

Major Baseball League Presidents Give Views On Outlook This Year

The following size-up of the 1950 American Baseball League season was written for the Associated Press by League President Will Harridge.

(By Will Harridge, President of the American League)
CHICAGO, April 16—(AP)—The American League's 1950 season—its 10th—should take its place with the great seasons of the past. From 1901, when the league first operated as a major league, we have had many great pennant fights, no fewer than four of them coming in the last six years.

Basing my opinion on fan interest and attendance during the recent spring training period in the south, I believe that this coming season will be equally as successful as those of the 1948 and 1949 campaigns, when a total of 21,880,746 fans turned out.

Last season, when New York Yankees took the pennant on the final day from Boston virtually to match in excitement the 1948 pennant tie between Cleveland and Boston, the league attendance was 10,730,647.

A majority of observers flatly predict a wide-open battle for this 50th American League flag—and I'll go along with them.

Winter deals have strengthened several clubs and I think that the circuit has enough balance to project four or possibly five teams into a close championship race.

It is fitting in this 50th American League season that our league has the opportunity to pay tribute to two men who played parts in the founding and development of our circuit. One is Connie Mack, that grand young man of Philadelphia Athletics, who at 87 celebrates his 50th anniversary as manager of the Athletics.

The other is the president of Washington club, Clark Griffith, who pitched for and managed the first American League pennant winner, the 1901 Chicago White Sox.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

(The following size-up of the 1950 National League baseball season was written for the Associated Press by League President Ford C. Frick.)

(By Ford C. Frick, President of the National League)
NEW YORK, April 16—(AP)—As the National League prepares to start its 75th season, I would like to stray off the beaten track in this pre-season statement.

Annually, it has been my good fortune to be given the opportunity of making a prediction on the kind of baseball we expect.

But before going into that phase of the subject, I would like to take time out to pay a compliment to the club owners in the National League. I am happy to be associated with them because they are the kind of enterprising gentlemen who recognize their obligations and make every effort to meet them.

When I speak of obligations, I refer to those to the fans. The baseball fans in the United States have been the most loyal of sport followers. They have given great support to the game as is evidenced from the tremendous attendances that baseball has enjoyed since the end of the recent war.

Club owners in the National League have not ignored such support and loyalty. In all the years that I have been identified with the league, I never have noticed a more strenuous effort to improve each club as there has been this year.

The efforts of these club owners should surely be reflected in the kind of a race that we expect in the National League this year.

From my own observations, and from those of impartial observers, it is my conclusion that we again will enjoy a season that will be as closely contested as those that we have had in the league during the last few years.

Fort Francis Coach Dismissed

WINNIPEG, April 17—(CP)—Bob Kinnear announced he had been dismissed as coach of Fort Francis Canadians.

Kinnear remained in Winnipeg when Canadians boarded a train today for Calgary Stampede. The team will be headed in the final travel by trainer Joe Balzar.

Kinnear said the "trouble" stemmed from the fact that he signed a contract to coach Waterloo in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A group next season. He had taken three days off to travel to Waterloo to make the deal.

Oslo Will Stage Winter Olympics In City Limits

By Elizabeth Kitson

OSLO, April 17—(Reuters)—Bilet Stadium, site of many international sport events and situated in the heart of Oslo, has been chosen as the main arena for the 1952 winter Olympics. Work soon will start to increase its seating capacity from 28,000 to 40,000.

Construction is expected to start shortly on new hotels to accommodate the anticipated influx of visitors. One of these hotels, to be named the Viking, will be reserved for the foreign press. The Viking will be built in the city near the east station.

Other planned construction includes erection of Norway's first bob-run, building of an artificial rink in the Jordal Stadium in Oslo, and improvements on the world-famous ski-jumping hill at Holmenkollen.

All the events, except the downhill ski race, will be within easy reach of the city's centre.

The Olympic slalom hill course, also situated in the city, has a length of 422.5 metres with a drop of 169 metres. It has been used for a number of international slalom contests and is considered very difficult.

The start is 479 metres above sea level and the finish about 310 metres. There is ample room for spectators. Plans allow for up to 20,000 and a ski-lift has been ordered which should be completed by fall of this year.

One of the most difficult tasks facing the Norwegian Olympic Committee was the construction of the bob-run. Bobsledding is quite a new sport to Norwegians, and experts from Switzerland have been called in to advise on construction.

Swiss Builds Track

Work is now in full swing on the run at Fronsener Hill. A Swiss expert is superintending the building up of the track which will be ready for trials next winter. The track will have a total length of 1,500 metres with a drop of 114 metres, starting at 429 metres above sea level.

The new artificial ice rink, where the hockey events will be held, is to be built on the site of the existing Jordal Stadium, in the east of Oslo. It will hold about 10,000 spectators. Work will start some time this month.

Plans for the new stadium include the erection of a stage on top of the refrigeration building making it possible to use the site in the summer for theatrical performances and concerts.

The downhill ski race is the only event which will take place outside the city boundaries. The course chosen lies in the Krodsherad district about 60 miles north-west of Oslo. This is a difficult and well-known course used every year during the Holmenkollen ski races.

With the start 900 metres above sea level and the finish at 150 metres, the course has a drop of 750 metres and a total length of 2,355 metres. The start lies well above the tree-line, but about four-fifths of the course lies through forest.

For the games, the course is to be widened and a new women's downhill course constructed. A new bridge will be built across the narrow Lake Kroderen. Fjeldhøll hotel, situated close to the course just at the tree-line, is to be enlarged and a new approach road built. There is also to be a new tourist lodge with 100 beds, and a new first-class hotel to accommodate 150 guests.

A special telecommunication building is to be put up near the finishing line to house 12 broadcasting transmitters, switchboards for telephone and telegraph, and offices for officials.

Where does the money go?

At times most of us have looked at purse, wallet or bankbook, and wondered: "Where does the money go?"

You may have wondered, too, where does our money go—the money we receive for gasoline, fuel oil, lubricants and other products we sell. Well, last year each dollar we received went this way:

CRUDE OIL and other raw materials took more than half of each dollar.

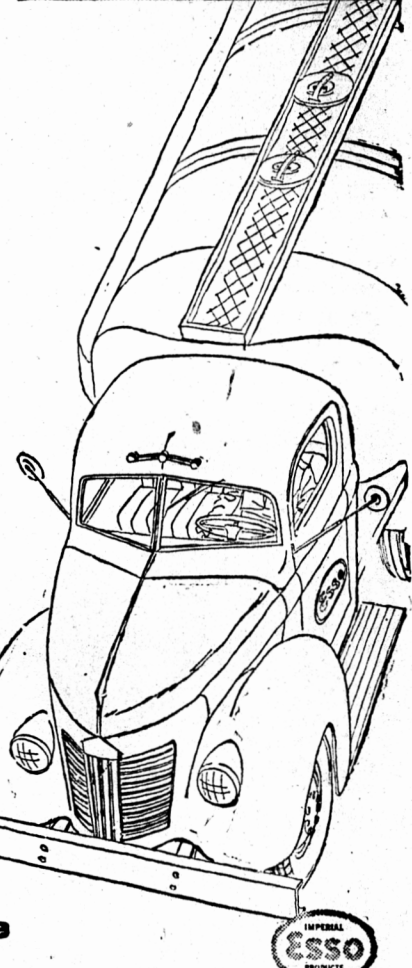

MANUFACTURING AND PACKAGING took more than 11 cents. Costly equipment and skilled workers were needed to make the 640 products we supplied for thousands of uses.

TRANSPORTATION took the next big bite of the dollar. Products moved over wide areas to serve every community in Canada. During 1949 we paid more than $34 millions for railway freight alone.

MARKETING was next. Marketing brought you the products you needed when and where you needed them... power, heat and lubricants for factory, home and farm. Marketing supplied your neighborhood dealer, that independent businessman, so that he could serve you conveniently and dependably.

TAXES to provincial and federal governments took 7.53 cents. And this did not include gasoline tax, which—depending on where you live—took from 21 to 33 cents out of every dollar you spent for standard grade gasoline.

PROFIT was 3.89 cents out of each sales dollar. Of this 2.25 cents went to shareholders as dividends. The rest—along with money we borrowed and obtained by sales of investments—was put back into the business to replace worn out equipment, to provide new equipment and make sure that we can continue to supply your needs in the future.

Bringing you oil is a big job ... and a costly one
