THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JUNE 24, 1879.

Supreme Court.

The Trinity Term of the Supreme Court met in this City to-day, Chief Justice Palmer and Mr. Justice Hensley presiding. The following gentlemen compose the Grand Jury:—

Richard Heartz, Foreman; Peter M. Bourke, James Fraser, Wellington Mutch, Samuel McKee, John Nelson, John W. Hughes, Joseph A. McDonald, George Doherty, Jerome Deirant, Lemuel L. Beer, Wm. Boyle, John S. McLeod, Alex. McBeth, Arthur Holroyd, Wm. Lowther, Ronald McDonald, John Quirk.

The charge of the Chief Justice was not very important. He congratulated the Jurors on the paucity of criminal cases, and briefly outlined the following, which were submitted to their consideration:—

The Queen in the prosecution of Joseph McKinnon, vs. Frederick Davy, assault.
The Queen in the prosecution of John F. McKay vs. Ellen Lannan, Catherine Lannan, and Jane Clements, alias Jane McInnis, larceny.

The Queen in the prosecution of Peter Connolly vs. Peter Donnelly, larceny.

The Queen in the prosecution of Ellen McGee vs. Thomas Cameron, assault with intent to rape.

Why he Went to Africa.

On the 25th of February, of the present year, the Prince Imperial wrote to M. Rouher explaining the motives that had led him to resolve on going to the Zulu war. The communication was dated from Chislehurst, and was as follows:—

MY DEAR M. ROUHER:—
I am about to leave Europe, and my absence may continue for some months. I have too many faithful friends in France for me to remain silent as to the reasons of my departure. For eight years I have been England's guest. I completed my education in one of her military schools, and have kept up my connection with the British army by joining it on several occasions, during its great manoeuvres. The war Great Britain is now carrying on at the Cape of Good Hope has lately assumed a much more serious aspect than it had previously. I felt anxious to watch the operations, and I sail in two days.

In France, where, thank Heaven, party spirit has not extinguished the military spirit, people will comprehend that I am anxious to share the fatigues and dangers of those troops among whom I have so many comrades. The time I shall devote in assisting in this struggle of civilization against barbarity will not be lost to me.

My thoughts, whether I am far or near, will constantly turn to France. I shall watch the phases she will constantly pass through with interest and without anxiety, for I am convinced that God protects her!
I trust that during my absence the partisans of the Imperial cause will remain united and confident, and will continue to hold before the county the spectacle of a party which, faithful to its doctrines, remains constantly animated by the most ardent patriotism.

Accept, mon cher Monsieur Rouher, the assurance of my sincere friendship.

NAPOLEON.

The Canada General Assembly and Hymns.

The Canada Assembly, last week, accepted the report of a committee on hymn books, which contained the following:—

In all approved hymn books there are about 1000 different hymns, from which the committee selected 253, from other sources they selected 25, making altogether 278. Besides these they selected 11 hymns for the young and 11 doxologies, chiefly from the hymn books already mentioned. The hymns thus selected were sent to presbyteries to be considered by them, and reports have been received from all the presbyteries except six, namely the presbyteries of Sydney, Newfoundland, Hamilton, London, Chatham and Huron. Some of the reports were sent to the Committee and some to the General Assembly. Of the presbyteries reporting, sixteen express general approval; two disapprove; seven recommend the matter to be recommitted for another year; three express no opinion, simply recommending certain alterations and additions.

The report was received, and the committee re-appointed with a view of making their work more perfect and reporting to next General Assembly, when, no doubt, a Hymn Book of a suitable character will be adopted.

On Saturday evening, the 14th inst., a rigger on board the schooner "Arizimbo," at Calais, Me., fell from the cross-tree through the main hatch to the keelson, a distance of 60 feet. Strange to say he lived some days at least, though it seems impossible that he can recover. The first words he was heard to utter when picked up were—"O, Father, Mother, they are killing me!"

An Ottawa Sensation.

On the 21st inst., whilst a farmer was passing a wooden house on the Russel Road, Ottawa, occupied by a woman named Bella Hood, he observed a female form stretched out on the step. He at first thought that Miss Hood was sleeping, but on a closer examination noticed blood on one of her legs, which protruded from under the dress. In company with a friend he approached the house, and, to his horror, discovered that she was dead, and that both inside and outside the house there were blood stains. It appeared as though some brutal murder had been committed, but further developments led to the conclusion that death was caused from hemorrhage. The woman was enclente. An inquest was immediately held, and the following verdict returned: that deceased came to her death from hemorrhage from a punctured wound in the vagina, but whether inflicted by herself or some unknown party, or by accident, is unknown to the jury.

Government Expenditures.

AN "ISLANDER" writes to the St. John Sun: "In the astonishing list of 'Perley's wrecks' which mark the coast line of these Lower Provinces of the Dominion, I do not see that your correspondent 'Economist' mentions the misplaced and poorly protected breakwater at Souris, in this 'tight little Island.' This structure was only recently completed at very great cost, yet it is already down for repairs and promises to attain notoriety quite equal to that of Cow Bay in Cape Breton, to which your correspondent directs particular attention. Already has a large sum been expended upon it during the present year, and a further sum of $5,000 was voted by Parliament for 'repairs' during the coming year."

The latest accounts from Magdalen Islands say that vegetation there is much retarded, and it is feared the greater portion of the seed sown this spring will perish in the ground, unless we have some fine warm weather very shortly. The fishermen find pretty good fishing whenever the weather permits them to go out on the fishing grounds. Capelin have struck in at Entry Island. The fishermen have raised their nets in Pleasant Bay, and are preparing for the deep sea hering fishery in the Gulf.

A Grand Concert

On Thursday evening next, the exercises at the Convent De Notre Dame will be concluded by a grand concert, and the distribution of prizes to the pupils, in the Convent Hall. Hitherto the concerts given in this Institution on similar occasions could not be equalled in the Province, and we are pleased to see that a most excellent programme has been prepared for Thursday evening, as follows:—

Grand March, Duet—(Young Folks at Home) By Vierock; 26 hands.

Chorus—"The Sunbeams are Glancing" By Rossini.

Music, Trio—"Selection of Scotch Airs" By Albert; 321 a. mds.

Song and Chorus—"Mother don't keep me too long" By Dan.

Distribution of Prizes to the Pupils of the Primary Class.

Vocal Quartette—"Bird Cantata" By Haman.

Music, Duet—"Pleasure train Polka" Kinkel; 20 hands.

Song—Bass Solo—"The Vagabond" By Melloy.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

CHARLOTTETOWN, June 24, 1879.

Sir,—Will you please insert the annexed letter from the Secretary of the St. John Relief and Aid Society.

If those persons who collected or forwarded donations, either in goods or money, in aid of the sufferers, will send me, during the week, the lists of such contributions, I will forward them to the Secretary, as required.

A. A. MACDONALD.

ST. JOHN RELIEF AND AID SOCIETY.

St. John, N. B., May 19, 1879.

Dear Sir,—It is the intention of the St. John Relief and Aid Society to publish a full report of its work since the fire, with a list of the contributions. For some days after the fire, and before our organization was perfected, a great deal of confusion naturally existed, and articles may have been received and distributed without being properly accredited. To prevent the possibility of having to make corrections, I have to request that you will kindly furnish me—as far as lies in your power—with a list of the donations in money, goods, or otherwise, so generously contributed by your citizens, together with the names of the donors, date of shipment, and any other information you may possess.

Very respectfully yours,

T. A. CHIPMAN, Secretary.

To A. A. Macdonald, Esq., Charlottetown.
