Brighter Future Seen For Boy, 4 and Sister, 2

Father and Friend Protect Children!

Last winter, a young father told a Confederation Man: "Fred, you know how much is left of my $5,000 income after payments on my house... food and clothing bills... and all the other expenses. How much protection can I afford for my family?" "A lot more than you think, Jim," replied the Confederation Man. "We have a plan that, on your salary, will provide for your family $10,000 in cash at death... and $100 every month until your daughter is 21. Then, they'll receive another $10,000. In the event of death after your daughter is 21 this plan provides $20,000 in cash. That's enough to provide a brighter future!" That's how a Confederation Life Man helped one father protect his family. He can help you too!

ALUMINUM has a habit of turning up almost everywhere. But "farthest north" was reached recently, when a U.S. Air Force pilot set down his aircraft at the geographic North Pole - on a pair of aluminum skis. Aluminum's lightness - with strength has made it the basic material of the aircraft industry. And because aluminum is only 1/3 to 1/2 as heavy as other base metals, a pound of it goes a lot further. Which is one more reason why so many manufacturers of so many products have turned to aluminum to help keep their prices down. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

A Country Garden

mostly set at the back of houses, are as full of bloom as open-air conservatories. Camellias, roses, calla lilies, heliotrope and fuschias are among San Francisco's favourite flowers. From the gardener's point of view the Bay area as a whole probably offers more diversity of climate and soil than any other comparable area. You may choose your district by the flowers you want to grow. Yet, for all its Mediterranean-like temperate tolerance the climate makes by no means easy going for a gardener. The summer is sunless, overcast and dry on account of the trade winds blowing through the city streets, carrying with them, as they sweep through the Golden Gate, the sea fog that hides the city from the sun.

Oregon and Washington are as garden-minded as England. Both Portland and Seattle are gardeners' cities.

Portland is the City of Roses, so called for the roses that have so long been grown along the sidewalks, and which they display so magnificently in the Municipal Rose Garden and honour annually by the Rose Parade. It is, also, the citadel of the iris and polyanthus enthusiasts; also, as in Seattle, increasingly of the rhododendron and azalea lovers. Seattle has a climate nearest to that in England of any spot in all America. The frost dates are a month earlier in the fall, and frost stays a month later in the spring. Certainly the northwest has the best garden climate in America, and possesses much native material of great horticultural value. The gardeners have matched their gardens to their setting. And what gardens they are! They have adapted certain English and Spanish characteristics, yet are peculiarly all-American. Swimming pool, barbecue, stone terracing and wide roofed verandas; the skillful use of fundamental evergreens carefully chosen for their texture, height and color, all contribute to the creation of a garden which is, in fact, an outdoor living room. This room is in constant use in the summer, for entertainment and for relaxation. In winter it still retains a pleasantly furnished atmosphere. There is no perceptible difference as you walk from the house, with its house plants around the tremendous windows, into the open garden. House and garden are one. I think that even in our climate we can adopt some of the ideas in our own gardens so that many weeks can be added to the garden season.
