In Memoriam.

TO DAY is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the death of the late Hon. Edward Whelan. Mr. Whelan will long be remembered as one of the greatest orators who ever appeared on the scene of Canadian politics. For twenty years—the whole of his manhood, one might say—he served as a representative in the legislature. During a period of unusual political activity—he showed himself to be a strong upholder of the people's rights—a patriot in the highest sense of the word. Looking backward through the history of the Province, no man can be found whose memory is more deserving. We hope that the committee who have the matter of a monument to him in hand, will make an effort to accomplish their work without any unnecessary delay. To quote the lines of T. D'Arcy McGee, which we take from Mr. McCourt's work—"Speeches of Hon. Edward Whelan :"

Long may thy Island home
Look for thy like to come—
Few may she ever
Find more deserving trust,
Freer from thoughts unjust
Than this heart in the dust
At rest—and forever.

Sharp Practice!

TO DAY is like a day in May or early September. But the steamer St. Lawrence is laid up in her dock and the steamer Stanley is plying between Charlottetown and Pictou—charging midwinter rates and fares! It is stated that when the Stanley began the season the rates and fares charged on the St. Lawrence were charged on her, and that as soon as the Steam Navigation Company were out of the competition against the Government, the winter rates were charged on board the Stanley. We feel sure that such sharp practice has not been ventured upon with the knowledge or consent of the Government. The result is that no one here uses the Stanley unless he is forced to do so. Traffic on the Charlottetown-Pictou route is either stopped or is being forced into other vessels.

Wheat.

THE low price of wheat and flour throughtut the world is one of the remarkable features of this season. Wheat has never been lower. Quotations show that winter wheat grown in Ontario is fetching only 63c, and spring wheat 61c.; while Manitoba wheat, No. 1, hard, is offering at 82c., No. 2, hard, 79c., No. 3, hard, 72c., No. 1, northern, 80c., and No. 2 frosted, 55c. These are the prices in the markets, after railway freights, elevator charges, insurance, etc., have been paid. Farmers in the West have consequently received little, if anything, more than fifty cents per bushel for their wheat. It is, we suppose, good for the world that the staff of life is held so cheap, though it is hard upon the western farmer whose chief product it is. But is wheat so very plentiful that the low price will probably be long maintained? Advices from Great Britain are to the effect that the markets there are just now glutted. But advices from the States and Canada alike state that the supply of wheat is short of what was anticipated. Consequently, it may be that those dealers, here and elsewhere, who are buying and "holding for a rise" will make a good profit next spring and summer. The people of this Island, are not likely, as a whole, to be effected much one way or the other. They have enough, or nearly enough, though not perhaps so much as they hoped for; but they have little or none for export. Last year they saved a lot of money because it was not necessary for them to import much flour. They might have done a great deal bigger trade, and yet not have been so well off; for they saved the money resulting from sales of oats, etc., which would have gone abroad to purchase flour if there had been a shortage of wheat. It is pleasing to note that our crops of wheat have, in recent years, been well maintained, and that more and more wheat is being grown here. The better classes of wheat have lately been produced here with complete success. It is particularly pleasing to learn that experiments with the famous Manitoba Red Fyfe variety—of which a car-load was imported last spring by Messrs. Carter Bros.,—have been successful beyond expectation.

Personal.

Mr. James E. Birch, of Alberton was in town yesterday.

Mr. C. D. Rankin has returned from his business trip to St. John.

Dr. Darrach, of Kengington, was registered at the Hotel Davies last evening.

Mr. W. B. Newsom, formerly of Prince Edward Island, has just been elected Treasurer of the St. James' Ward, Toronto, Liberal-Conservative Association. He will make an excellent officer.

Stephen Tugwell, of Stella, Ont., writes this remarkable paragraph: "I have a brother in Chicago who will be 80 on December 12. I am in my 85th year. In Chicago the grandchildren number 19; at Hay Bay, 8; in Prince Edward Island, 8; in Amherst Island, 34; total, 69. The grand parents were: John Tugwell, 97; Elizabeth Tugwell, 93. Their 10 children are: Elizabeth, 89; John, 92; Thomas, 55; Jemima, 70; Mary, 80; Richard, 97; Charlotte, 76; Robert, 63; William, 45; Philip, 69, and I am one of the old veterans who stood firm for Canada's rights in 1837-'39."

Written for The Examiner.

Home From School.

Oh! sweet the whispers of the Spring
Which stir the greening leaves;
And sweet the melodies which ring
Through Autumn's golden sheaves.
Oh! sweet the prattle of the rill
As, in its youthful pride,
It danceth down the smiling hill
To join the foaming tide.

But, sweeter far than nature's chime
Unto a mother's ear;
More tender than the river's rhyme
Those tones she lists to hear.
Those notes unset to music's rule;
Those high-strung notes of joy,
Which herald coming home from school;
The coming of her boy.

Oh! beauteous are the rainbow hues
Which deck the oriole's wing;
And sparkling bright the pearly dews
Which 'round fair morning cling.
Oh! lovely are the flowers which wreathe
Heaven's hope o'er earth's dark wold;
And grander far than aught beneath,
Those orbs of gleaming gold.

But, unto mother-love aye true,
More bright than beryl sky
That boyish form against the blue,
With ensign cap swung high.
The beauty of that fair young face
Outshines heaven's clearest star;
Nor ills of time will blur its grace,
Nor fate impress one scar.

The waning year is nigh its round,
The air is crisp and cool;
Though footsteps linger, love, unbound,
Doth greet my boys from school.
I feel the shadows lengthening,
The twilight slipping fast;
Yet, through the good God strengthening,
Dark night is soon o'erpast.

Methinks, even in that holier land,
I'll cross the pearly floor,
And by the blessed angel stand
Who guards the hallowed door.
And, while seraphic voices soar,
Amid supremest joys
From earth's hard school, I'll list once more
To welcome home my boys.

MRS. MACLEOD.

—The twentieth anniversary of the Papyrus was celebrated in Boston a few days ago. Mr. James Jeffrey Roche, son of Edward Roche, Esq., of this city, contributed for the occasion the following excellent poem :—

WHEN THE WORLD WAS YOUNG.

When the world was young and we all were wise—
Too wise to dream it could ever grow old—
We looked on the present with laughing eyes,
Nor cared what the future in store might hold.

We know, with the wisdom of splendid youth,
That here and now are the first and last;
To-morrow is doubt, but to-day is truth,
And yesterday is the hoary past.

The blood ran free when the world was young;
There was never a nerve in the hardy frame;
Man's words flew straight from a single tongue;
And love or hate was an honest game.

When the world was young—but when was that?
Ah, that is the secret the old men know;
Whatever their age, or wherever they're "at,"
It was always just twenty years ago.

If the wisdom of age would only speak,
It would coin you a ninth Beatitude:
"Blest are the young (though they be not meek),
For they know not fear, and they are not shrewd."

How we ploughed and planted the fertile field,
In the brave, bright springtime long ago!
What a rich, ripe harvest the wild oats yield,
That are always sure, although sometimes slow!

Did we laugh at the beards of our elders then?
Well, God forgive us! we did, perhaps.
Laugh at ours now, if you will, young men—
Your sons one day will call you "old chaps."

Give us lowly place in the furthest rear,
But spare the infirmities of age;
Let the bald heads sit where they all can hear,
When a ballet or spectacle's on the stage.

Don't look for young heads on shoulder's bowed
With the weight of years and the daily task;
Don't ask us to feast with the thoughtless crowd,
When a bird and a bottle are all we ask.

But whatever you say, or whatever you think,
Till the young be old, and the old no more,
Give a tender thought, as the Cup you drink,
To the dear brothers who've gone before.

So our love as the banyan tree shall grow,
New strength from the fallen bough upsprung,
When to-night shall be twenty years ago,"
And Papyrus still, as forever young.

Literary Club.

THE literary and depating club of the Benevolent Irish Society was formally opened last night with a good attendance. The rooms, which have been lately fitted up, presented a very attractive appearance, and reflects great credit upon this time-honored society. Mr. P. F. Doyle, chairman of the debating club, presided, and Miss Murphy, who accompanied the soloists, opened the proceedings with appropriate music, which was followed by a short address by the President of the Benevolent Irish Society. Miss Smith, who has an excellent voice, sang a very pretty solo, and Mr. Chas. Bell, who is always a popular number, sang "The Meeting of the Waters," remarkably well. Mr. F. Trainor sang a capital solo and also gave a humorous recitation, which created laughter. Mr. R. F. Maddigan gave a first-rate reading entitled "Pat O'Connor," and Mr. Dempsy played some excellent selections on the violin, which were highly appreciated. A neat and appropriate address on the object of the organization was given, and Mr. William Murphy rendered some popular musical selections, which received hearty applause. On the whole, the opening performance was a success and augurs well for the future. Owing to the lecture in the Lyceum on Thursday night, the club have postponed their weekly debate until Friday night.

The club elected the following officers for the current term: Chairman—P. F. Doyle; Vice-Chairman—John Connolly; Treasurer—John Corcoran; Secretary—R. F. Maddigan.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXAMINER

A LIBERAL REVOLT.

Some Supporters of Gladstone Will Not Support the Home Rule Bill and Other Measures.

LONDON, Dec. 10.

Sir Edwin Reid publishes a long letter revealing a revolt on the part of many Liberals. He declares that he and other commoners will not be a party to any Home Rule scheme giving Ireland control of anything more than purely local and domestic affairs. He will not assist in any separation or agitation to release the prisoners, and on a question like the evicted tenants they will vote independently, as he thinks is just and right to all.

Graveyard Insurance.

Another Sensational Revelation.

ST. JOHN, Dec. 10.

The second set of graveyard insurance prosecutions bids fair to be as sensational as the first. Mr. Pugsley, in opening, set out that the Weltons had effected $8,500 insurance on the life of Donald Morrison, who was then dying of consumption.

Loyal and Patriotic Farmers.

TORONTO, Dec. 10.

Great interest was evinced at the meeting held last evening in Victoria, Simcoe County, where Col. Tisdale, M. P., was addressing his constituents. The audience, composed of Protestent farmers, cheered to the echo the Queen and Canada's Premier, Sir John Thompson.

New Church at Miscouche.

THE DEDICATORY SERVICE ON THURSDAY LAST.

The dedication of the new church of St. John the Baptist, Miscouche, took place on Thursday last, the feast of the Immaculate Conception, with the impressive and solemn ceremonial prescribed by the Roman ritual. His Lordship Bishop Macdonald officiated, assisted by Rev. A. E Burke, Alberton, Rev. J. J. Macdonald, Kinkora, Rev. F. X. Gallant, Bloomfield, and the pastor, Rev. J. A. Macdonald. There was a very large congregation present, including many from Summerside, Wellington, Grand River, Indian River and other places.

At the close of the dedication ceremonies, Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by His Lordship, with Rev. L J. Macdonald, Grand River, as Arch-Priest, Revs. A. E. Burke and J. J. Macdonald as Deacon and Sub-Deacon respectively, and Rev. F. X. Gallant as Master of Ceremonies. The vestments worn by the officiating clergy were very handsome, the altar was beautifully decorated, and the music was choice. Broar's Festival Mass was sung, with the Gloria and Credo of Peter's Mass, introducing several fine solos.

At the conclusion of the first Gospel, the Rev. Ronald B. Macdonald, of Rustico, preached in English, and after the Mass was over the Rev. F. X. Gallant addressed the congregation in French. Both discourses were able and eloquent.

The new church is one of which the people of Miscouche may well feel proud. The interior is very handsome and is beautifully finished in pure white, with shapely arches and pillars, and very pretty cornices and capitals, finished in leaves and clusters of grapes. The sanctuary is well arranged, and is connected by two doors with a large sacristy. The pews are finished in ash and walnut, and are handsome, roomy and comfortable. At the rear there is a large choir gallery. The lower windows are plain, and the upper ones are of colored glass. The main entrance is in the centre of the western end of the building, and there are entrances in the towers which adorn the northwest and southwest corners of the building, which, as a whole, is one of the finest church edifices in the province.—Agriculturist.
