The Border League champion St. Croix now lead the best-of-seven New Brunswick Intermediate A final 3-1. The fifth and possibly deciding game will be played at St. Stephen Thursday afternoon.

Cripps went all the way on the Chatham mound, limiting St. Croix to two singles. Second baseman Rod Wilson and left fielder Bud Mawhinney were the lone two St. Stephen batsmen to hit safely off Cripps.

Youthful Paul Eagan went the route for the losers, giving up seven runs on seven hits. He struck out one and walked two. Cripps allowed three walks and fanned five.

Chatham had four runs in the first inning. St. Stephen answered with a single run in the fourth but Chatham came back with one in the home sixth and two more in the eighth.

Both teams left five runners stranded in Tuesday's game.

Denver Guard Is Sidelined

NEW YORK (AP)—Ken Adamson, offensive guard of Denver Broncos, probably will be lost for the rest of the season as the result of a broken jaw suffered in the American Football League game Sunday with New York Titans.

"It looks as if I'll have my jaw wired up for six to eight weeks," the six-foot-two, 225-pound lineman said Tuesday in hospital where he underwent an operation Monday.

He said he was going down the field on a second block and got a good forearm in the face. "It was one of those things that could happen any time," he added.

Meet Discusses Rink Operation

The Borden Athletic Association held a meet Tuesday evening to discuss the operation of the rink for the coming year.

It was suggested by Reginald Rogers and Mayor Gilbert Bell of the rink company that the association operate the rink for the year.

Suggestion was that the ass'n get a number of men of the town to take charge of the rink a week at a time. It was decided to hold a meeting in two weeks time to organize a rink committee. Already 12 men have agreed to take a turn at a week at a time.

It was hoped that other sports-minded men of the town will attend this meet Tuesday, October 16 at 8 p.m. at the town hall.

Upsurge Forecast In Uranium Use

MONTREAL (CP) — The world's uranium mining industry can look forward with increasing confidence to a period of gradually expanding demand for uranium for non-military purposes, Robert H. Winters, president of Rio Algom Mines Ltd., said here Tuesday.

Speaking to a luncheon meeting of the Electrical Club of Montreal, the former Liberal public works minister said that such demand, while increasing slowly now, "is likely to expand at a fast rate about 10 years from now."

By then, it may well be necessary to re-open shut-down mines, and before then it is likely that exploration programs for new ore reserves will have to be instituted.

"The immediate problem, facing any producer of uranium who has long-term reserves and whose policy is to stay permanently in the business," Mr. Winters said, "is how to survive the intervening period between relatively low civilian demand, which should be anticipated after the end of the present decade."

Mr. Winters' remarks were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

Supreme Ct. Quashes Impaired Conviction

SUMMERSIDE — An appeal from a conviction of driving while impaired was allowed Claude Joseph Wallace, Stanley Bridge, in Supreme Court, Summerside, by Mr. Justice George J. Tweedy.

The conviction was made by Magistrate W. Chester S. MacDonald, March 8, 1962. The case arose out of a car accident at the corner of Church and Main streets in Alberton about 4:15 Feb. 17, 1962, whereby three cars were involved in the accident; one owned by Cnst. Peter Borys which was parked with no occupant in it; one driven by Franklin Patrick Doyle and one driven by the appelant in which there were three passengers.

Cnst. Borys told of being called to the scene. His evidence with regard to the condition of Claude Joseph Wallace was that he was unsteady on his feet and there was a strong smell of liquor on his breath. Cnst. Horricks gave evidence that Wallace staggered, there was a strong smell of alcohol and his speech was slurred, eyes glassy.

Franklin Doyle, driver of the other car involved, told of driving conditions. There was snow falling and the street was snow-packed.

The accused, who gave evidence on his own behalf, stated that he had driven from Montreal by automobile, having driven 500 miles the day previous to the accident and had received only three or four hours sleep that night. He told of driving to Alberton on the day of the accident and he and his brother-in-law bought a quart of whiskey at the liquor store in Alberton and each had taken a drink before their noon dinner.

After dinner, the two men visited Shea's farm in Montrose. On arriving at Shea's accused stated he started down an outside cellar steps to see Mr. Shea when he slipped on the icy steps and fell to the basement, hurting his arm and elbow.

Accused stated he was taken into the kitchen of the house and a mixture of half rubbing alcohol and half absorbine applied to his arm. This mixture was used for treatment of horses on the Shea farm.

It was later decided that Wallace should see a doctor about his arm. It was on this trip that the accident occurred. Wallace told of driving in a westerly direction, going to turn south on Main Street off Church. He flashed his signal light; he could see Doyle coming up the hill on Church. The street was icy and snow was falling. Doyle had to make a jog to proceed east, so Wallace could not avoid hitting him. He was going 15 m.p.h.

GAVE EXPLANATION

In allowing the appeal, Mr. Justice Tweedy said "the witnesses for the defence and the accused gave an explanation of all the suspicious circumstances of the case. The long drive from Montreal and the loss of sleep would tend to make Wallace's eyes glassy. His speech normaly has a slight impediment. The treatment of the elbow as described would account for the smell of alcohol".

Mr. Justice Tweedy further stated "this is a borderline case, and for that reason I have set out the facts in detail. However, after carefully considering the whole matter, I am unable to find, beyond a reasonable doubt that the accused unlawfully drove a motor vehicle while his ability to do so was impaired. Being fully recognizant of that golden rule that in such a case the benefit of the doubt must be given to the accused, I am dismissing the charge against him".

The appeal was therefore allowed, the conviction quashed and the information against the accused dismissed with costs to be paid by the Crown to accused of $25.

Counsel for the defence was J. Watson MacNaught, QC; for the Crown (respondent) George R. McMahon.
