The Pacific Railway Staff.

Few people have any idea of the magnitude of the work undertaken by the Canadian Pacific Railway authorities, or of the cost of maintenance of the large staff of employees now on their pay rolls. The company has now nearly five thousand men employed in operating the road in the North-West, outside of the force employed by Langdon, Shephard & Co., in construction. The men are distributed as follows:—
General and Departmental Officers, Clerks, etc. 76
Engineering Department 307 Conductors, Brakemen, etc. 355 Drivers, Firemen and Wipers 560 Station Agents, Operators and Station Laborers 544
Track Department 1,908 Building Department 521 Shops 290
Special Gauge handling construction material, fuel, etc. 579 4,841

The amount of the pay rolls of the western division for the last five months were as follows:—

March	$ 53.17
April	70,782.00
May	120,404.00
June	185,539.00
July	269,156.00

From this exhibit a good idea can be had of the immensity of this great national undertaking. The contractors have, in addition to this, just as many, if not more men employed, making upwards of 9,000 men at work in operating and constructing the Canadian Pacific Railway. (Windspey Times)

The Highlanders at Ramleh.

The Gordon and Cameron Highlanders, who have been sent to Ramleh to form the nucleus of a Highland brigade under Gen.
Alison, have already figured prominently in the history of Egyptian warfare. In the campaign of 1798, under the leadership of Sir Ralph Abercromby, they especially distinguished themselves, leaving among the conquered French a lasting impression of the prowess of "those terrible mountain savages." But the most brilliant part of their record is connected with the last years of the great Napoleonic war. In 1813 the Ninety-second Regiment (Gordon Highlanders) bore the brunt of an attack made by a French division of 13,000 men, under Marshal D'Erlon, upon the Pass of Maya, in the Pyrenees. On this occasion the regiment lost two-thirds of its entire number, and every officer of note was either killed or wounded. The Cameron Highlanders were equally distinguished by their valour at Quatre Bras, the battle which immediately preceded Waterloo (June 16, 1816). Here they lost their gallant leader, Col. Cameron, of Faniefern, who was shot by a French grenadier; but the latter was at once singled out by Cameron's Highland servant, who plunged right in among the enemy to reach him, and despatched him with one blow of his dirk.

American Mules for Egypt.

There arrived at St. Louis last week an English gentleman clad in a suit of fine linen, with a sack coat which was belted loosely at the waist, and with a soldierly bearing. He was accompanied by a small, dark featured, black eyed man, who was costumed in a suit of brown velvet corduroy. They were noticed in consultation with a representative of the stock yards and he was applied to for information.
"The taller one," he replied, "is Lieutenant Colonel Swinley, of the Royal Artillery, and the other is his veterinary surgeon, Dr. Cox. They have been sent here by the English Government to purchase mules for the service in Egypt. They have a chartered vessel lying at New York city, to transport the mules direct to Alexandria. The animals are intended for the Egyptian campaign. The bulk of their purchase has already been arranged with me, and I am proceeding rapidly to the delivery. They will remain in the city until to-morrow night. The necessities of the occasion require to make no delay."

A New Post Card.

The Treasury Warrant for the new "reply post-cards," authorized by the British Post Office authorities, will come into operation on the 1st of October. They are to have an impressed stamp of one half-penny on each half. The address only is to be "written, printed, or otherwise impressed" on that side of either half which bears the stamp, and no part of the address must cross the stamp. The "return half" will be affixed to the other half in such a way as to be easily severed from its No reply post-card or "return half" will be forwarded through the post which containe any words, marks or designs of an indecent, obscene, libellous or grossly offensive character, and any card or "half" so posted which shall prima facie fall within this prohibition, shall be stopped and submitted to the inspection of an officer duly authorized in that behalf by the Postmaster General.

Australia on the Move.

The Australian colonies are being placed in a state of defence, as if a general war were on the tapis. Two gunboats and two torpedo boats are to be ordered from England at once. A permanent artillery corps is to be enrolled, and Parliament will be invited to sanction the establishment of a volunteer militia. The Assembly has voted £100,000 for defence purposes generally. In consideration of obtaining a site and building at Dawes Point for naval purposes, the Imperial Government has agreed to give to the colony of New South Wales all the land upon which it has any claim, the value of which is estimated at £4,500,000.

Current Notes.

An extensive plot for a general rising against the Chilean invaders of Peru has been discovered and plot frustrated.

Never be critical upon the ladies; the only way a gentleman should look at the faults of a pretty woman is with his eyes shut.

The great-grandson of Daniel Defoe is poor. A penny subscription from readers of "Robinson Crusoe" is proposed for the relief of the author's relative.

A new method of utilizing certain marine plants has been devised in France, a gum being extracted from them which is found to be valuable in the arts in various ways, particularly in the manufacture of a substitute for leather.

H. M. S. "Flamingo" at Halifax, had swimming matches on Monday, and one competition was for diving to see who could remain under water longest. A colored stoker named O'Neil dived, and never came up.

The strong financial position of the United States is clearly exhibited in the statement sent from Washington that two hundred and fifty millions of 3 per cent. bonds have already been surrendered for exchange into the new 3 per cents.

The members of the United States commission to enquire into the quarantine system returned to Montreal from Quebec on Saturday, and the system they saw in operation at Quebec will be recommended as the basis of the American plan.

At the session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science a resolution was adopted recommending that scientists on this side of the Atlantic be invited to contribute to the English fund for the erection of a statue to Charles Darwin.

A Southern journal describes an entertainment which was given at West Point, Miss., to raise funds for paying the fines of some convicted ballot box stuffers. The young men were moved to tears while they were on the stage. A beautiful little girl, to slow music, waved the bonnie blue flag, shouting, "Unfold it, wave it, and forever!" while other little girls made a pyramid upon which a calcium light played.

A girl at Long Branch has hair so stiff and coarse that it does not mat when drenched. Its utility is apparent when she bathes, for others come up from a plunge with their tresses in an insignificant pig-tail, while her head is as attractive as when dry. A correspondent calculates that her peculiar hair will bring her half a million dollars, because it seems to have charmed an heir to that amount, and he is likely to marry her.

A serious accident occurred on the Grand Trunk railway, on Sunday evening, at Highland creek bridge, about one mile west of Port Union Station. Nine cars of cattle were thrown down the embankment, which at this point is about sixty feet high, and about 200 animals were killed or so badly injured that they had to be afterwards despatched. Mr. William Kelly was the owner of the cattle, and the loss to the railway company will be in the neighbourhood of $10,000.

At the last Prince's garden party in London the caprice of fashion was the parasol.
Some specimens were of great value. There was a plague of jewels on the top of a white one which dazzled the eyes of the beholder. The Queen, whose sight had been caught by the topazes and amethysts, encircled by rows of seed pearls, with which it was adorned, turned away with manifest disapprobation, and like the angel in Moore's poem, "never looked again."

The Free Kirk of Scotland is about to experience a "crisis," in which the musical question will largely figure. It is expected that the decision either way will cause a schism in the Church. A petition will be presented next year to the general assembly (or synod), asking that, while giving every encouragement to the cultivation of vocal psalmody, it shall withhold (or withdraw) all sanction to the introduction of instrumental music into worship in the churches under its control.

London World:—"Surgeons are not healthier than solicitors, and we are not aware that their children are more robust than the offspring of less scientific societarians. The worst-drained house in Belgravia was owned by an eminent sanitarian; and to witness four men at a medical club supping on defrilled crab and lobster salad is not a reassuring spectacle to the trusting patient who has been starving six months on a certified dietary or gorging himself with saucelss cod in the hope of nourishing his brain with "phosphorised food," of which all the fish in Billingsgate contain about as much as is dipped on the end of a lucifer match!"

Our neighbors have a ticklish constitutional question on their hands. It is no less than whether a governor is obliged to obey a court. In other words, do the courts constitute the supreme power, and must all authority be reckoned subordinate to the courts. This issue is raised in Maine.
The Executive of the State claims that he is not bound by the opinions of judges who cannot control him. Possibly he is right; but how would the system of government in the United States, as a whole, proceed without the controlling power of the Supreme Court behind it?

Suggestions are being made that Prince Leopold will be our next Governor-General.
His Royal Highness would suit us very well. The position is perhaps less responsible and certainly less onerous than any other of equal nominal importance. Canada has not required much at the hands of her Governors-General for some time, beyond making speeches, and patronizing Canadian institutions. The Duke of Albany is a good speaker, and is a man of undoubted ability and scholarship. His health is not good but residence in Canada might improve it.
