THE DAILY EXAMINER
NOVEMBER 8, 1899.
NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Sir Charles Tupper in Winnipeg was asked his opinion as to the date of the general election and replied: "The Government had fixed a date for the elections in January, but whether they will find any reason for postponing them I cannot say."
—The nomination of Mr. T. W. McGarry to contest the seat for South Renfrew with Mr. Latchford, the new Ontario minister of public works, is the Gazette remark, a courageous step which indicates that the Ontario Conservatives mean to make the most of their opportunities. The rejection of Mr. Latchford would be equivalent to a death blow to the somewhat shaken ministry of which Mr. Ross has become chief. To bring about such a result is an object worth striving for.
—The army under Sir Redvers Buller when it has reached South Africa will be the largest British Army with which Great Britain has ever begun a war. To the Crimea we sent 26,000 infantry, sixty guns, and about 1,000 cavalry. During the Waterloo campaign we had little over 30,000 British troops, and even that included the "German Legion," which was then reckoned among them. At Waterloo itself we had only 15,000 British infantry. During the Tel-el-Kebir campaign we sent to Egypt a little over 30,000 men.
—Of vital importance to the success of British military operations against the Transvaal, will be the transportation of the forces from the port of arrival to the front. This is entirely under the management of a French Canadian, Major Girouard, whose honors, won in Africa with General Kitchener, have made him one of the notable men of the Empire. His brilliant service in the Soudan campaign pointed him out to the War Office as the man best qualified to do that work well. He is a representative of whom all Canadians, and especially those of French extraction, may well be proud.

As the St. John Sun points out Canada was the first colony and Sir Wilfrid Laurier the first premier in the great jubilee procession two years ago. The first colonial premier to move a resolution expressing sympathy with the English in the Transvaal was an Australian. The last was Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The first colony to offer a corps for the Transvaal was Queensland. The last was Canada. The first colonial contingent despatched from one of the colonies was from New South Wales. The N. S. W. Lancers went to England and trained with the regulars. They are now at Cape Town. The first Canadian contingent has been on the way one week, though the men would gladly have gone a month ago. The second New South Wales contingent sailed for South Africa last week.

We have to announce today the death of an aged, and well-known citizen of Charlottetown, — Mr. W. C. Harris, senior, of Brighton Road. Mr. Harris was born at Liverpool, England, on the 4th of January, 1813. He was one of the first (if not the first) to begin the pork and lobster packing industries in this province; and in conjunction with the Hon. Daniel Davies carried on for many years an extensive business at Murray Harbor South and at Charlottetown. An exceedingly well-informed man, and possessed of warm feelings and excellent characteristics, he was highly respected and esteemed. His family include Mr. T. J. Harris, of the London House, Mr. Robert Harris, Montreal, President of the Royal Canadian Academy, Mr. W. C. Harris, jr., A. R. C. A., Architect, the Rev. E. A. Harris, M. A., Rector of Mahone, Nova Scotia, Mrs. W. L. Cotton and Miss Harris, Vice Principal of Upper Prince Street School. He leaves many warm friends to cherish his memory.

OPEN AIR RINKS
SIR,—While I am aware that the war in South Africa is absorbing much of the attention of your readers I ask your indulgence for a short space on another subject.
In a short time cold weather will be upon us and the youth of our city will be seeking recreation, pastime and healthful exercise in the clear bracing atmosphere so essential to health and longevity in this northern clime. An open air skating rink perhaps fills the bill better than anything else. Previous to the setting in of a rigorous winter, such as we have in Charlottetown, several ponds afford good skating in November and December. In the east end, Warburton's pond, near the rifle range is one, these; another in the west end, near Inkerman, affords pastime and exercise to hundreds in the early winter. These two, however, are on private property and the public generally, cannot take advantage of them. The pond par excellence is the one known as Government Pond. It is within the city limits and only a few minutes walk from the Post Office. It is public property, but can only be utilized by the shutting in of the tide by a gate placed in position years ago and maintained by the taxes of the citizens. All that is necessary to be done is to shut in the tide and the early frosts of November will do the rest. We will then have one of the best open air rinks imaginable, and as I have said it being public property the whole of the citizens can take advantage of it.
For some reason or other the gates were not attended to the last two years. The tide was not shut in—and as a consequence the pond was no where in evidence, and this open air rink of years ago became numbered with the past to be remembered as a lost friend.
Will our city fathers take a gentle hint and have this pond flooded at once and afford our youth enjoyment and recreation for at least a month or two before the heavy snows of winter fall, and while the heavy frosts are preparing the ice on indoor rinks. Am I asking too much?
JENNY SKATES.

NOVEMBER MAGAZINES.
SELF CULTURE.
The November number of this excellent magazine is well up to the high standard it has set. An interesting article on Yale University leads the van and is followed by "An Architect's Plight," "Greenwich, Its Kings, Queens and Heroes," "A Trip to the Klondike," "Have we a Duty in the Philippines," "The Tidal Bore of the Petitcodiac River," "The Transvaal,—Boer versus Briton," "The World and its Doings," editorial comments, etc., all capably written and worthy of perusal and study.

Esterhazy Sentenced.
PARIS, Nov. 7.—Major Count Esterhazy, the reputed author of the bordereau which brought about the conviction of Captain Alfred Dreyfus on the charge of treason, was sentenced yesterday by default, on his cousin Christian's charge of swindling, to three years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of fifty francs. He was also ordered to refund the 35 francs claimed by Christian.
We refer our readers to the advertisement of the SELF CULTURE MAGAZINE in this issue. The publishers are offering one thousand dollars in premiums to persons sending in subscriptions. SELF CULTURE is decidedly the leading ten cent monthly, and this offer should be of interest to some of our readers.
