Line Crews Make Progress In Prince County; Plows Busy

In Summerside yesterday light snow fell during most of the day and plows continued to work on the secondary roads.

According to line crews of the Maritime Electric Company the absence of strong winds saved Summerside and much of Prince County from experiencing a disaster in Friday and Saturday's ice storm such as they had in January 1956. They also expected to have the power restored to most areas of West Prince at a late hour last evening.

Friday and Saturday evening's icing conditions were especially heavy around O'Leary, Elmsdale and Colmen Corner.

At Elmsdale, a main line interruption was caused when crossarms were broken off due to the whipping of ice-coated wires, which kept the securing bolts. Although lines are down in many places, no poles are down. Repair crews are hampered in many places due to the great depth of snow which blankets West Prince.

LONG DISTANCE RESTORED

Mr. Earl Smith, maintenance foreman at the Island Telephone Company's Summerside office stated that long distance telephone circuits to Alberton and Tignish were restored at nine o'clock yesterday morning after a disruption of service Friday night and Saturday due to the heavy weight of three inches or more of ice caused by the freezing drizzle and rain.

Rural lines in Alberton and Tignish are not expected to be restored to service until late Wednesday or Thursday as heavy snow conditions on secondary roads hamper the work of line crews. No poles were reported down in this area although broken crossarms which succumbed to the weight of the ice were common especially between Alberton and Elmsdale.

Work was being continued between O'Leary and Alberton on the Canadian National Telegraph lines. It was expected service would be restored to Alberton today. Sunday lines were repaired from Summerside to O'Leary but there were more numerous breaks west of O'Leary.

Mr. MacNaught outlined the Liberal platform and referred to the reports appearing in the press as alleged Conservative accomplishments in this area. He instilled the project at Fishing Cove placed in the estimates last March for a 300-foot addition to the breaker, and explained that announcements of proposed expenditures have no official sanction until they are placed in the estimates, and he cautioned the voters to disregard such loose promises.

LET'S TALK IT OVER

What Is More Important Than Cutting Accident Rate?

"Driver-education in high schools could cut accident rates in half, but school programs are already over-loaded." When we read the foregoing recently, we confess we were a bit mystified. The question that naturally rises in a person's mind is: Are all the things taught in this "over-loaded program" more important than cutting accident rates in half?

Can you imagine at a class in animal husbandry, for example, a teacher saying: "There are certain things we could teach you to prevent animals from dying of a disease now prevalent in this area, but we haven't time. Our program is entirely taken up with ways to increase milk production, grooming cattle for exhibition appearances, etc., etc."

What doth it profit a teenager to gain knowledge of the theory of indices, Shakespeare's sonnets, and the behavior of molecules, if he loses his life because of inadequate training in the proper manipulation of brakes and accelerators?

Would that more pupils would realize that the fight to establish right habits of studying is similar to the launching of a rocket. They must exert considerable power (of the will) to reach the desired heights, but finally they will go "into orbit" and their studying will proceed as a natural matter of course. You fight to form a habit and in the end it becomes automatic.

Purchase Site For AA Group

A property on the south side of Water Street, east of the Irving Oil Service Station, operated by William Corney, has been purchased for Mrs. Mae Beaton and a new building will be erected or another moved to the site which will be used as the quarters of the AA group. This group was one of those who lost their rooms in the recent fire in the MacArthur building.

At present a dwelling is located on the land and this will be moved away and a new one erected or moved on to the site which will be more suitable to the requirements of the group.

As the only aim of the Alcoholics Anonymous is to save people from alcohol, the constitution does not permit them to own property. The new site has been purchased by an organization known as the Club 24 which will make the property available to the AA's for their meetings.

Diefenbaker Makes Bid For Greater Que. Support

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker, making his fourth election campaign appearance in Quebec province, Monday urged Quebec voters to give his Progressive Conservative government a "clear and unmistakable mandate" on March 31.

"The Conservative party is the only national party," he said before a mid-afternoon audience of 1,800 in the apprenticeship school here. Bidding for a larger share of Quebec's 75 Commons seats than the nine which the Conservatives held in the last Parliament, he said:

"I am asking for effective support by the province of Quebec, and I am confident there will be many Conservative French-speaking representatives in the next Parliament."

SPEAKS IN FRENCH

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke in French for all but three minutes of his 18-minute speech—his longest in French so far this campaign.

It capped a fast-paced swing through this aluminum and paper-making Saguenay area 110 miles north of Quebec City where four constituencies are at stake—all of them held by Liberals in the last Parliament.

His speech here was brief but contained a stiff poke at the Liberals.

NEWSPAPERS + PEOPLE = ACTION

Every day when newspapers and people get together, things start popping. News stories, editorials and features constantly arouse readers to action. So does the advertising. Without it, as the lady says, "You'd never know about sales or where to buy anything."

That's why more money is spent in newspapers than in radio, television, magazines and outdoor combined.

Nearly 4,000,000 newspapers are bought daily, providing news, features, information — and advertising. If it's action you want — action you'll get — from your advertising in the action medium, the daily newspaper

Newspaper advertising differs from many other kinds because it is wanted. People not only look for advertising in the newspaper — they act upon it. They buy from it.
