Resolution Withdrawn Discussion centred on a resolution calling for India's good offices to try to end the Korean truce deadlock, condemning the bombing of the Yalu River power plants...

It was withdrawn and referred back to the executive committee after James Griffiths, colonial secretary in the Attlee Government, said there was danger that it would be torn from its context and used to misrepresent the views of British socialists.

Before discussion was abandoned many socialists said their piece. Bevan's views on the United States, from which he seeks "independence," constantly cropped up.

Denis Healey, member of Parliament and formerly the party's international secretary, attacked the Bevan group for criticizing the U. S. while insisting they wanted friendship with her.

"Bevan is the best way to win friends and influence people is to kick them in the teeth," Healey said. "Even in the country of Humphrey Bogart and James Cagney they don't understand that kind of love-making."

Gallant - Gallant Wedding On the beautiful autumn morning of September 23 at 7.30 a.m., the bride and groom were joined in the first marriage ceremony to take place at the Roman Catholic Church of St. Mary's of the People, Hunter's River.

The church was beautifully decorated with mixed flowers for the occasion. Rev. Clarence Pitre, pastor performed the marriage ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass, uniting in marriage Mary Eliza Theresa, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gallant, Hunter's River, and John Arthur Gallant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallant of Hope River.

To the strains of the wedding march played by the organist, Mrs. Gerald Proctor, the bride entered the church, given in marriage by her father. She was a picture of loveliness in her floor-length gown of white satin and lace, with fitted bodice and lace yoke trimmed with seed pearls, and the long sleeves tapering to points over her hands.

The skirt was full with lace panels. Her floor-length veil was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She wore a corsage of blush pink roses and carried a white prayer book, the gift of the groom.

Miss Bernadette Gallant, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a floor-length gown of blue shot taffeta and blue veil held in place by a wreath of matching flowers. She also wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Vincent Gallant, brother of the groom, was groomsmen. The mother of the bride was attired in navy crepe dress with navy and white trim, and a corsage of deep pink roses. The mother of the groom chose a navy two-piece dress and wore a corsage of pale pink roses.

During the Nuptial Mass Miss Louise Dolron, soloist, sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," while the choir of brothers, sister and cousins of the bride, sang "Jesus Thou Art Coming", at Communion, followed by "Hail Queen of Heaven".

Following the marriage ceremony a delicious wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride to the immediate families. The table was beautiful, centered with a two-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature "Holy Marriage Ceremony" flanked with tall vases of mixed flowers.

Rev. Clarence Pitre proposed the toast to the bride, which was fittingly responded to by the groom. Later in the day the wedding party motored to Charlottetown, having dinner at the Queen Hotel.

The party returned to the home of the bride in the evening, where a sumptuous wedding supper was in readiness. The wedding cake was cut in traditional manner by the bride and groom. Supper was served to approximately two hundred guests, while the dancing platformed dancers was a scene of gaiety with many enjoying themselves in square dancing until the wee hours. In parting all extended best wishes to Theresa and Arthur for many years of happiness.

On Wednesday the happy couple left by car on a honeymoon trip to points of interest in New Brunswick. For travelling the bride chose a gabardine suit in the new copper shade with Nile green nylon blouse, brown velvet accessories, and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Club Votes $500 To "Y" Building Fund

The Centennial Y's Men's Club after hearing a report from Ralph Manning, chairman of the finance committee at their first Fall week meeting last night, voted $500 to the Y.M.C.A. building fund.

Mr. Harold Forsythe was elected president for the ensuing year. In his annual report, the retiring president, Mr. George MacDougall, briefly touched on the activities of the year and expressed his appreciation for the splendid support he had received from the various committees.

Mr. Arthur Duvar, Past Maritime District Governor of Y's Men installed the new president and the executive with due ceremony. Following the routine meeting, entertainment was supplied by Mr. Robin Houston and the Prince of Wales College quartette.

Warden Watches Greater Snow Geese For 23rd Year The flock's population was 12,000 in 1936 and now is four times greater. Fewer than 1,500 are killed in Quebec Province each year.

When the birds reach the region, the hunting season is in full swing and hunters have only until Nov. 1 to bag the geese. Each hunter is allowed five birds a day but cannot have more than 10 in his possession at any time.

Mr. Pruneau is one of the oldest game wardens in the province. He worked for a private hunting club and for the provincial and federal governments without salary, during the bird's migration from the Arctic.

The Greater Snow Geese, weighing between six and 10 pounds, make a round-trip each year. Starting from the northwest coast of Greenland or Ellesmere Island—their Arctic habitat remains a secret to everyone—the geese reach St. Joachim after a flight of more than 2,000 miles.

They feed on weeds growing on the St. Lawrence River's rocky shores. When the weeds disappear with cold weather, the geese leave for the warmer climate of Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina. They return to the Arctic in spring, stopping at St. Joachim between early April and the middle of May.

Beautiful white birds with black-tipped wings, the "Grandes Oies Blanches" are often mistaken for the wavy, a smiler cousin living in the Canadian Prairies.

Mr. Pruneau's job is to protect the geese against poachers during the hunting season at the Cap Tourmente Hunting Club, founded in 1908 by Greater Snow Geese Hunters.

The geese are distinguished by their cries, sharp dog-like barks that keep people awake in the St. Joachim region unless they are used to the cacophony.

Combine Efforts For Outstanding Musical Show

Residents of all ages and from every corner of the Village of Parkdale are combining their efforts in an endeavour to make this year's show the best they have ever had.

"Up She Goes" is directed by Mr. H. Barry Bugden and the community has been very fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Royton F. Muford, as accompanist for the production which will be staged this month.

Original costumes have been designed for the dance line and are literally being sewn right on the members of the "Chorettes" by the costume committee under the co-operation of Mrs. Frank Ross. One of these striking costumes was previewed by the chorus on Monday evening and met with wholehearted enthusiasm for its originality and verve.

Packed with numbers which are new and different, it is expected that "Up She Goes" will be a similar success to "On With The Show" which was produced by Mr. Bugden for the Navy some years ago.

Col. Johnstone's 'Wishing Well' Yields $98.00 For Red Cross Well wishers of the Red Cross, many of whom must have been American visitors judging from the coins, augmented the funds of the E.I. Red Cross by $98.00 when they dropped this amount into Col. E. W. Johnstone's "Wishing Well" at his attractive home in Burlington during the past summer. During the summer of 1951 Col. Johnstone's well produced the sum of $20.63 which he decided to donate towards Red Cross activities.

At the beginning of the present summer the Colonel posted a sign on his Wishing Well stating that the donations to it would go to the Red Cross with the above remarkable results. This amount will be a great boost to the 1952 Red Cross campaign which is still far short of its objective of $33,000.

Claims Record Marlin Catch

TALARA, Peru, Oct. 1—(AP)—A world record catch of a 1,135-pound marlin with a rod was claimed today by Kip Farrington, New York author of several books on fishing.

The fish was 14 feet, eight inches long, and had a circumference of six feet at its widest part. Farrington took two hours and 10 minutes to conquer the marlin off Cabo Blanco, near here.

The recognized record for landing a marlin with a rod is credited to Laurie Mitchell. Mitchell caught a 876-pound Pacific black marlin, with a length of 12 feet, eight inches, and a girth of six feet, two inches, in the Bay of Islands, New Zealand, in 1928.
