ELLEN'S DIARY

Season's First Pumpkin, For Pies Or Halloween?

A still day this was softly beclouded. And October's first, with of course the promise of many "bright blue" days to follow—to speed the course of the potato-pickin', and the harvesting of roots, so to have all crops sheltered if possible when the Halloween-witches sweep with their brooms their eerie airways.

"And what's this?" Alex, our one man of the place by day this week questioned, pausing on our way for the mail this morning, having discovered treasure. The pup accompanied us, and the black cat also padded companionably beside.

What intriguing sights stop our steps! From the orchard, where an old-tree now gilds its russets, a momma-pig may hail and halt the procession. Cows in the meadow below lift heads a moment from their grazing to regard our passing. Mack's heifer we must greet. And always we must admire the company of calves—those of the varied hues which declare mixed blood-lines and the one color of the stalwart little younglings of the smallest registered band—and they "so cute"—it pleases our farmers to keep.

"A pumpkin" we said. "Child of a wandering vine, it was caught half-hidden by shrubbery on the garden-fence of wire. A pretty sight too, the dark green of it touched now here and there with the gold of the ripening."

"A pumpkin! For pies!" he nodded touching it with a young finger.

"For Halloween" we said with a chuckle to the cat who waited we fancied with a ghost of a pleased grin beside.

How quiet the early morning had been. Only one shot of the first day of hunting broke for a moment the stillness.

"Times have changed" the younger farmer offered with a chuckle. "Not many duck-hunters to the fore this morning! That's the only shot I've heard. No pickings now that the poof's down. And it's just as well. I used to have a dread of today. It was hardly safe for humans or animals to be abroad! A gun is all right in the hands of a careful man, but—well, look at the accidents the hunting seasons in our Maritimes bring! Excited they get and careless. But I'd say we can go to our work in peace and quiet today."

MR. AND MRS. ALEXANDER ANTHONY BURKE
Pretty Wedding Solemnized At St. Dunstan's Basilica

St. Dunstan's Basilica was the scene of a lovely wedding recently, when Reverend Father Hamill united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony, Sara Beatrice MacInnis, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J.B. MacInnis of St. Peter's Bay, and Alexander Anthony Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred B. Burke of Charlottetown.

The sanctuary was beautifully decorated with vigil lights and bouquets of mixed flowers. The guest pews were marked with pink and green bows. Mrs. Joseph Dougan accompanied Mr. Frank MacIntyre who rendered appropriate hymns during the nuptial mass and the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Earl MacKenna and looked charming in a ballerina length gown of flowered lace over taffeta with matching headdress trimmed with sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and carnations.

The bride's attendants were her cousin, Bernadette MacKenna as maid of honor and Sara MacKenna and Mrs. Hubert Gallant of St. Peter's were bridesmaids. They were gowned alike in nylon over taffeta, their dresses were blue, yellow and coral with matching accessories. The flower girl, little Miss Helen Burke, a niece of the groom, looked winsome in a dress of pink organza with matching accessories. She carried a basket of pink and white carnations.

Following the ceremony the wedding group proceeded to St. Pius 10th Hall where they were met once again by the skirt of the pipes and were piped from the wedding car to the head table. There were approximately 200 guests at the reception. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake. Rev. George MacDonald proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom fittingly responded. The best man proposed a toast to the bride's attendants. Mr. Daniel Birt, friend of the groom, was master of ceremonies. A telegram of best wishes and congratulations was received from Mrs. Hazel Johnson of Nova Scotia.
