The Turf.

To the Editor of the Examiner.
SIR,—As Dr. Jenkins' mare "Abdallah Maid" has done so well in the races at Amherst, recently, could not a match be arranged between her and the two who contested the other day for the championship of P. E. I., namely, "French Sporter" and "Fairy"? Some dissatisfaction, it seems, occurred in the last race, and this would be a good way to settle it. Yours,
OBSERVER.
Ch'town, July 13, 1878.

Old Men.

Hon. Mr. Chandler, at the age of 78, assumes the duties of Governor of New Brunswick. We are accustomed to look across the water—to the Old World—for instances in which old men are actively engaged in the political arena, or filling important positions in diplomatic circles, but here is an instance among ourselves of a gentleman, with the weight of 78 years upon his shoulders, assuming the burdens of an office of much responsibility, and one weighted with duties involving considerable mental strain. We congratulate the hon. gentleman on the position he has attained, and we are pleased to learn that he is in the enjoyment of a ripe old age which enables him to bring into the exercise of the high functions of his office the matured wisdom which long years of an active life in the service of his country has enabled him to gather up.—Hc. Reporter.

The Fishery Commission.

The Boston Herald publishes the defence of Mr. Kellogg, the American member of the Halifax Fishery Commission, denying that Sir Edward Thornton had placed him under social obligations, also denying the report that Kellogg is of unsound mind. It is added that the award was first fixed by the other Commissioners at four and a half millions. Mr. Kellogg refused to sign when they raised it one million. It is reported that M. Delfosse, on being asked why he had agreed to make the United States pay $5,500,000, the Belgian answered: "It was a great international question. I did not go there to listen to the testimony of a parcel of fishermen. We took the various totals submitted and split the difference." A prominent citizen who attended the sessions of the commission, says the great mistake in the first place was fixing upon Halifax as the place of holding the sittings. The feeling in Halifax was that our Government had got in the Geneva award several millions more than it was entitled to, and that this surplus should be restored in the way of compensation for alleged fishery damages.

One of Mr. Perry's Misrepresentations.

Mr. Perry, one of the members for Prince County, in Prince Edward Island, has been making a speech at a meeting called by himself, but which turned out to be overwhelming against him. As an illustration of the kind of thing which Prince Edward Island Grits talk, we give the following: "He also dwelt on the misrepresentations made against the Mackenzie Government, and the transaction of the 'Steel Rail Purchase.' And he showed the meeting the apology given by the Weekly Canadian, who had charged Mr. Mackenzie of purchasing steel rails from a firm who was represented by his brother." There is nothing like going it strong when one is at it. The apology of the proprietor of the Weekly Canadian had nothing to do with the steel rail purchase. The charge of Mr. Mackenzie's favoritism in that matter, to the firm of which his brother was a partner, has not been challenged by him in the Courts—in spite of all his bluster—and has never been apologised for or withdrawn. The facts in that case have so strong a backing in the official record as to make the Premier most unwilling to provoke enquiry concerning them, and to make those who are responsible for the charge quite prepared to stand by it.—Montreal Gazette.

An Astonishing Fact.

A large proportion of the American people are to-day dying from the effects of Dyspepsia or disordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of druggists and your friends, and try one bottle of Green's August Flower. Your speedy relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues, with satisfactory results in every case. You can buy a sample bottle for 19 cents to try. Three doses will relieve the worst case. Positively sold by all druggists on the Western Continent.

If you want a nice dish of White Mountain Ice Cream go to the BEEHIVE Temperance Saloon, (late R. Wright's Grocery Store), opposite St. Paul's Church, Prince Street.—6in eod daily pat.

End of the War in Africa.

The Cape Town Standard and Mail, summing up the results of the war with the natives in South Africa, says only a few small parties of the enemy remain. A number of chiefs have been taken prisoners, others were killed or surrendered, and the only man of influence at liberty is Kreli. The loss of life of the insurgents is much more severe than the natives experienced in any previous outbreak. It may be said that their power as a people has been utterly destroyed.

Lord Salisbury on the Results of the Congress.

An official despatch from the Marquis of Salisbury to the ministers who remained in London, dated Berlin, July 13, is published. Lord Salisbury says that the modifications obtained at Congress are very large and affect almost all the articles of the treaty. They have recovered large territory for the Sultan, and tend to insure the stability and independence of Turkey. The despatch combats the allegation that the Government had abandoned their policy as indicated in Lord Salisbury's circular of January 4th. For this purpose it compares point by point the policy indicated by the circular with the decision adopted by Congress. The comparison shows the object of the British policy, namely, the prevention of Russian preponderance has been substantially attained. Lord Salisbury especially points to the fact that pecuniary indemnity has been altogether excluded from the treaty, the Berlin Congress having dreaded to revise an arrangement which being an infraction of the Treaty of Paris, it was within the competence of two independent powers to conclude. The result of the declaration, made by Russians in Congress, that they would neither claim territory in lieu of indemnity nor prejudice the claims of other creditors, and that payment of the indemnity is postponed to an infinitely remote period. Lord Salisbury concludes whether any use will be made of this—probably the last opportunity obtained for Turkey by interposition of the Powers, and particularly by England—depends on the sincerity with which Turkish statesmen now address themselves to the duties of good government and reform.

The Partizan Governor of Quebec.

What must the public think of the following particulars related by the Montreal Gazette's correspondent, who is present at Quebec. We quote:—

M. Letellier is at the House almost daily in the Speaker's room of the Legislative Assembly or Legislative Council and devotes himself to a personal canvass of members to induce them to support the Government. The method of operation is as follows: Some member of the Assembly who is supposed to be not very stiff in the back is invited into the Speaker's room, say of the Legislative Council; he takes a drink and presently the Lieutenant-Governor makes his appearance, and of course is glad to see the member; another drink or two follow. His Honor is so condescending and free in his manners, and when the proper relations are established, His Honor introduces the party question, pressing upon the member his duty as a patriotic man to support the Government. The thing is done in the most engaging manner. Mr. Letellier has even descended so far as to act as whip to his party, having the other day actually sought a pair for one of the Ministerialists, among the Opposition ranks.

Those who prate about constitutional government and yet secretly approve, even openly endorse, the disgraceful conduct of M. Letellier, cannot possibly possess that self-respect, that love of free institutions without which no country, no people, no Province can possibly hope to progress. When the popular will permits itself to be ruled by a one man power, when it becomes subservient to selfish usurpation and back stair influence, depend upon it slavery is not far off—and to-day in the Province of Quebec we see firmly established a man who drawing his authority from the Crown, drags that Crown through endless labyrinths of filth, merely to strengthen a political party to whom he owes his appointment. To think that any local Premier would so far demean himself as to hold office by the grace of a purchased speaker and the canvassing of a recreant Lieutenant Governor, is a matter that should be deplored by every honest man in the Dominion.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.—An English weekly journal announces it as certain that Lord Dufferin will be rewarded on his return to England with an Irish Marquisate. The New York World in noticing the fact says "that will be a very good thing for the noble order of marquises, which, by the way, has always flourished, especially in Ireland. The first Marquis of English history was Edward de Vere, made Marquis of Dublin in 1830, and Ireland to-day has rather more than her share of Marquisates, possessing eleven against seventeen in England and four in Scotland." The World, in conclusion, makes the following good suggestion: "If Lord Dufferin accepts this step in the peerage, why should he not take his new title from the New World and be known as the Marquis of Canada! There was a Lord Canada once in the English peerage, and in this case the title would indeed be a title of honor."

It is thought that the Quebec Legislature will be prorogued to-day (Friday). Mr. Jolly has pulled through wonderfully with his Speaker majority. He will now have a respite, but he must work diligently and wisely if he would have a majority of any sort when he meets the Legislature again.
