SHAKE!

Shake! cries a voice from the mountain; Shake! shout a voice from the sea; Shake! let the hands of brothers meet over the Boundary Line.

Hands that as hands of children clasped around a Mother's knee, That old love they look back to, That country over the sea.

Hands that as hands of workers Have twisted the world to their will, Have caught the Angel of Thunder, And set him to drive a drill.

The Wealth of the World in their pocket, The Trade of the World in their hands, Their ships can unloose it, or lock it, The Powers may grumble—who cares?

Shake! let the hand of England Go out to the hand of the States; Let the hands which rule the nations Meet in one grip—as mates.

Why should we stand asunder, Shake! of one speech, one birth? Why! and Gold only under— Be absolute Lords of the Earth.

KENSINGTONS FAREWELL TO MR LANDRIGAN.

The school children and people of Kensington assembled at Taylor's Hall on the evening of the 5th inst., to bid farewell to James Landrigan, former principal of the high school at that place, now principal of Queen Square school. An address was presented by the pupils of Mr. Landrigan's department, accompanied by a wreath of oak and laurel. An address was also presented by the people of Kensington accompanied by a tangible expression of their regard. Mr. Landrigan's former pupils came from Charlottetown to be present to give a genuine college reception to the former teacher. The enthusiasm prevailing and the cheers given to the principal of the Queen Square school proved the high appreciation of Mr. Landrigan and his work in Kensington. Mrs. Landrigan and the boys were also remembered.

A LUCKY ESCAPE.

Sir,—There was lately very nearly a fatal accident to report from Cape Traverse, as the boats coming from Cape Tormentine were launching off the ice into the water, one of them, an inexperienced coxswain, shoved his boat into the water leaving two of his men on the ice. One of them, Cornelius Bell, held on to the quarter of the boat, and it pulled him into the water. He fell on his back and went down. Instead of the men pulling the boat back to him they threw their oars for him to catch. When he came up he was managed to turn over, and the man on the ice, George Trenholm, laid down on the ice and just as he was going down again Trenholm caught his hand and saved him. It had not been for the presence of mind and smartness of Mr. Trenholm he would have been drowned. He was not much the worse of his slip. He shook himself, and said "it was not to be, or he would have been drowned."

The men in charge of these boats should be competent men. With such men in charge as George Trenholm and Cornelius Bell there would be no accidents to report. If there is no change, we shall probably have another accident to report before the spring.

Cape Traverse, Feb. 5.

GRAND BALL AT WINTER RIVER.

On Friday evening last a large number of people assembled at the residence of Mr. Daniel Reedy, to partake of the most popular of all entertainments, the dance.

Long before the evening had sent his welcome shadows over hill and valley, teams bearing the best and most beautiful that our county affords were leaving Charlottetown, Miramichi, Conception Bay and other places; and the cheerful tinkling of bells, mingled with merry laughter, formed no small part of the pleasure of those who helped to make the ball at Winter River a success. The music being furnished by local talent, was the best we have heard for some time, and this together with the gay dresses and smiling faces of the ladies and the sound of many feet in perfect harmony, made a scene well calculated to drive dull care away.

Supper was served about midnight, and around the table sat some of the most prominent men of our country with men of education, and students with promising talents. With these sat farmers whose calling is not less noble, and who are not less refined than those who sat with them. Each of these was accompanied by a lady, and as Mr. Reedy has always been very popular here, and his generosity in giving to each and every one of his neighbors and friends an evening of pleasure not soon to be forgotten, adds in no small degree to the esteem in which he is held.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

EX-PRINCIPAL CULLEN HEARD FROM

Sir,—It is characteristic of Mr. Thomas B. Cullen that he could not attempt a justification of his extraordinary conduct in leaving Queen Square School as he did, without intimating how superior he is as a teacher to some others, in this case to myself. It is not unusual for some people to endeavor to praise themselves by depreciating others. He had an exceptional opportunity to show good work for he had a number of the boys of his class which vice principal under his charge for three years, while he gave very little aid in the general administration of the school as a vice-principal is expected to give and do give in every other school.

I am well aware that Mr. Cullen had taken special care to make it known what he could do for he was principal of the school. He had the opportunity to show whether he could do better work than others and he failed to avail himself of it, though he had the opportunity to do so. He might receive by an increase of salary during the remainder of the school year? I would rather believe that Mr. Cullen found himself in a position different from what he imagined. He had a class which was in a more efficient state than any class in that department had been for many years, without a symptom of disorder or insubordination. Now it is the school's business to make it known.

Feb 6th '97. JOHN MACGIVIN.

AN AGGRIEVED PARENT SPEAKS.

Sir,—Kindly permit me, through the medium of your columns, to enter a solemn protest, on behalf of myself and other parents whose children are attending the Queen Square School, against the unjust and injudicious course pursued by the School Board in causing the resignation of Principal Cullen and appointing a stranger to the important position he occupied.

Mr. Cullen has fully proved himself to be an excellent teacher. He brought on the school's committee to his charge far more rapidly than did any of his predecessors, leaders which he had won for himself the confidence, respect and love of the pupils under his care, thereby greatly enhancing both his value and proficiency as a teacher.

He was doing far more personal work than any of his predecessors, and he was only asked the Board for what was just and fair, namely, that he should receive a salary equal to that formerly given to his predecessor.

The Board could find no fault with the manner in which Mr. Cullen had discharged his duties, but as they
