

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 25, 1884.

The Situation.

The appointment of Hon. A. A. Macdonald to the office of Lieutenant Governor has been gazetted; and Mr. Brecken has taken the office of Postmaster.

We are pleased to learn that the better counsels have prevailed; and that a Convention of the Liberal-Conservative Party will, in all probability, be forthwith held.

The campaign thus begun by us, it is not likely that the Opposition will bring a candidate into the field.

They will not have the ghost of a chance of electing him, for the sentiment of the County is overwhelmingly Liberal-Conservative.

And, besides, what is to be gained by electing a supporter of the Opposition to sit in Parliament during the next three years?

That is the first question which every elector will ask himself; and the answer must be—absolutely nothing!

The Government will be sustained during many years, beyond a doubt; and the Opposition have no great questions on which it is at all desirable at this juncture to test the opinion of the public.

True, there has been some talk about a Federation of the Empire, and about Annexation, and about Independence; but neither of these questions has yet become a living issue.

Then, why put the electors to the loss and trouble, and the whole country to the expense, of a contested election? Simply to express an opinion as between Sir John Macdonald and Mr. Blake? That surely is no sufficient cause, even though it were certain—and it is not—that Mr. Blake will continue to lead the Liberal Party.

Or, simply that we should have a County squabble and an unseemly exhibition of Parish Politics? Surely our friends, the enemy, will not think of having a contest for such a purpose as this?

On the whole, we think it quite probable that if the Liberal-Conservatives act reasonably and sensibly, and have a Convention of the Party to select a candidate for the Party, the Opposition will act reasonably and sensibly also, and forbear to contest his election.

The Temperance Cause.

The Pioneer thinks that because we published a comparative statement showing the quantities of liquor imported into this Province during a series years, and an article showing "the other side of the question," THE EXAMINER is becoming unfavorable to the temperance cause.

As to the Scott Act, it was, before it was strengthened by the machinery provided in the License Law passed last year, a very lame law indeed. We did not strongly favor its application to this Province; but once it was applied, because it was in the interests of temperance and morality, and because it was the law—THE EXAMINER gave those who tried to have it enforced both countenance and support; and the Pioneer may rest assured that we shall not advocate the revocation of the Act as it applies to this city until good and sufficient reasons have been publicly given for so doing.

It is to us a subject of very great regret that the Scott Act has not been better enforced. Indeed, too many of our laws are disregarded. "The Dog Act," "the Nuisance Act," and many other good laws are even more shamelessly set at defiance than the Scott Act; and our Magistrates and Police Officers do nothing or almost nothing—while property and health are in consequence continually in danger.

liquors in warehouse in Charlottetown, on the 1st day of July, inst.:

Reports received from the experimental farms continue to be favorable. Mr. Joseph Nelson, of Gull Lake, writes to the Winnipeg Sun:—"Knowing the interest taken by you in agricultural matters, I send the following items from the experimental farm at this place.

Nova Scotia has floated a satisfactory loan of $400,000. The rate of interest, to be paid yearly, is a fraction under 4 1/2 per cent.

CHOLERA AND SMALL-POX.

Special Vigilance to be Exercised.

DR. HOBKIRK, Quarantine Officer at this port, has received the following communication from the Department of Agriculture:—

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, Ottawa, Canada, July 17, 1884.

SIR,—I have an instruction from the Minister of Agriculture to call your attention to the fact of the presence of Asiatic cholera in ports of France and of the Mediterranean Sea; also of the prevalence of small-pox in London.

In view of these facts, the Minister desires that special vigilance should be exercised by you in the inspection of all vessels now arriving, and in cases where contagious disease may be found, that the Quarantine regulations should be put in effect.

I have the honor to be, Sir, Your Obedient Servant, J. LOWE, Secretary Dept. Agriculture.

To Dr. Hobkirk, Quarantine Officer, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Dr. Hobkirk also received the following despatch:—

OTTAWA, July 24.

W. H. HOBKIRK, M. D. Inspect all vessels before entering, detaining any with cases of cholera, and telegraphing immediately to the Department.

JOHN LOWE, Secretary Dept. Agriculture.

This shows that the Minister of Agriculture is taking every precaution to prevent the dreadful disease, which is now so fatal in France, from taking a foothold in Canada. Dr. Hobkirk in his work requires the assistance of our citizens. Where there are the slightest symptoms of small pox or cholera, he requests that they be immediately reported to him.

Dr. Koch on Cholera.

In conversation with a correspondent of a Paris newspaper, Dr. Koch said that all the autopsies he had made confirmed his belief that the cholera was Asiatic. He presented the characteristics he had observed in India and in Egypt, and the microbes were exactly similar. During an epidemic, he said, the microbes are seldom found in the stomach. They are generally found in the intestines, where they chill and thicken the blood, and at the same time secrete a poison.

As to the Scott Act, it was, before it was strengthened by the machinery provided in the License Law passed last year, a very lame law indeed. We did not strongly favor its application to this Province; but once it was applied, because it was in the interests of temperance and morality, and because it was the law—THE EXAMINER gave those who tried to have it enforced both countenance and support; and the Pioneer may rest assured that we shall not advocate the revocation of the Act as it applies to this city until good and sufficient reasons have been publicly given for so doing.

It is to us a subject of very great regret that the Scott Act has not been better enforced. Indeed, too many of our laws are disregarded. "The Dog Act," "the Nuisance Act," and many other good laws are even more shamelessly set at defiance than the Scott Act; and our Magistrates and Police Officers do nothing or almost nothing—while property and health are in consequence continually in danger.

not been invaded by the scourge. The moment vigilance was relaxed the disease entered. When cholera enters Egypt it soon appears in Europe, and then it is impossible to bar its advance.

Canadian Fishermen Excited.

COMPLAINTS OF DEPREDEATIONS BY AMERICANS AND THREATS OF VIOLENCE.

A despatch of the 21st, from Kingston, Ontario, says the fishermen on the Canadian Islands in the St. Lawrence River met and presented their protests and grievances to Hon. A. Kirkpatrick, Speaker of the House of Commons, against the way in which American tourists have destroyed the fish in Canadian waters and damaged property, besides using insulting language to licensed fishermen.

Recently some American anglers took steps to remove a net from their side of the water. The warfare was carried into Canada by some Americans, and one man on Wolfe Island was chased away at the muzzle of a revolver while pulling up his nets. Another fisherman, on Snake Island, was ordered away from his nets under dire threats.

Another grievance complained of is the depredations by Americans, who, when not engaged in fishing, slaughter the cattle sheep, geese and other animals of the farmers on the islands. Many instances of such outrages are reported, and in one case a slayer of animals was followed to Clayton and made to pay for the cattle he had destroyed.

The Speaker promised to lay the matter before the government. An officer will probably be sent from Ottawa to inquire into the grievances.

Firing a Barracks.

A DASTARDLY ATTEMPT ON THE LIVES OF THE MEN IN THE NEW FORT, TORONTO.

On Monday night a daring and dastardly attempt upon the lives of the military at present in barracks up at the new fort, Toronto, was made, but happily the scheme was discovered in time to avert the intended murderous effort. The matter has been kept very quiet for prudential reasons, but the following facts have transpired: Shortly after midnight one of the sentinels on duty at the garrison noticed a smell of smoke and the crackling of flames.

CALL and see our cheap lot of Sponges, the largest assortment ever shown.—D. O'M. REDDIN. [jy25 li]

The Rev. Kenneth MacLennan occupied the pulpit of Erskine Church at the evening service on Sunday last. His discourse was based upon the Epistle to Philimon, and dealt with the interest which St. Paul displayed in his fellow-prisoner by instructing him in the way of life, and removing from his path the difficulties which stood in the way of his return to the service of his former master, appealing to the high character of the latter to receive kindly the new convert to the faith.
