gushue noted that Newfoundland had found the cost of whole milk to be excessive and was anxious to explore all possibilities for a cheaper product.

POTATO CARGO LOADED FOR FLORIDA

The "Vretaholm" which sailed from Summerside yesterday afternoon is seen above yesterday morning completing the cargo of 40,000 bags of potatoes which are destined for Jacksonville, Florida, a voyage the ship will make in about five days.

This large, modern ship will return to Summerside for another cargo of potatoes in about a month. The ship arrived here from Europe and in addition to her crew carried about twelve passengers.

The cargo was assembled from many parts of the county by trucks and from stocks that were stored in the new warehouse on the Marine Wharf. It was loaded by George H. Bookins, produce, Kensington and the stevedoring was handled by MacFarlane Produce of Summerside.

NEED FOR EXTENDING

working facilities deplorable, but there is a supply of trained stevedores who work very occasionally. The possibilities of local industry would be greatly increased if the development of water transport were encouraged.

WATERFRONT RECLAMATION

The possibility of reclaiming land along our waterfront would seem a most feasible project. This could be accomplished by setting interlocking steel piling from the west wharf and then filling in between wharves. This reclaimed land could be utilized for industrial sites with access both by water and rail. This area of land would be approximately twenty acres.

Another great need is power. We have no hydro facilities and are forced to generate electricity by burning oil. The transportation of power from the mainland is expensive and, as yet, uneconomical, but there is a good possibility of being able to purchase it elsewhere when we can create a greater demand for it by increasing the industrial use of it.

The need for school facilities is illustrated by the fact that not one school was constructed in the City between 1878 and 1954. The post-war increase in the number of children taxes our facilities and we must meet the need. There are ample facilities for the levels from grade eleven up, and a large new school takes care of the Junior High School grades from seven to ten. The early grades are still in old buildings the maintenance costs of which together with the cost of the new school are very high. The cost of education to the city has jumped from $10,300 in 1900 to $44,000 in 1929 to $185,000 in 1954. Despite this rise we must maintain and improve physical facilities and, above all, an adequate supply of well trained and well paid teachers.

The problem of streets is largely one of replacing pavement which was originally constructed for lighter traffic, providing parking space in congested areas, and widening streets in several districts which developed rapidly. A good deal of community planning is needed here, and we hope to include improvement of traffic facilities in any plan for industrial and housing expansion.

RECREATION FACILITIES

With respect to recreation, Charlottetown is particularly blessed with facilities which are scarce or non-existent in larger centres. There are bathing beaches all around the city; golf is available within five minutes drive; fishing and shooting can be enjoyed within very short distances; and Victoria Park is available for walking and for athletic activities of all kinds. There is a large coliseum and fine race track in the Exhibition grounds and an arena in the center of the City for large gatherings and for ice skating and hockey in winter. Four city blocks are kept as "Squares" for the enjoyment of both adults and children. All these facilities are readily available to all citizens regardless of their financial resources. There are several private "Community centres" as well.

As for cultural centers, the City has one library to which is attached a small art gallery. As yet there is no museum to house the valuable records and antiques scattered among private owners. It is hoped that space could be made available (perhaps in the Post Office building which will soon be vacated) for a good museum which will be a tourist attraction and, even more important, a place for our plays and study to serve our own people, particularly the children. There are two concert series, the Community Concerts and the Prince of Wales College Concerts, which bring good music each year. Private organizations also bring exhibits and entertainments to the City from time to time.

With respect to the administration of the City, the Commission members are pleased to note that the City is well served in this respect.

WARREN, Me. (AP) — State Representative Leroy M. McCluskey, 58, a retired coast guard officer who fought in both world wars, died Monday at the Marine Hospital in Brighton, Mass. As a lieutenant, McCluskey commanded a shore party that destroyed a German radio station on the east coast of Greenland in one of the first U. S. naval actions of the Second World War.

Remembrance Day Observance Is Planned

Representatives of various local organizations, the press and radio last evening attended a meeting at the Canadian Legion Home in Summerside to make arrangements for the annual observance of Remembrance Day, November 11th.

The delegates were privileged to witness a showing of the film, sponsored by the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., "The Long Silence" on the significance of the poppy wreath and of the benefits derived from the manufacture and sale of the poppy. The film, which is in beautiful technicolor, and which will be made available by the Legion for showing at service clubs and schools in Summerside deals with the significance of the poppy to the families and friends of those who made the supreme sacrifice as well as to those veterans who came back and are unable to carry on their previous occupations.

In the manufacture and sale of this symbol, many thousands are given gainful employment and a feeling that they can be of use to others. From the sale of these poppies, veterans and their dependants are provided with medical care and in many cases scholarships are provided for the children of the men who went over and did not come back.

Past president of the Summerside branch, Francis MacNeill, presided at the meeting and although plans for the observance could not be altogether finalized, the general program of last year, which was very successful will be followed again this year. The commanding officer of the parade will be Leo Bagnall, Earl Cannon will be in charge of the veterans, Arthur Corney will be in charge of the color party, R.L. Mollison of the veterans of World War One and Charles Hogan of World War Two veterans, Harold Harkness will be in charge of the Memorial Square until such time as the parade moves in.

Generous Response To Lions' Canvass

Residents of Summerside, as well as the many business houses, responded generously last evening to the Lions Club house-to-house canvass on behalf of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind with a total of $1,123.89 having been donated up to a late hour last night. The objective set by the club is $1,200.00 and as several business houses have yet to be contacted it is felt that this sum will be realized, much to the elation of the local Lions who are conducting this drive for the first time.

Some residents were not at home last evening when the canvasser called and those who were not contacted may leave their donation at the radio station. Campaign chairman was Russell Kelly, with
