MR. WILLARD MACDONALD

The news of the passing of Willard MacDonald of Summerside on March 15, 1968, was received with deep regret by a host of friends and acquaintances. Mr. MacDonald, as he was known by all his friends and many customers, was born in Summerside, the son of the late John A. MacDonald, a well known farmer. He was married to Mrs. Bunbury while the children were young. Educated at Bunbury school, he attended the Victoria Academy before returning home to operate a service station before going into the automobile business. In Charlottetown, Mr. MacDonald was in partnership with Wendell Barrow. Moving to Summerside in 1945, he started his own car dealership and managed a firm which was known for its integrity and honesty at all times.

His presence among his close friends and associates will be sorely missed. Among the members of his family his absence will be unoblivious at first but later seem not to be understandable although the ways of God are strange.

When word of his passing came through the sad news brought expressions of genuine sympathy from one and all. It did not seem possible that one so young and happy so fitted to enjoy life to his fullest could so suddenly be cut off from living. He shared so much of his happy life with those near and dear to him and to the friends who knew and loved him, he was a true friend and true.

Success in salesmanship came as a result of his friendly, honest personality. People knew him for a man who was a willing helper of all who need aid and above all Willard was always a gentleman. He was looked on the bright side of life and kept his troubles to himself at the same time trying to help everyone in his path of life a helping hand.

He was a tireless worker for the Liberal Party and will be sorely missed as a loyal supporter and helper.

Mr. MacDonald was an ardent race horse owner and fan and owned such well known horses as Vella La Vella and Mighy Lee. He was also a keen cricketer and one of the people responsible for the construction of the Summerside Cricket Club.

Willard was married to the former Elizabeth Cairns in 1942 and they have one son, Donald, who was connected with his father in the automobile business. Other survivors include his brother, Clifford of Charlottetown, his step-mother, Mrs. John A. MacDonald, Bunbury, his half sister Aedel, Mrs. A. Farquharson, Summerside, and two half brothers, Leslie, Bunbury and Walter, Covehead.

The very large funeral on Sunday, March 17 and the many floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which Willard was held by people in all walks of life.

The funeral service was held at Trinity United Church, conducted by the minister Rev. Cecil E. Webber, assisted by Canon Mark Ferguson, and Rev. Kenneth W.R. Cameron. Hymns sung were "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Nearer my God to Thee." "Our God is Great" was sung by Mr. Donald Macdonald.

A large procession wended its way to Floral Hills Memorial Gardens where all that was mortal was tenderly laid to rest.

Honorary pallbearers were Messrs. Max Robertson, D. Reid, P.P. Foley, Earl Corsey, Lorne Desjardis, E. Hickey, Harold Spears, Charles McIvor, W. Watson MacNaught, Eldon Wright, Andrew Perry, Harold Gaudet, Captain Herbert Kenzie, Reginald MacDonnell, Sheldon MacIvor, Willie Kelly, Victor Howatt, T. L. Linkletter, Rankin MacLaine, Wendell Barrow, Albert MacCormack, Alfred MacNeill, Joseph Dougan, G.A. Munnaghan.

IN MEMORIAM

Active pallbearers were Messrs. Harry Holman, Fred Davison, John Nicholson, Horace MacFarlane, Elmer Otter and Sullivan Montgomery.

Pro Civil Service Called Threat To Democratic Gov't

OTTAWA (CP) - Democratic parliaments the world over may be in danger of losing control of their affairs to a growing horde of professional managers in the civil service.

The authority for this statement, made in an after-dinner speech here is British high Commissioner Viscount Amory who - as Derek Heathcote Amory - was a businessman, county councillor, member of Parliament and British chancellor of the exchequer before retiring from public life in the way of Russian national interests as seen by Khrushchev.

He spoke of the cream of Canadian civil servants, the Professional Institute of the Public Service, an organization of professional men such as engineers and scientists employed by the federal government.

The high commissioner emphasized that he spoke only of British experience, and that his comments had no bearing on Canada and the current general election here.

He said they were not members of unscrupulous men, but they have become "so artificial and soothing and indispensible, and their techniques... so intricate and incomprehensible, that Parliaments might lose the capacity of desire to interfere." Lord Amory blamed the trend principally on the politicians themselves.

It used to be the case in Britain that the House of Commons was a vigilant watchdog of the treasury, and that cabinet ministers had to fight hard to get any money - spending bills through it.

Thus the problems raised by conflicting interests within the appeals of back-benchers to spend more money.

At different periods it has had to watch out for the king, the barons, the church, the landowners, the mercantile classes, and now perhaps the need is to ensure that our professional managers do not become our masters."

Seal Agreement Breaking Denied By Co. Official

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) - Norwegian vessel hunting seals off Newfoundland coast has broken no agreements, Cyril Cornick, a shipping department official with Bowring Brothers Limited said here.

The Telegram said Thursday there were indications that the Norwegians, by hunting under-sized seal pups had broken an international agreement.

Mr. Cornick said he knew of the international agreement but there had been a gentleman's agreement between Norwegian and Canadian ships at the ice. Made early this week, the ships crews agreed not to hunt the under-sized pups for two days, giving them a chance to grow. At the time the pups weighed about five pounds and now have grown to about 25 pounds.

This gentleman's agreement wasn't broken either, Mr. Cornick said. The Norwegians stuck to what they had agreed. That a federal fisheries department official had reported no law forbidding a sealing vessel's crew to take immature seals.

Mr. Cornick, reached by phone at Gander, Nfld., just before he was due to step aboard a seal spotting plane taking off for the northern part, said Bowring's ship the Algonia had 2,500 seal pups on board. They average between 25 and 27 pounds.

The vessel is headed south for the Cape Baillie area of northern Newfoundland where two patches of seals sufficiently mature to harvest were located by Mr. Cornick Thursday.

U.S. Rejects Red Charge Of Shelling

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States has formally rejected Soviet charges that United States warships fired on a Soviet refrigerator-trawler some 70 miles east of Norfolk, Va., last Friday.

The state department made public a note, delivered Monday night to the Soviet embassy, saying that after a thorough investigation it was determined that no U.S. naval vessel in the general area engaged in any firing when any surface vessel or aircraft was endangered.

It said no cruisers were among the U.S. naval vessels in the area as had been charged by the Soviet Union.

The note acknowledged that six U.S. destroyers were engaged in gunnery exercises within an established and recognized area used for many years for gunnery and other exercises by ships of the U.S. Navy.

It said a destroyer nearest the location of the alleged incident, within the indicated time period conducted anti-aircraft firing practice against a target towed by an airplane, firing with ammunition having a maximum range of seven miles. The destroyer was 10 miles southwest of the location of the alleged incident, the U.S. note said.
