

Reds To Watch Election In U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has accepted an invitation to send observers to "view at first hand" the United States political campaign and election.

State department officials said Wednesday the Russians also agreed to welcome American observers to their next big election, in 1958.

The Soviet government hasn't named the two or three persons it will send here, but they are expected to be medium-rank officials.

Similar invitations also were extended to four of Russia's European satellites — Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania. Acceptances by the satellites are expected to follow the Russian move.

Don't irritate child's intestines with "too-strong laxatives"

Science at last has developed Children's Own Tablets for your child's protection. No cramps. No gripes. No bad taste!

Stop using harsh laxatives that may irritate the tender walls of your child's intestines, causing cramping, gripes, or weak, uncomfortable stools. Large, harsh, adult-size laxatives are often too strong for children. They work, but they may irritate the delicate membranes in the intestines. Medical science has at last developed Children's Own Tablets — clinically-tested for children's needs — just strong enough... not harsh... in tablet form, pleasant-tasting, easy to take! Follows your child's own natural rhythm. Children's Own Tablets today — made by the makers of Baby's Own Tablets. See if they are not the answer to your child's laxative problems.

BEDTIME STORIES

The Awkward One

The awkward, be they big or small, are often subject to a fall. Peter Rabbit, Peter is wholly right about that. Awkward folks usually are clumsy. Clumsy folks have many falls that folks who are not clumsy never have.

The biggest of all the Squirrel folk is Rusty the Fox Squirrel. He is much the biggest, so he isn't as good a climber, isn't quite as much at home in the treetops as Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel, or their smaller cousin Chatterer the Red Squirrel. It isn't quite as easy for Rusty to jump from branch to branch and to travel through the treetops as it is for his smaller cousins.

the ground for nuts, but he found none. Happy Jack had already taken all that had fallen. There was nothing for Rusty to do but climb the tree and cut off the nuts from the twigs where they had grown. It wasn't too much of a climb. He went up well toward the top, then he saw the biggest, fattest nut he had seen anywhere. It was way out near the tip of a rather slender limb. When Rusty started to walk out on it, it began to bend. That was because he was so heavy. He walked a few steps more. The limb bent a little more. Rusty backed up.

Perhaps it would be better to wait until that nut should fall. He knew it would fall after Jack Frost got busy. He knew it would because all nuts fall when Jack Frost shakes them loose.

There were other nuts easier to get to. Rusty bit off two or three so that they dropped to the ground. Then, with one in his mouth, he climbed down from the tree. He didn't run down as easily as Happy Jack would have in his place. But he had no trouble, for he really is at home in a tree. When he reached the ground, he carried the nut he had in his mouth a little way from the tree and buried it. That is his way of
