LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Breeding for Speed.

SIR,—I have read the letters of "Breeder" in THE EXAMINER and "Fair Play" in the Patriot with considerable interest. As these letters have turned principally on the facts involved in the principle to be adhered to in breeding the trotting horse, the discussion is timely and worthy the consideration of all desirous of seeing the Island not behind the rest of the world in so remunerative an industry.

Much of the matter which "Breeder" aims to bring to the notice of the public must go for nothing, as his own individual experience cannot stand the test now required by all intelligent and advanced breeders of the trotting horse.

Wallace's Year Book is the authority, and the very one which speaks correctly on this point, and from it can be found the record, number of heats trotted in 2:30 or better, where and when such performance was made by every horse in America living or dead. It also gives the name of every stallion which has produced a trotter or pacer in 2:30 or better, and all other information respecting the trotting horse sought after by breeders of the advanced type.

A table appeared in Wallace's Monthly a few months ago, compiled from the Year Book of 1889 (the latest volume at that time.) This table I will now submit for the perusal of those not readers of the Monthly, with first a quotation from an article with it, written by the compiler:

"Gentlemen breeders, has not your attention been drawn to the fact that the 27 fastest trotters yet produced, as evidenced by public tests, were by sires with records as low as 2:30, or were begotten by their sires before their own best records were made—with the single exception of Harry Wilkes, a son of that exceptional horse, George Wilkes, 519, and even he is a twelfth removed from the front. That the accuracy of this statement may be conveniently tested, the following is a list of the animals referred to:—

Mand S.	2:08
Jay Eye See.	2:10
Sunol.	2:12
Guy.	2:10
St. Julien.	2:12
Axtell.	2:12
Stamboul.	2:12
Palo Alto.	2:12
Belle Hamlin.	2:12
Rarus.	2:12
Maxie Cobb.	2:12
Harry Wilkes.	2:13
Bonnie McGregor.	2:13
Phalias.	2:13
Goldsmith Maid.	2:14
Clingson.	2:14
Trinket.	2:14
Alberton.	2:14
Patron.	2:14
Rosaline Wilkes.	2:14
Prince Wilkes.	2:14
Hopeful.	2:14
Lulu.	2:14
Favonia.	2:15
Majolica.	2:15
Jack.	2:15
Arab.	2:15

These are all the 2:15 or better animals to the close of 1889; these, or still better ones, are the kind that every ambitious breeder is striving to produce. How about the dams of these twenty-seven 2:15 or better trotters? Not one of them has a record as low as 2:30—if any of them has any record. Of the dams of the 300 trotters, with records in 2:20 or better, but five have records as low as 2:30.

I will now give you a quotation from Dr. Babcock, in the Kentucky Stock Farm last September, in which he tabulated sixteen of the fastest trotting sires the world has ever produced:

Name.	Foaled in	Record.	List.
Maxie Cobb	1875	2:13	—
Bonnie McGregor	1879	2:13	—
Phalias	1877	2:13	1
Guy Wilkes	1879	2:13	4
Smuggler	1866	2:13	6
Jerome Turner	1879	2:13	—
Axtell	1875	2:13	—
Jerome Eddy	1877	2:13	—
Director	1872	2:17	3
Black Cloud	1871	2:17	1
Piedmont	1871	2:17	7
Robert McGregor	1871	2:17	8
Santa Claus	1874	2:17	2
Duquesne	1875	2:17	—
Hannis	1873	2:17	2
Glen Miller	1876	2:18	—

We have here sixteen of the fastest trotting sires the world has produced. They have had good stud advantages for the most part. They are aged from 11 to 26 years. They have produced just thirty-six 2:30 horses to the close of 1889, an average of 2:19 2:30 horses for each sire. This is the full record. A fast stallion may sire fast trotters, but the record above shows they are not likely to; still every body shouts himself hoarse proclaiming the same old war cry, "breed to developed sires." We have, it is true, some grand instances of prepotency in speed-developed stallions—namely George Wilkes, 2:22, Nutwood, 2:18, and Onward, 2:20. It would, indeed, be strange if, from the long list of fast stallions, we did not find a few great sires. The fact is, shrewd breeders pay more attention to breeding than to speed or to other individual points. What put Lord Russell's fee up to $300 the season, as it should. C. I. Hamlin bought Mambino King on his pedigree; he had no speed. Time has fully proved the wisdom of Mr. Hamlin's choice. Dictator could not trot; yet he got 25 trotters from 2:11 to 2:30, and he is living to tell of it. Egbert was patronized by shrewd breeders on his breeding alone—he had no speed. Yet he got 25 2:30 trotters before he was 15 years old—two-thirds as many as all the trotting stallions with fast records from 2:13 to 2:18 combined have produced. It looks as if breeders would better keep away from these fast fellows until they show by produce in the list that the process of speed development has not materially lessened the speed characteristics of the propagating seed germ. Princes could not trot; yet Mr. Veech pinned his faith to him for his breeding. This sire has had 20 years of age, 92 horses from 2:14 to 2:30 to his credit, and only George Wilkes, Onward and Nutwood of all the speed developed sires have exceeded him in the number of 2:30 horses, and in extreme speed siring he outranks all speed developed sires except George Wilkes; and further, and better, he has more producing sons and daughters than any stallion at his age, living or dead.

Those in our midst who want a stallion race to test the prospective siring qualities of the different stallions in the stud on the Island ought to see that their test, if sound, would condemn as worthless, the greatest breeding sire of his age, living or dead had not the record of his remarkable achievements and of others like him proved the utter fallacy of the theory and as not a reliable guide for our breeders. Readers of first-class horse papers are familiar with the writings of "Aurelius"—(the Rev. T. A. Hendrick of Union Springs, N. Y.) He says: "For my own part I do not value speed in a sire much. I would like to see him go a fast 'brush' in a clean, pure gait, without artificial appliances, but so many great sires have never been trained that I think it is an indifferent matter." The horse, with or without a record, to command patronage, should, as a first requisite, be fashionably bred with a preponderating infusion of Hambletonian blood, crossed on some such strain as the Mambino Chief or something equally as good and tried.

Political Meeting at Souris.

The first political meeting in relation to the local election about to take place in the first electoral district of King's, took place in the Souris Agricultural Hall yesterday. The worthy Premier, Hon. Neil McLeod, was present. Although the travelling was almost impossible, the hall was filled with a very representative gathering from all parts of the district. We noticed on the stage, besides the Premier, the two candidates, Messrs. J. G. Sterns and Alexander Robertson, and also John McLean, Esq., M. P., Dominion member-elect, Doctors Muttart and McIntyre, Hon. Thomas Kichham, Frederick Morrow, James R. McLean, M. P. P., and others.

Mr. Dennis Murphy occupied the chair, and at two o'clock explained the object for which the people were assembled, giving the several speakers their allotted time, and called upon J. G. Sterns.

On taking the stand Mr. Sterns entered fully into the political situation and satisfied all present that he would, if elected, make a good representative. He was quite familiar with the local politics of the day and kept the audience in his full sympathy during the whole of the delivery of his first political effort. He made a fine and pleasing impression upon all present.

The opposing candidate, Mr. Robertson, next followed. He seemed in good humor, but very excitable. The sympathy felt for him was that he was making such a mistake as to allow himself to be made the target for such strong ammunition as was directed towards him by the Conservative big guns. Poor Robertson felt his position keenly, and spoke only half the time at his disposal, and while speaking had his back chiefly to the audience. A little practice may possibly show whether he could ever get off a little political speech.

The speech of the day was delivered by the Premier, who next followed, and for about an hour held the assemblage firmly within his grasp. His effort is conceded by parties of both shades of politics to have been the ablest in this line yet delivered at Souris. He reviewed the policy of the Government for the past twelve years and fully satisfied everyone present that the public affairs of this province were quite safe in the hands of the present administration.

James R. McLean, M. P. P., was the next speaker. He did not appear to advantage, seemingly losing the old political vim. Fault-finding was his policy, and in fact it seems to be that of the local as well as Dominion politicians. Himself and another strong pit form what is known here as the "Growler Bros." To summarize, his speech began without a policy and ended without one.

John McLean, Esq., M. P.-elect spoke off-hand for about half an hour. One pleasing feature of his address was that he spoke without reference to notes, kept the audience with him to the end and closed, after a careful review of his own political career, amid the cheers and applause of the assembly.

Hon. Thos. Kichham spoke for a few minutes. After a very labored effort (terribly labored) he left the assembly speculating as to which side of politics he was on. He was paid with the Government for drawing $200, 000 from capital account, but fully explained, after being pressed, why he gave the casting vote in the council, in his place there, on the resolution authorizing the withdrawal of the said amount "Heads I win and tails you lose" again is still the Hon. Thomas' policy in the local.

Dr. Muttart made a stirring speech and dealt some hearty blows to the enemy.

Dr. McIntyre also spoke. His effort was fully anticipated, consisting of abuse principally, in the council, in his place there, on the resolution authorizing the withdrawal of the said amount "Heads I win and tails you lose" again is still the Hon. Thomas' policy in the local.

The Government candidate, from the appearance of the proceedings, will win his election sure. Two to one were evidently in favor of J. G. Sterns.—Com.
