TAKE WARNING!

Neglect Not These Signals of Danger.

A Useful Lesson on Health Taught by The Indians' Example.

Let the Remedy be Simple and Safe—Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.

If you are ailing, not exactly sick but not feeling "just right," have a drowsy, dull feeling, bad taste in the mouth, variable appetite, occasional pains in the joints and muscles, and other signs of impending sickness, why not get the Kickapoo Indian Sagwa?

A water carrier, with his goat skin bag on his back and his finger on the tube through which the water comes, jostles you on one side, and a slave as black and shiny as a patent leather boot shows you on the other as he makes way for his master on a fine white Arabian horse with brilliant trappings and a huge conical turban.

That white, furry tongue denotes your liver is out of order, and disease would easily take root in your system.

What could you do then? Think of your business, your income and your family.

Seek safety as you would fly from cholera or small pox.

You are in danger if you neglect these warnings. They may pass off, but the chances are against you, and even then the poison is only latent in your system.

Do not, however, put your trust in the numerous mineral medicines with which the market is flooded.

The action of many of these is to irritate the bowels, and the result is to drive the poison into the system.

IN TANGIER.

There Are Hundreds of Slaves to Be Seen Everywhere.

Tangier's beauty lies in so many different things—in the mountain peaks of the west and in the white m. filled figures of the women; in the brilliancy of the sky, and of the sea dashing upon the rocks and tossing the feluccas with their three-masted sails from side to side; and in the green towers of the mosques; and the listless leaves of the royal palms rising from the center of a mass of white roofs; and, above all, in the color and movement of the bazars and streets. The streets represent absolute equality. They are all the level but three yards across, and every one pushes
