Islanders Club Explains Current Financial Problems

The Islanders' hockey executive made the following statement over the weekend: "We have assembled a very strong team, leading the league at the present time. It gives promise of going a long way, bringing pride and satisfaction to the people of this Province.

"The club is struggling with a very heavy financial burden, not only salaries, road trips and incidentals, but an unbearable tax each week.

"The taxes approximate $900 weekly. It should be explained that last year's executive left an unpaid federal tax of over $3,000.

"Before operations began this season pledges that this unpaid balance would be reduced by $200 each week had to be given. To this is added $295 on this year's current tax each week. The local amusement tax swells the total tax expenditure to approximately $900.

"Many followers of hockey have been asked if they would be willing to pay ten cents extra on each admission to assist in defraying this cost. To the last person they indicated they would be glad to do so to retain hockey here. So this will be added to the cost of admission to determine if it is possible to continue in hockey activities."

ACSHL President Imposes Heavy Fines, Suspensions

A total of $485.00 in fines and 12 games in suspensions were divided between the Charlottetown Islanders and the Fredericton Capitals for the outbreak in Thursday night's game in Fredericton.

Vice-president Gilbert Gaudet of Charlottetown was officially informed Saturday night concerning the fines and suspensions which T. Babbit Parlee, president of the ASCHL, has imposed. They are as follows: Islanders' player Vip Palladino, fined $200.00 and suspended for 8 games for striking referee Sonny MacDonald; Islanders' player Lloyd Hinchberger, fined $35 and suspended for two games for his duel with Rheal Grenon; Grenon was fined $50 and suspended two games for his part in the same affair; the Capitals' and the Islanders clubs each fined $75.00 for their players leaving the bench to engage in the above mentioned fracas on the ice; the Islanders' club have been fined an additional $50 for using Palladino on Friday night in violation of Rule 30a of the CAHA constitution.

Mr. Forrest Clow has stated that these fines and suspensions will definitely be appealed to the League executive and that in the meantime imposition of these penalties will be withheld pending the outcome of the appeal to be heard in Moncton on Saturday, December 11. The penalty handed Palladino, which was based on referee Sonny MacDonald's report of the Fredericton game, is the heaviest ever laid against a player since Charlottetown entered Maritime Major or Senior Hockey.

Mr. Clow was officially informed that the suspensions will not go into effect until after the hearing and that the Amherst Ramblers, who have been late in arriving in Charlottetown during their last two appearances here, will be in Charlottetown in time for Tuesday night's game to start at 8.30. The writer has also been informed that the Ramblers club have been fined $200.00 for their late arrival here last week and if they arrive late on Tuesday they will be further penalized.

After receiving word of the fines and suspensions on Saturday night, Mr. Clow flew to Moncton yesterday and conferred with president Parlee and secretary Chandler. He

Major Ball Leagues To Consider 10-Club Plan

By JACK HAND

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The American League will consider a proposal by Hank Greenberg, Cleveland Indians general manager, to study operation as a 10-club league in 1956 as the baseball caravan moves to New York Monday for the major league meetings.

Greenberg will advocate naming of a committee to investigate the merits of expanding the league to 10 clubs, with authority to inform reputable groups that two franchises will be awarded upon proof of financial stability and stadium requirements.

According to the American League agenda, Greenberg suggests the committee should report at the 1955 summer meetings, with a schedule and all other matters pertinent to a 10-club league, so that the league can expand to 10 clubs by the 1956 season.

EYE LOS ANGELES-FRISCO

The National League also will consider the 10-club idea with the Pacific Coast League teams of Los Angeles and San Francisco in mind at its meetings.

One of the most important subjects on the National League agenda is a Milwaukee proposal to require a three-fourths vote, instead of the present majority vote, to expand or contract the league or move a club.

Both leagues obviously have Los Angeles and San Francisco in mind as additional members. The league that does not win the race to the coast probably will take Minneapolis-St. Paul and Toronto.

Actions at the minor league convention where the American Association moved as far west as Denver confirmed the general westward-ho spirit in baseball.

CONSTITUTIONS ALL SET

Although the 10-club idea is not on the official agenda for Wednesday's joint meeting, it will be discussed. Both leagues already have provided in their constitutions for expansion to 10 clubs.

National League president Warren Giles will propose changes in the playing rules so that an official game (4½ or 5 innings) which is stopped by rain, darkness or any other reason before nine innings have been completed shall be called a "suspended game." It would have to be completed at a later date.

Another Giles proposal, to be considered at both the National League and joint meetings, would provide for playing off all postponed games that could have a bearing on the championship on the day after the close of the regular season.

Trade talk that started at Houston probably will be culminated in a series of deals. Only a few major league executives made the Houston trip but all will be on hand for the three-day sessions at New York.
