Winter Communication.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—On looking over some papers a few days ago, I find that in the year 1869 the schooner "Ida," Captain Duncan McRae, loaded herring at Boone Bay. The vessel and cargo were owned by Edward Leahy, Esq., merchant, Halifax. It being late in the fall when she arrived in the Gut of Canso for orders, she was ordered to Souris by her owner. She left Canso on the 28th of February, 1870, and arrived in Souris on the 2nd of March when she entered cargo in the Custom House.

There is no harbor north of the Straits of Canso in the Dominion of Canada that can boast of having open water the whole year, save and except the Harbor of Souris, which is now open and where sailing vessels are known to enter and clear during every month in the year. Would it not be better for the Dominion Government and for the Island generally if the "Northern Light," or any boat they may be pleased to put on the route, run from Souris to Cape George, where she would have open water; and in all probability, could make successful trips during the winter, more regularly than she has hitherto done, and thus give us continuous communication with the Mainland, as provided in the terms of Confederation. It does not matter from what points she runs,—so long as she meets the daily trains on both sides of the Gulf.

I notice in the examination of Capt. Irving, before the Prince Edward Island Communication Committee, in Ottawa on the 21st., he stated that he believed that the route between Souris and Cape George, would be the better route for the "Northern Light" than between Georgetown and Pictou. The distance from Pictou to Georgetown, and from Cape George to Souris is about the same. The tide coming north through Canso has a tendency to loosen the ice; this with the prevailing westerly winds leaves the Gulf quite navigable during the closed months of winter as the ice is driven around Cape North. There was no ice off Souris that a sailing vessel could not go through during the past month. After the "Northern Light" had been laid up last January, the S. S. "Valetta" cleared from Souris, and a small schooner entered from Canso. The S. S. "Valetta" is an ordinary steam boat not built to go through ice as the "Northern Light" was. The "Northern Light" put into Georgetown on the on the 4th of January last, and after great expense was cut out last Monday—when sailing vessels could leave Souris without any difficulty. It is nothing unusual for sailing vessels to clear with valuable cargoes in March and April. I have had the opinion from time to time of sea captains—men of practical experience—that Souris is the best point on the Island for late and early navigation, and the most likely to remain open in moderate winters.

From the above facts I am convinced that the best points from which a boat can run in the winter season, are Souris and Cape George.

Yours truly,
LAWRENCE KICKHAM.

Charlottetown, March 29th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—I see the Little Harbor Bridge was let by contract to a company a few months ago; that they are not at work, and that there has been a man sent there to look after the said contractors. As there were other tenderers for the said Bridge who did not get the contract, they and the public are anxious that it will not be slighted like the former one. It is thought by parties that there was not a body of small light bulky brush to be allowed therein, but the brush timber to be such a size. I am credibly informed that all kinds are put therein, and further that the timber is put there instead of spruce or hemlock. It is reported that the commissioner gave them leave after they got contract to do so. If the commissioner did not do so it is a great injustice to blame him for so doing, and it is an injustice to the parties that tendered as that is cheaper and easier got and not so durable. So it is to be hoped that it will not be like the job that was done in a Bridge on Munn's Road a year or so ago, which to-day stands a disgrace to the contractors and the man that looked after it, for to day it is scarcely as good as the one that was torn down. So we wish these suggestions to be answered for the benefit of the public and for justice to the commissioner.

Yours for the present,
FAIRPLAY.

Notes from Dundas.

The Commodore is as sulky as ever.

Mud-hauling was carried on extensively here this winter.

There is no Presbyterian Pastor settled here at present.

A fellow travelled around the Cross Roads here with "black ducks" recently.

There is a prospect of an early spring here as the harbingers of sping are making their appearance.

Prospects of good times here the coming spring and summer are bright, notwithstanding the Grit cry of poverty.

The Grits were beginning to get jubilant here because it was reported that Dr. Robertson had obtained his seat in the Commons.

John McDougall, Esq., M. P. P. is building a large brig at the head of Grand River, and E. Vickerson, Esq., is building another, which caused a considerable amount of traffic here this winter.—COM.

Temperance Meeting at New Argyle, Lot 65.

A large public temperance meeting was held under the auspices of New Argyle Division S. of T. on Monday evening, 19th March, in New Argyle schoolhouse.

John McSween, Esq., P. W. P., occupied the chair, who, in a few appropriate remarks, stated the object of the meeting. Short and pointed addresses were delivered by Messrs. Jas. McKinnon, Jas. McLean, David Crosby, and Donald McNeill.

Readings and recitations were well rendered by Misses Flora E. McPhee, Christy Darrach, Margaret McDougall and Mary Livingstone. Singing by Messrs. N. A. McNeill, John Campbell, and Alexander McLean. Where all did so well, it is not judicious to particularize. Mr. McSween's conduct in the Chair was such as to elicit a vote of thanks from the meeting to which he replied suitably.

Western Items.

(From the Summerside Journal.)

Large quantities of potatoes are being daily brought into market. All that are in good condition meet with ready sale.

A Farmers' Club has been started near McDougall's Lot 14. The officers elected at the first meeting were Alex. McInnis, President, and James McDougall, Sec'y-Treas.

The Oddfellows of this town are making elaborate preparations for the celebration of their Natal day on the 26th inst. Some of the best talent on the Island will take part in the Concert.

Mr. J. W. McLeod, agent at this place for the Queen Insurance Company, handed Mr. P. A. Connors a check the other day for $1,000 as payment in full for policy of insurance for that amount on his property, which was destroyed by fire about 1st February last.

A case of violation of the Scott Act was heard before Stipendiary Howe, on Friday last. The defendant was found guilty and fined $100 for second offence. On Tuesday another case was tried and dismissed, on account of their being insufficient evidence to convict the defendant.

Rev. Clements Richardson, Rev. T. S. Richey's successor, in this parish, entered upon his duties here last week, and officiated for the first time at St. Mary's church here and St. John's church, St. Eleanor's, on Sunday last. Mr. Richardson is a graduate from that well known institution of learning, Trinity College, Dublin. Those who heard him for the first time are very much pleased with him.

As the birth at Broadview, Northwest, recorded in our regular column is the first occurrence of the kind which has taken place in that town, the babe has been presented with a $20.00 baby carriage by the citizens of that town. It is the custom, we understand, for the Canada Pacific Railway Company to give the first born in every town along their line, the deed of a town lot, and we are glad to say that Mr. and Mrs. Clarke's babe will not be an exception to the rule.

The tree peddlars are doing this country again. Many people make a great mistake by ordering large quantities of different kinds of plants, trees, &c., that are no way suited to this climate, but look very well on paper, especially when a glib-tongued agent is talking them up. We would advise those about to purchase to be sure of what they are going to get before they obligate themselves to take anything from a concern that sends one man to take orders to deliver the goods. Our atlas experience should be a lesson to us.

Malcolm McNeill, a young man in the employ of Messrs. Doull Bros. while practising with a gun the other day, met with a very severe accident. The gun was a very old and badly rusted one, and it seems there was not sufficient care taken in loading. On being fired, it burst about six inches from the breach, and tore the first finger of the young man so badly that he immediately went to Dr. McKay and had it amputated at the knuckle joint. Pieces of the gun were found as much as fifty yards from where it was fired.

Mr. Hector Campbell of Cape Traverse was so seriously injured near the station yesterday afternoon that his life was for some time despaired of. The accident, as we understand it, occurred as follows: On crossing the railway track near the station, his horse took fright at the engines,—which are so much dreaded by all who drive horses—and attempted to run, but was checked and taken by the head and led until nearly opposite Mr. Grady's house, where he made a sudden lunge, at the same time lifting Mr. Campbell into the air and throwing him violently to the ground, where his head came in contact with some hard substance inflicting a veay severe wound on the front and top of the head—so severe, in fact, that Dr. Jarvis, the attending physician, gave as his opinion that it was an exceedingly dangerous wound, and may effect Mr. Campbell's reason. Something should be done, without delay, to prevent such serious accidents from occurring. If our suggestion of a few weeks ago—to open Fitzroy Street through to the road—were acted upon, the trouble would be overcome to a great extent.

A German nobleman had two sons, who were reported to be rather fast boys. One of them was a clerk in a bank, and the other was an officer of the army. "How are your sons coming on?" asked a friend. "Bad enough! The one in the bank, who ought to be drawing drafts, spends all his time in hunting; and the one in the army, who ought to be busy shooting, is always drawing drafts on me for money."—Texas Tiftings.
