WESTERN POWERS

The first step in the plan would be a great inventory, or census, of each country's military strength.

Would Outlaw A-Weapons

This would be followed by cuts in armaments, and ultimately by the outlawing of atomic weapons. Heretofore Russia has balked at the continuing outside inspection which Truman in his speech and the three countries in their U.N. proposal made the basis of their plan.

"Any nation which is not willing to agree to this step, and to carry it out, is not really interested in disarmament," Truman said. He took note, too, of the "gloomy history of our negotiations with the Soviet Union" and said it is true that "we have experienced much bad faith, deceit and broken promises."

Nevertheless the effort must be made because it is "the right thing to do," Truman said. "We cannot permit the history of our times to record that we failed by default." He coupled his proposal with an implied promise that a share of the United States' savings from reduction of the arms burden would be devoted to "peaceful improvement of the lot of peoples."

Warshick-Key Wedding

A pretty fall wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Anglican Church, Summerside on Wednesday afternoon, November 7th, at four o'clock, when Ruby Alice Key, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Key and William Warshick son of Mr. Michael Warshick and the late Mrs. Warshick of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, were united in marriage by the bride's cousin, Rev. L. A. Dignan of Port Hill, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon G. R. Harrison in a double ring ceremony.

The church was attractively decorated with autumn flowers. Mr. Everett Penwarden, organist, was in charge of the wedding music and accompanied the church choir in singing "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" previous to the bridal party entering the church, and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in a floor-length gown of white Duchess slipper satin, with fitted bodice, high lace neckline and long sleeves tapering over the wrists. The bouffant skirt, featured three centre panels of lace inserts from which three tiers of lace extended to the back, forming a bustle effect over the hips which fell gracefully into folds ending in the long train. Her full length veil of French illusion with satin scroll at the ends fell from a crown adorned with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a shower bouquet of Better Time roses. Her only ornament was a rhinestone necklace and earrings, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Richard Rogerson, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore a gown of shell pink moiré taffeta, fashioned similarly to that of the bride's and with headpiece of matching pearl coronet with chapel veil and matching mitts. She carried a bouquet of Queen Elizabeth Yellow roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ruby Warshick of Toronto, sister of the groom and Mrs. George Key, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride. Miss Warshick wore a strapless gown of daffodil yellow taffeta with matching jacket, mitts and corresponding floor-length shoes. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and a corsage of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Key wore a gown in orchid nylon taffeta on the same lines as Miss Warshick's and she carried a bouquet of Perpetual Yellow roses.

Mr. Ross MacKenzie was groomsmen and LAC. Alan Gordot and LAC. Herbert Forrestal were the ushers.

Mrs. Key chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of navy crepe with velvet trim and black and pink accessories. Her corsage was of Briarcliff roses.

Following the ceremony a reception for sixty-five guests was held at Birch Hill Tourist Lodge where the bride's table of six and the groom's table of six were seated. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a wedding bell under an arch.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were the groomsmen and ushers were billfolds.

The happy couple left on a honeymoon trip throughout the Maritimes, the bride travelling in a suit of rust gabardine with green and tan accessories. Her corsage was a mauve orchid. On return they will reside in Summerside where the groom is a member of the R. C. A. F. and the bride a valued employee of the Robert Simpson, Eastern Division, in Summerside.

Prior to her marriage the bride was guest of honor at two miscellaneous showers when she received many lovely gifts. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Robert Buckle of Saskatoon, Miss Ruth Warshick of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Artz and son, Douglas, Mrs. Dorothy Artz, Halifax, N.S., Miss Joan Stewart, Miss Gertrude Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. John Mustard, and Mrs. Shirley Murphy of Charlottetown, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Drake of Millville, Mrs. Percy Kinch and Mrs. K. Collins of Alberton, Mrs. L. A. Dignan, Port Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar MacArthur of Charlottetown. — S.

of non-rationed items was designed to wipe out about one-quarter of the food now brought into the country by private traders—the government buys the staple necessities.

He also said the war-born rationing system would have to remain and there was the possibility that some rations would be reduced.

The Chancellor said the ban on new building would not reach the housing program—Chancellor promised 300,000 houses a year. But no other buildings outside of new homes and rearmament factories will be built for the next three months.

Prince County Hospital Ladies Aid Meeting

Mrs. Heath Strong presided over the November meeting of the Ladies Aid of the Prince County Hospital on Wednesday afternoon in the board room with twenty-one members present.

The treasurer's report was gratifying. It was decided to sell two hundred dime cards to the Stewart Memorial Hospital. A request was granted to purchase 18 stainless steel bed pans and a toilet seat for the children's ward will be donated by Mrs. A. H. Hubley.

Regret was expressed at the illness of one of the active members, Mrs. Mark Delaney. It was moved that the collection for the League of Mercy Tea which will be held on November 21st be sent to the Baptist hall on Wednesday morning.

It was decided that the regular buying committee purchase the articles suggested by Miss Schurman, supervisor, with the money being collected.

Mrs. Thane A. Campbell, Mrs. Harry Dye and Mrs. Ray Tanton were welcomed into membership. After the meeting was adjourned tea was served by Miss Schurman.—S.

office where a former incumbent got mad at Americans during the war of 1812, pulled out his sword and mistakenly cut the heads of the Georgian eagles. He apologized later when he found they had nothing to do with the Americans but the heads are still off.

The sea and sailor ran through the theme of the welcoming ceremonies. Premier Angus L. Macdonald, Canada's wartime navy minister, told of the province's inseparable connection with the sea and the navy and how Nova Scotians were especially glad to welcome Philip, for his naval association.

Princess Speaks

Princess Elizabeth replied: "As the daughter of a sailor and the wife of a sailor gives me particular pleasure to come to this province which has played so notable a part in naval history." And she recalled that Nova Scotia had given five admirals to the British Navy.

At the brightly-lighted Grand Parade where Wolfe had drilled his men before Louisburg and Quebec, Mayor Gordon S. Kinley, wearing scarlet robes of office faced with fur and a sash and hat and with a sword bearer in attendance spoke of the city's long association with Royalty.

It was at the grand parade before city hall that she met Earl Bally, Nova Scotia's paralytic artist who paints with his teeth. She went to shake hands and realizing the artist couldn't, she asked him how he could possibly paint. He told her how he worked.

The royal pair returned to the train and the crowd who had waited drenched for their reappearance. Tonight they eat privately at stately Government House with Lieutenant-Governor J. A. D. McCurdy, first man in the Commonwealth to fly an airplane. The hunting season is on and the menu includes partridge, Audrey Farnell, an Amherst choir girl who is a star of the Nova Scotia Opera Association, will sing.

Finalize Plans For Remembrance Day At S'side

At a special meeting held last evening at the Canadian Legion Home, plans were finalized for the Remembrance Day services in Summerside on Sunday.

The parade will fall in at 2:10 p.m. on Fitzroy Street and proceed to Spring Street thence to Memorial Square. After ceremonies there the parade will return to Spring Street thence to Notre Dame Street, west to Summer Street and south on Summer to the saluting base in front of the Armouries where the salute will be taken by Group Captain A. Kenyon, commanding officer R.C.A.F. Station. The parade will carry on to Water Street and break up opposite the Legion Home.

The overall parade will be commanded by Wing Commander H. A. Forbes and the R.C.A.F. Squadron will be under command of S/L E. A. Myles.

Comrade Harry Bishop will command the veterans and those of the First War will be in charge of Comrade R. L. Mollison with Comrade Charles Hogan in charge of veterans of the Second World War. F/L Harry Waugh, D.F.C. will command the R.C.A.F. Wing Association. Air Cadets will be in charge of F/L Murray Shanks. Medals and berets will be worn in the parade.

It was announced at the meeting that Mrs. William Casey has accepted the invitation of the Legion to lay the wreath as the representative mother. Space will be reserved for the children of the schools at the east of the monument.

At the conclusion of the Summerside services the members of the Legion will hold services at Travellers Rest and at St. Eleonore's at five o'clock which will join the comrades in Miscouche for services there in the Miscouche Church.—S.

N. B., where the royal couple has spent the night.

Other Stops

At the first stop at the railway hub of Moncton, N.B., she spoke in English and French. She took the occasion to express her admiration for the country's transportation system.

At Sackville, N.B., in the Tantramar marsh, the royal pair heard Mount Allison students sing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again". A troop of Brownies marched past, gave the eyes right and kept them there despite an order to "front".

They weren't going to miss the Princess and Duke. Twenty miles further at Amherst police had a hard time with a crowd that broke through police lines but order was finally restored. The Princess returned to her car until police got the rope barrier back in place. Then to Truro where she met Nova Scotia's Stephen Leacock—W. B. Foster, originator of the mythical Brown Star Line with his electric-rod power steamers.

Mr. Foster didn't have a chance to give the Royal couple one of his passes on the steamship line which are already held by such notables as Governor-General Alexander and at various Nova Scotia ways stops today. Mounties and the Royal Equerries lifted kids on their shoulders for a better view.

And at each stop there were people from Ecum Secum, Shubenacadie, Murder Point, Shinimac, Whycocomagh, Middle Musquodobbitt and all the other tongue-twisting names that are part of the province's tradition.

Meanwhile officials did some calculating today and figured that the royal couple will have travelled 15,300 miles by the time they reach home. They are on the last leg of the trip.

Tomorrow they do a tour of Halifax in which they'll see naval ceremonial, girl pipers and the famous musical ride of the Halifax Junior Bengal Lancers. At night they leave for Charlottetown, then Sydney, St. John's, Nfld., and home.

Motto of the City of Singapore is "Majulah Singapore," meaning "let Singapore flourish."

Rowe, Bathgate Arrive in Sydney

SYDNEY, N. S., Nov. 7.—(CP)—Ronnie Rowe, a veteran of five years in the ranks of the highest scoring line in the Maritime Major Hockey League last year, arrived today to join Sydney Millionaires.

They came here from the Pacific Coast League. Both are property of the New York Rangers and arrangements to bring them here were made by Rangers Frank Boucher.

the development of a great power and irrigation project on the Saskatchewan River and will give every support to any measures that will assist the Maritime Provinces for as long as the promise of equalization is being considered.

"The danger as I see it, is that the railroads' new schedule of freight rates, in anticipation of equalization, will mean a very large increase in Maritime freight rates." He paid tribute to the work and ability of Maritime representatives in the House of Commons and commended to the Queen's Country representatives Messrs. W. Chester S. McLure and J. Angus MacLean.

The speaker pointed out the manner in which the Federal Government, through the Department of National Defence, and Trade and Commerce, were concentrating defence industry in Ontario and Quebec. He said such concentration was dangerous in the Atomic Age and called for a greater diversification in all parts of the country.

He compared Prince Edward Island and the Prairie Provinces in their dependence on agriculture and asked for a national policy for agricultural products on a parity basis with the Farm Prices Support Act being used to protect the farmers from prices too low to assure the farmer his cost of production.

By-Election Indications Mr. Diefenbaker declared that the outcome of the most recent by-elections in widespread parts of the Dominion have given the Progressive Conservative party "a renewed feeling of confidence and a restoration of party interests."

He called on the party to proceed with organizational work as "a general election may be anticipated sooner than anyone now anticipates. It might well be considered by the Government that next summer would be a propitious date."

He said that the by-elections just mentioned provided a sharp surprise to the Ministers of the Government who "now realize that the Government's failure to even try to save the Canadian people from the terrible effects of inflation has aroused antagonism not experienced in many long years." The speaker asked all the people to consider the problems of other provinces from a national standpoint rather than from one dictated by sectional or other considerations. "In whatever part of Canada we live we owe it to ourselves to understand each other's problems. Canadian citizenship must be made a living and vital thing."

Mr. Diefenbaker was introduced to the large gathering by Mr. G. R. Foster, president of the Young Progressive Conservative Association, and later termed his introduction the finest he had ever received.

Later a motion for a vote of thanks was made from the floor by Maj. John A. MacDonald, M.L.A., and seconded by Mr. A. Walthen Gaudet. Seated on the platform with the speaker and

Princess Recalls Canada's First V.C. Went To Negro

HALIFAX, Nov. 7.—(CP)—William Hall, the Nova Scotia Negro hero mentioned by Princess Elizabeth in her address here today, was the son of a slave and won the Victoria Cross at the battle of Lucknow.

Hailed as the first Canadian to be so honored, he actually was awarded the decoration long before Canada was formed.

His father was one of a cargo of "black ivory" aboard a slave ship captured by the British and brought to Halifax. He settled at Hantsport, about 45 miles from here, on the edge of Annapolis Valley.

The young Hall joined the Royal Marines and served through the Crimean War, winning Turkish and British medals. At Lucknow, he served under Sir Colin Campbell, one-time governor of Nova Scotia. Ignoring almost certain death, Hall fired the charge that broke the rebel walls and ultimately resulted in restoring peace in India.

Retiring in 1876, he was offered an easy post at Whitehall but preferred to return to his native Nova Scotia to eke out his small pension by farming.

In 1901, King George V, Elizabeth's grandfather, visited Halifax as the Duke of York and asked to see Hall. The old Negro took a prominent part in unveiling the South African war memorial here three years later. Hall answered his last muster. He was 77.

Several years ago his body was taken from its unmarked grave and given a more fitting burial. A memorial tablet was erected to his memory.

Princess Elizabeth said today: "I was interested to learn that the first Victoria Cross ever awarded to a Canadian was won by a fore-top-man, William Hall of Hantsport."

One person of Hall's race was presented to the Princess today—C. G. Wilson, president of the Nova Scotia Association for the Advancement of Colored Children.

Woman Held After Shooting

STELLARTON, N. S. Nov. 7.—(CP)—Ella Armour Ince, 19, was held on a charge of actual bodily harm tonight after her husband was found dead with a rifle bullet through his chest.

The shooting occurred in the kitchen of the young couple's home following a quarrel. Ince died before reaching hospital in an ambulance.

A coroner's jury was called and adjourned Wednesday. Mrs. Pearl Armour, mother of Mrs. Ince, was wounded over the eye by a piece of the bullet. Hospital officials said her condition was good.

Mr. Foster were Messrs. W. C. S. MacDonald, Summerside, secretary of the Association; J. Angus MacLean, M.P.; F. R. Bell, M.L.A., leader of the Opposition in the Provincial Legislature, Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, and Leon Balcer, M.P., national president of the Young Progressive Conservative Association.

Provincial Affairs

Mr. Bell, the first speaker of the evening, sharply criticized the Provincial Government for its agricultural policy. He said we have the finest agricultural province in Canada and should be setting the standard for the others. "But farmers here are cursed by lack of capital and lack of credit. We have to rectify that." He urged the young people to take an interest in politics and their Province because it is the all-important thing to consider.

Others speaking briefly included Mr. Balcer, who spoke of Mr. Diefenbaker as "the greatest parliamentarian in Canada," an opinion echoed shortly after by Dr. MacMillan. Mr. J. Angus MacLean told the group he was bringing the personal greetings of national leader Hon. George Drew, and he welcomed his Parliamentary colleagues to his constituency.

Research Advantages In Fishery Industry Stressed

Organized government research and an adventurous spirit in the industry are necessary for the full development of the fishing industry, stated Dr. A. W. H. Needler, Director of the Atlantic Biological Station, Department of Fisheries, St. Andrews, N. B., who was the guest speaker at the monthly dinner meeting of the Charlottetown Board of Trade held in the Charlottetown Hotel last night.

Also speaking briefly were Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, who is chairman of the Fisheries Development Committee, and Hon. Eugene Cullen, Minister of Industry and Natural Resources. Guests of the Board were members of the Dominion and Provincial Fisheries Departments, including the Regional Protection Officer, Dept. of Fisheries, J. J. Larabee, the President, P. E. I. Fisheries Federation, L. L. Noonan, the Director of Fisheries for P. E. I., Eugene Gorman and the Vice-President of the P. E. I. Fisheries Federation, T. H. Fraser.

Chairman for the meeting was M. Alban Farmer, President of the Board. Introduced by Mr. Gorman, Dr. Needler observed that very few new agricultural lands remain to be discovered, and the future of sea foods, the only other source of protein foods, may be viewed with optimism, although in dealing with the sea and fish life in it, the industry and biologists are working very much in the dark.

The industry, research and all man's knowledge of the sea has only given a glimpse of the possibilities for expansion which in the long term future is going to be demanded as the population of the world increases by great strides. He stressed that Canada must be awake to this fact and new sources must be found. Future expansion is not limited by market demand but by supply. He described the work of the biologists in the development of the oyster industry and the research done in lobster fishing, where growth and the percentage of catches in relation to the population has been determined to a high degree.

More fisheries are capable of expansion than there are those requiring restrictions. Dr. Needler concluded, and the industry, and the research departments, must be active in gaining knowledge of the sea, fish movements, currents, and the "biological economics of the sea."
