THE DAILY EXAMINER. FEBRUARY 2 1893.

The prospects for Canadian distillers are not bright. The production of spirits for several years past has been far in excess of the consumption of the domestic article.

The Liberal Conservative Association of Annapolis County have tendered to Sir John Thompson their heartfelt congratulations on his elevation to the highest position in the gift of the sovereign within this great dominion.

The New York Sun keeps up the agitation in favor of annexing Canada. In a recent issue it declared that, "The determination of the (Canadian) case rests in truth with Mr. Cleveland and the Democratic party."

Mr. Blaine's Last Act. Mr. Blaine uttered no "last words." His passing away, however, while silent, was conscious, and was marked by a final scene which gave proof of his faith in God and heaven.

Dairying a Specialty for P. E. Island.

Our dairying must be carried on on the co-operative plan to insure success. We must make a specialty of it in order that we may have large quantities of dairy produce to place on the market.

Trade will always come where produce in sufficient quantities offers. Nova Scotia has no difficulty in shipping apples direct from Annapolis to Great Britain.

With cheese to the value of $400,000 to export we would have no difficulty in establishing a direct trade with England.

In starting the manufacture of cheese in this province we ought to begin right, and the right way to begin is by paying patrons according to the quality of the milk they deliver at the factory.

With cheese to the value of $400,000 to export we would have no difficulty in establishing a direct trade with England.

The value of milk for the manufacture of butter or cheese depends on the amount of fat it contains. The percentage of fat in milk varies all the way from three to eight per cent.

Some say, "Oh, if we go into cheese-making so extensively, the place will soon come down." Well, let us look into this and see what truth there is in the statement.

During last year we exported $12,500,000 worth of cheese to Great Britain, still the price is higher than it was twenty years ago notwithstanding that during this time the United States have also largely increased their export to that market.

The great bulk of people are only just beginning to realize that cheese is not only a cheap but a very wholesome and nourishing article of diet.

The market for dairy produce has held up while the prices of beef and grain have been gradually declining, till in the case of grain it is lower than ever known before.

The produce of the farm that requires most skill in its preparation will always pay best. So we will receive a double profit from the manufacture of the raw products of our farms into highly concentrated articles of food.

The first profit will be in returning to our soil the most of the fertilizing ingredients which the plant has taken from it—which is our only salvation as farmers—and the second the enhanced price we will receive as a reward for the skill and intelligence we have used in the preparation of the fruits of the earth for the sustenance of the race.

Mabel Stevens's Death.

EVIDENCE BEFORE THE CORONER'S JURY ON MONDAY AFTERNOON.

A Moncton despatch to the Halifax Herald, under date of Jan. 30, reads as follows: The coroner's inquest concerning the death of Mabel Glennie Hallet Stevens, the adopted daughter of H. T. Stevens, was resumed this afternoon in council chamber. Undertaker Tuttle gave evidence concerning the funeral arrangements, but noticed nothing unusual, except a slight mark above the left eye.

The OAR—Advices from London state that the sculling race between George B. Dear, of England, and George Hosmer, of Boston, took place on Monday morning, and was won by Hosmer by about five lengths. The course was 4 1/2 miles. The race was for the Championship of England and a stake of $2,000.

Sir Charles Tupper thinks—in a recent interview—that the discussion in England regarding a duty upon United States corn and cattle, coupled with Lord Salisbury's Protectionist speech at Hastings, helped to defeat President Harrison. Even the bare threat of such a thing as British duties was enough to frighten the average Yankee.

United States Export of Gold.

The renewal of exports of gold in considerable amounts has fallen as a wet blanket on Wall Street. One explanation of the outflow, given by Mr. Clews, of New York, seems to be that the silver situation is creating a disposition among European banks to keep and to increase their stocks of gold; and another, a specific one, that in view of the political dangers that now so closely threaten France, the Bank of France deems it prudent to fortify its position by augmenting its reserve of gold.

West River Notes.

The principal occupation of farmers in this cold weather is feeding their stock, and cutting and hauling firewood and fence poles. Mussel mud digging has not yet commenced, but with good ice, which we now have, this work will soon be on—but not to the same extent as in former years, as experience shows, that more stable manure, and less mussel mud is required for the soil, in order to sustain its fertility.

A former boarding house keeper of your city, Mr. Foy, has recently purchased a fine farm in this locality. Mr. Foy is heartily welcomed to Long Creek; among friends and neighbors.

Dams rumor says that two leading residents of West River will very soon join the noble army of Benedictines, due notice of which THE EXAMINER will no doubt furnish its readers.

A goodly number of our young people went to Burns' concert last week, and were much delighted with the performance. The pictures of Scotch views, especially that of the home of Robbie Burns, was to them truly interesting.

Judge Alley, of your city, is announced to deliver a lecture here on Monday evening, the 6th February. Subject—"Prince Edward Island one hundred years ago, with special reference to West River." Doubtless the learned gentleman will touch upon the landing of early emigrants from Europe and elsewhere. This lecture is all the talk among the people that the Judge will be greeted by a large audience is confidently expected.—Com.
