AN ECCENTRIC DOCTOR.

The Czar's Physician is Somewhat of a Crank.

Prof. Zakharin of Moscow, who attended the Czar during his recent serious illness, is almost as well known in Russia for his eccentricities as for his eminence as a physician. When he is called to attend to a patient, special arrangements must be made in the house; all dogs must be kept out of the way; all clocks must be stopped; all doors must be thrown wide open.

The Professor on entering begins a process of gradual undressing, leaving his furs in the hall, his overcoat in the next room, his goloshes in the next room, etc. He insists on perfect silence on the part of the afflicted relatives, except in reply to his questions, when their speech must be literally "yea" and "nay." He has a theory which he expresses in the maxim, "Take a rest before you are tired," and, accordingly, he sits down every eight or ten steps. His demeanor towards doctors with whom he happens to be unacquainted makes him greatly feared by them, and some eight years ago a kind of public agitation was gotten up in opposition to him, in which many hundreds of doctors took part.

Resolutions were passed and addresses were presented, and echoes of the gathering storm made themselves heard in the press. These manifestations of feelings were speedily supressed in a way characteristic of Russia. The then Governor-General of Moscow, Prince Dolgorukoff, sent for the editor of the Medical Journal in which the addresses were printed and told him that if he published a word more about Zakharin he would have to leave Moscow in twenty-four hours' time.

His eccentricities, however, cease at the bedside of his patient; there he is courteous and considerate, most painstaking and minute in his examinations, and very thorough in his treatment. So successful has he been in his profession that he is believed to be worth some half million sterling.—British Medical Journal.

Little Savings in the Kitchen.

If crackers are stale or moist, sprinkle slightly with salt, and heat in a moderate oven.

Dry the leaves and left-over stalks of celery, and keep them in a self-sealing glass fruit jar, to flavor soups with.

Don't pay five cents more for flour in a cloth sack, when you can buy more and better cloth for the same amount of money.

Don't throw away a lamp wick as soon as it is short, but wash it, baste a strip of white muslin to the lower end and use it a week or two longer.

If hard soap is taken from its wrappings and stood edgewise on a shelf in a warm room, or put in a bag and hung behind the kitchen range for a few weeks, it will last decidedly longer than otherwise.

Every ounce of suet, fat, cold meat and bones should be saved and utilized for making croquettes, hash soup, drippings, or soap grease. Break the bones before stewing them for soup, so that the marrow may escape.

A teaspoonful of molasses or soft soap, added to a saucer of blacking, which has been wet with vinegar, makes a first-rate stove polish, and the stub of an old broom does better and quicker work than an ordinary blacking brush.

The syrup left from sweet pickles or canned fruit, should be kept and added to mince-meat. The syrup from pickles needs no further preparation but that from fruit should be scalded, and put in a glass fruit jar. Several kinds can be mixed together.

A "Bed Day" for Tired Ones.

It is told of Phœbe Cary, who was a remarkably sunshiny and loving woman, that whenever she used to feel "out of sorts," she would shut herself up in her room for rest until the serenity of soul was restored. She was wise enough to discern the physiological side of amiability and govern herself accordingly. A mother of two restless children acts upon the same principle by insisting upon an occasional "bed day." She has observed that "crossness" with them is invariably the result of too much activity; that nervous force is expended faster than muscular strength is generated, and tries to restore the balance in the manner named.

The children understand that the measure is not a punishment, but enforced solely for sanitary reasons, and are allowed plenty of playthings and quiet games. This mother testifies that the next day her small brood is "bright and chipper as young robins." The experiment for either children or adults is worth trying, especially after the excitement and irregular habits necessarily connected with a holiday season.

Ear Marks of a Musician.

"Musical down to his finger tips," is a common enough expression, but few people realize its true significance, said a musical sharp—who is also somewhat of a flat—the other day. "As a matter of fact," he continued, "a real musician, one to whose soul true harmony appeals with all its beautiful and poetic force, is so susceptible to its effects that it sends the blood to his heart; and his extremities, when such an artist is engaged in a performance of any length, become as cold as frogs. I do not know of a single exception. Did you ever shake hands with Paderewski just after he came from the piano? If you did you must have noticed that his hand was like a lump of ice. The same thing is true of amateurs who have the real artistic temperament, and if such a one hasn't cold hands under such circumstances you can know that he or she has no real musical sentiment. It is an infallible test."—New York Mail and Express.

This Season's Gloves.

The Reynier is the glove of the season. Its popularity is due to the slender appearance which it gives the hand, owing to the arrangement of gussets between the fingers, but not between the thumb and finger. These gloves come in all the dainty shades which combine so well with the coloring of the new dress materials. There are any variety of tans, pearl grays and the new greens.

Perhaps the most chic glove is of pearl kid, stitched with spring tan and fastened with smoked pearl buttons. Pearl gloves stitched in violet or green are also novelties. For everyday wear nothing is more genteel than a tan Reynier glove, stitched in black and fastened with large black buttons.

Not Appreciated in China.

China offers a fine and as yet uncultivated field for the woman's rights movement. In that country, as we all know, the birth of a girl is regarded by a family as a real catastrophe. So somebody, with the interests of the afflicted family at heart, drops the infant into a convenient body of water. So common is this that a large pool in Foochow bears the legend, "Girls must not be drowned in this pond"—a warning which has disheartened many a Chinaman anxious to facilitate his daughter's journey to a better land.

How to Get a Sunlight Picture.

Send 25 "Sunlight soap wrappers (wrappers bearing the words "why does a woman look old sooner than a man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

Mt. Hercules, island of Papua, is the highest in the world, its altitude being 32,786 feet. Mt. Everest, India, was until recently put down as the largest, but it is only 29,002 feet high.

In the Spring

Nearly everybody needs a good medicine. The impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the cold months must be expelled, or when the mild days come, and the effect of bracing air is lost, the body is liable to be overcome by debility or some serious disease. The remarkable success achieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the many words of praise it has received, make it worthy your confidence. We ask you to give this medicine a trial. We are sure it will do you good. Read the testimonials published in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla, all from reliable, grateful people. They tell the story.

Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

AFTER TYPHOID FEVER.

Harvey Neff has Kidney Diserse, which Doctors could not cure—Dodd's Kidney Pills Restored him to Perfect Health.

Port Colborne, April 9—In March, 1893, Harvey H. Neff of this place had a bad attack of typhoid fever. Good nursing and medical attendance brought him round but the attack left him a victim of kidney disease. This the doctors failed to cure, but Dodd's Kidney Pills, the infalliable remedy, did the same good work in this case as in all others and Mr. Neff is well to-day. Dodd's was the first kidney remedy in pill form ever offered the public. Its wonderful curing in all forms of kidney disease has led to the introduction of numerous cheap and worthless imitations. Purchasers, for their own safety, should insist in getting Dodd's Kidney Pills. Sold in large boxes: price fifty cents or six boxes for $2.50. To be had of all dealers.

The Industrial armies in the United States have started stealing trains. An Industrial army under ordinary conditions only threatens the health and property of the communities through which it passes. When it steals and runs trains it endangers lives. Railroad management is too delicate a task to be imperilled in its carrying out by lawless trains operated by lawless men.

A Tale of the Sea.

"While we were in South American waters" said Capt. Brooks, of the bark "Douglas," my second mate went in bathing. He was afterwards seized with violent cramps and vomiting and we feared he would not recover. I gave him a "dose of Dr. Manning's German Remedy, and to our delight it gave him instant relief." "On another occasion," continued the captain "one of my crew had such a lame back that he could not stand up. Two free rubbing with Dr. Manning's German Remedy cured him. I consider it to be invaluable to a shipmaster and would not be without it if obtainable." This valuable remedy is manufactured by the Hawker Medicine Co., St. John, N. B., and is for sale by all druggists and dealers. Price 50 cts.
