FOR THE WOMEN

Broiling in Paper.

An exchange says that chops, birds and dry fish are most delicate when broiled in paper. Use heavy white note paper spread with olive oil or butter. When the article to be broiled is laid therein, salted and peppered, the edges of the paper case should be turned over several times like a little hem, and pinched together close to the meat. The paper will char a long time before igniting, and the contents will be pasted in their own juices. The time required for broiling in paper is usually eight minutes. When the paper is well browned, the contents will be done to a turn—juicy, delicate and digestible for even the stomach of an invalid. Serve in its envelope, which conserves the heat and juice to the moment of eating. The large fillet of chicken broiled in this way is delicious and easy of assimilation.

Lamps.

Every good house-keeper takes a pride in caring for the lamps and keeping them in the best possible condition. Lamp flues can be hardened and rendered less likely to break by putting them in a pantul of cold water, and allowing it to heat gradually. Boil them ten minutes, cool slowly, and they will be ready for use. A little hay or straw should be put in the bottom of the pan to prevent breaking, and flues should not be allowed to touch each other.

A clear light is not only cheerful and pleasant, but it is better for the eyes than a dull flickering one, and it is impossible to have clear lights unless the flues and burners are kept clean and bright. Wash the flues every morning if the lamp has been used the night before, and wipe dry with a soft cloth that leaves no lint. Keep them full of oil, and put a small piece of camphor in the oil receptacle to prevent an unpleasant odour and improve the illuminating power. An excellent method of cleaning the burners is to dissolve a tablespoonful of pearline in a quart of water, and boil them in these suds ten minutes, after which they may be wiped dry with a cloth and will look like new. This should be done once a week, and if you begin when the burners are new, they will not tarnish or turn black as many burners do after using them a few months. This treatment will keep the small tubes on each side of the wick clear of the gummy substance that collects in them, improving the lights, and lessening the danger of explosion. Use a shade on the lamp whenever you are reading at night, and the best colors are green and pink. Crepe paper makes beautiful shades and is so inexpensive that one can afford to cast the shades aside when they are soiled. These shades improved the appearance of the lamps, and save the eyes wonderfully.—Adv.

Marketing Notes

It requires an experienced housewife to distinguish between good and inferior bacon. The best bacon is fine in grain and of a bright pink, with firm white fat. Bacon which has yellow fat and any suspicion of a musty odor, should not be purchased; and if bacon is very highly colored, and the fat inclined to be pink, it has probably been over-salted, and when very moist and raw in appearance it has not been salted long enough.

Spots Cleaned by Chalk.

French chalk, tooth chalk, chalk pencil—any chalk—is an agent for cleansing in an endless variety of ways. Rub it into grease spots on dresses, wall paper, anything; it may be rubbed into spots, such as molasses, with excellent effect. It disintegrates the dirt so that it can be scratched or rubbed out. Even on washing dresses this easy remedy is well worth applying. Not only spots, but the hand rubbed soiled parts may sometimes be restored or at least improved. Rub on the chalk and hang the garment away over night or for days, to be brushed clean when used again.—Canadian Home Journal.

A Crippled Rheumatic Restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills

Woods' Great Peppermint Cure, May 22.—Never, in the social history of this town since the B. Hall trial, has such great interest been shown as the "Cutmore Case" has caused.

Mr. C. J. Cutmore, 91 Main Street, was crippled by Rheumatism and Lumbago during five years. He couldn't stand straight, and had to be helped from his room.

To-day he is straight and strong; sound in every limb, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Other remedies were used, but did no good. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him. Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

When the system is run down, a person becomes an easy prey to Consumption or Scrofula. Many valuable lives are saved by using Scott's Emulsion as soon as a decline in health is obtained.

The statement from Manila that Admiral Dewey is in greater dread of the reception in store for him when he shall set foot on his native land than he was of his reception at Manila when he visited that port in the early morning of May 1, 1898, without asking permission of the commanders of the Spanish forts and fleets, is probably correct. The lion hunters, souvenir collectors, hero-worshippers, etc., are preparing for a vigorous campaign.
