COULDN'T GET THE RIGHT FLOP.—In the year 1843, during the Millerite excitement in the usually quiet town of Durham...

"Oh, brethren and sisters, I'll soon get away from this wicked world, I'm going to meet the Lord in a few days. My faith is powerful strong! Oh, yes, powerful strong it is! So strong," continued the old lady extending her arms...

The minister who was as great an enthusiast on "going up" as the old lady, encouraged her by exclaiming: "Try, sister, try! Perhaps you can fly, if your faith is only strong enough."

"Well, I can," she exclaimed, "I know I can, and I will!" She was standing near a window, which was raised because of the oppressive heat...

She arose, folded her wings, and with great meekness sneaked back into her seat, evidently disappointed. The next evening some of the young folks asked her:

"Aunt Sally, why didn't you fly last night, when you tried so hard?" "I couldn't get the right flop on," was the meek and conclusive reply.

RULES FOR THE PRESENT.—Stop grumbling. Get up two hours earlier in the morning, and begin to do something out of your regular profession.

Give away or sell your dog. Smoke your cigars through an air stove. Eat with moderation. Go to bed early.

A FAGOOT-man, carrying a load, by accident brushed against a doctor. The doctor was very angry, and was going to beat him with his fist.

Agricultural.

TAKING THE ADVANTAGE OF TIME.—Much of a farmer's success depends upon taking advantage of the weather, and the right time to do certain kinds of work.

We need not here allude to haying time, though even here men differ widely in their management. Some men will so contrive it as to have an abundance of hay out if there happens to be a rain storm, while others will seem to be prepared for such an emergency and escape.

We saw a man the other day who had, during the fall months, performed some serious dental operations on the pine stumps which had covered his fields. A flight of snow had fallen, and he took advantage of it and hauled them off for the purpose of making a fence.

No doubt he did it with one-half the expense of leaving them till spring. When a man has large stone to haul to a distance, or his winter's supply of wood, he can, after taking advantage of the first snows, do it at a much cheaper rate than at any other time.

We never think much of a man who goes to work banking up his house during the first storm. It is this vigilant foresight which some men have, by which they succeed so much more easily in accomplishing their purposes, that renders them superior to others.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE.—The temporary cessation of the cattle plague gives no reasonable ground of confidence that it will not reappear, despite every precaution that may be taken.

In England last year the disease was combated by all the means known to medical science, and stringent regulations were everywhere enforced to prevent contagion.

After all, promptly with the return of another year the cattle plague renew its ravages. But it is regarded with less apprehension than before, on account of more favorable indications.

The disease first appeared in England in the summer of 1865, or rather reappeared after an interval of nearly one hundred years. The season had been preceded by a long period of drought, during which animals were often compelled to drink from stagnant pools.

Circumstances now are widely different, the country being covered with luxuriant herbage. Even so, the disease is liable to spread, and efforts to prevent its introduction into this country should not be relaxed, but vigilant and untiring.

It is now time to be getting ready for spring work. It will soon be upon us with all its hurry, and it will be awkward to stop to mend a plough, to fix a hoe handle, or haul up a load of fire-wood.

Paint up and oil over the carts and wagons. Isn't there a missing tooth in that harrow? There's a gate that seems to sag, and a loose board in that fence.

I hope the team is in good working order. Won't those horses bear a little more feed? It won't hurt them to go into the woods; now and then a day's work will fit them for hard labor in Spring.

There's a harness that looks as if it hadn't been cleaned and oiled up for six months. Now is the time to look after these little odds and ends. You know how to find the caterpillar's eggs, I hope.

Just look around the trees near the ends of the small branches, and you'll see little brown braconets of eggs, clustered regularly around the twig. Cut them off and burn them.

Look up against a clear sky, and they are plainly enough to be seen. By the last of April they will be crawling worms, unless you nip them in the bud.

Are you going to lay down any of the lots? Now is a good time to look after good seed and have it ready.

Mrs. S. A. Allen's PREPARATIONS FOR THE HAIR,

Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer

is suited to both young and old. It strengthens the Hair, prevents its falling or turning grey, and imparts to it a beautiful glossy appearance. It never fails to RESTORE GREY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL YOUTHFUL COLOR.

IT IS NOT A DYE, but acts directly upon the roots of the Hair, giving them the natural nourishment required, producing the same vitality and luxuriant quantity as in youth. It will restore it on bald places, requires no previous preparation of the hair, and is easily applied by one's self. One bottle will usually last for a year, as after the hair is once restored, occasional applications once in three months will insure against grey hairs to the most advanced age.

The Restorer Reproduces and the Hair Dressing Cultivates and Beautifies. Principal Sales Office, 138 Greenwich Street, New York City. August 1, 1867.

Mrs. S. A. Allen's PREPARATIONS FOR THE HAIR,

Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Dressing, or ZYLOBALSAMUM, is essential to use with the Restorer, but the Hair Dressing alone often restores, and never fails to invigorate, beautify and refresh the Hair, rendering it soft, silky and glossy, and disposing it to remain in any desired position.

FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN, whose hair requires frequent dressing, it has no equal. No lady's toilet is complete without it. The rich glossy appearance imparted is truly wonderful. It cleanses the Hair, removes all dandruff, and imparts to it a most delightful fragrance. It will prevent the Hair from falling out, and is the most economical and valuable Hair Dressing known. Millions of bottles sold every year.

The Restorer Reproduces and the Hair Dressing Cultivates and Beautifies. Principal Sales Office, 138 Greenwich Street, New York City. August 1, 1867.

Just in Time FOR THE SPRING TRADE!

The Subscriber has opened a Tailoring Establishment!

in Mr. H. J. Richardson's Old Stand, which he trusts will be the real fashionable one of Summerville. If an accurate fit, a stylish cut, and superior workmanship can ensure custom, he flatters himself he shall not be without patronage from the city and discerning. Every trade requires patrons, and none more so than the art of cutting and making up a garment to fit every variety of the human form; but some people seem to imagine that it requires no more judgment to cut a coat than to hew a log—an erroneous idea, the effects of which are seen in the tasteless and ill-fitting garments we every day behold in the streets. There is no earthly reason to prevent us Provincialists from being as elegantly and fashionably dressed as the Americans, and the subscriber will use his best endeavors to reach a "consummation so devoutly to be wished."
