same time the Railway can be encouraged to use the proposed Causeway the cost to the Provincial Government would be considerably reduced," said the Premier.

MAKE INSPECTION
On Thursday the Premier and members of his Government along with engineers made an inspection tour of the Hillsboro Bridge both from below and above. He said the pier is in need of immediate pointing and on the deck some of the planks will need replacing. A diver's report, indicates that the buttments below the water are in good shape. "I'm not worried a bit about the safety of the bridge," the Premier said. "So long as a 20 mile an hour speed limit is maintained and a one-way traffic for trucks is kept up, there is no danger to anyone."

In connection with the building of a causeway, the Premier said that the Government's head engineer had been sent to Holland to study the dykes of that country and in turn a Dutch engineer had come to Prince Edward Island to make recommendations regarding a causeway at this point. In addition to this the Government has two trucks cannot pass inside. Bus driver Arthur Perry, 36, of Kingston, Ont., who was unhurt, said he saw the transport for the first time when an oncoming car flicked its lights.

John Bishop, 35, of Gananoque, Ont., driver of the transport, owned by McCaullum Transport Co., of Oshawa, escaped injury. His truck was empty at the time.

The bus began its trip in Amherst, N.S. Many of the passengers were Maritime residents holidaying in Ontario. Trapped in the wreckage for 20 minutes, Mrs. Diamond was finally freed and taken to nearby Oshawa hospital. She was accompanied by her 16-year-old son, Roy, who suffered a possible fractured hip.

CONDITION IMPROVED
Mrs. Diamond's condition was at first listed as critical, but hospital officials Friday night said she had improved slightly, through the day.

Police said most of the passengers were asleep when the crash came, and their relaxed position may have saved them from serious injury.

Keith Collins, 17, of Amherst, N.S., passed out after he got off the bus.

"This bus started swaying and people were screaming. I felt a stab of pain and felt blood coming down my head," he said. "After I got out I helped some others, out and then I braked out myself."

"The driver was wonderful," said Mrs. Wally Reid of Sydney Mines.

News of the accident was received in Charlottetown by Mrs. Clarence Duncan, daughter of Mrs. Diamond, at five o'clock yesterday morning when officials phoned from Ontario seeking information.

Mrs. Duncan telephoned her brothers and a sister whom the injured lady was en-route to visit who left immediately for the bedside of their mother.

A repeat late last night to Mrs. Duncan from relatives said that Mrs. Diamond had recovered sufficiently to recognize her sons Elmer, from Camp Borden, and Spurgeon and Philip of Toronto and her daughter, Mrs. Victor Askin of Ottawa, all of whom were still in hospital waiting developments. X-rays will be taken today to fully determine the extent of the injuries.

Roy Diamond, who lives with his mother at 53 Reserve Street in Charlottetown, accompanied her on the visit to Ontario. He was still a patient in another hospital but he is expected to be discharged by attending physicians.

World Can
is concerned.

He listed some of these problems — mounting armaments, for example.

Then he named a couple that the Russians don't want discussed at Geneva—the satellite states, or, as the president described them, "the captive states, once proud people that are not allowed their own government."

CONCILIATORY ATTITUDE
He mentioned, too, though not by that name, the West's problem of Communist subversion. He called it: "International interference in the internal affairs of free government, bringing about a situation that leads to subversion and difficulties and recriminations within the countries—sometimes, even revolution."

On the whole, however, the president's attitude was conciliatory—promising the United States will not reject any hand outstretched in true friendship.

Eisenhower said utility has dogged international conferences in the recent past because of mutual mistrust, because of misuse of the meetings as propaganda sounding boards.

They declared: "I say to you: If we can change the spirit in which these conferences are conducted, we will have taken the greatest step toward peace, toward future prosperity and tranquility that has ever been taken in all the history of mankind."

REMOVE FEAR
At the outset of the speech, he declared he was going to Geneva to attempt to free mankind from the fear of that "terrible scourge"—war.

Eisenhower said the common people of the world demand peace and that their governments are beginning to recognize and bow to this demand.

Eisenhower said the religions of the world are a strong factor for peace. The president said it is natural for a people steeped in religious faith to turn in time of crisis to their God for guidance.

He then proposed that in all churches of the U.S. next Sabbath Americans ask divine help and thus demonstrate to all the world the the opinion of O. J. MacCulloch, one of the consulting engineers on the Canso Causeway, which leads them to believe that such an undertaking is not only feasible but economically sound.

TWO WAY BRIDGE OUT
The Premier stated that in 1940 a proposal from an engineer, D. W. MacLaughlin, to build a two level bridge had been turned down as unfeasible due to the excessive cost and the fact that in freezing weather the ramps to the upper level would present a hazard due to ice conditions.

When asked when action would be taken in regard to the existing court injunction, the Premier said that he was in hopes some temporary plan could be arranged until something definite could be arrived at. In the meantime, he said the Provincial Department of Highways would carry out maintenance on the bridge.

Presentation To Manager

The presentation of a centre chair to Harold Morgan (left) and a pressure cooker to Mrs. Morgan, centre accompanied an address given in the breakfast room at the Charlottetown Hotel to Mr. Morgan by the hotel employee prior to his transfer to Edmonton Alta., as manager of the C.N.R. Hotel there.

In a brief address by Rex Hayes (right), on behalf of the staff reference was made to the friendly interest taken in the employees and the fairness of Mr. Morgan in his dealing with the employees. Regret was expressed that Mr. and Mrs. Morgan had not been privileged to see more of the island as his exacting duties required his presence on the job during the busy summer season, when the province was at its best. It was hoped that at a future date an opportunity to return and renew friendships would present itself.

The presentation of a Lazy-Boy chair to Mr. Morgan and a pressure cooker to Mrs. Morgan was acknowledged with grateful thanks by Mr. Morgan who retorted leaving here at such a time but assured his fellow employees that his tour of duty here would always be recalled with great pleasure. Mr. Morgan has been closely identified with the Rotary Club of Charlottetown of which he is a member in addition to the Curling Club and the Golf Club.

Accompanied by their three boys, Kenneth, John and David, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan leave for Edmonton on Monday.

Street Dancing Proves Popular

Hundreds of dancers attended the Centennial street dance, which was held last night on the market square and judging from the enthusiasm with which the participants entered into the entertainment and the large number of spectators it attracted, street dancing is one of the most popular events that has taken place since the Centennial celebrations have begun.

Splendid music by Jackie Doyle and his orchestra was carried over a public address system. At first the young ladies were a bit reticent about joining in the fun but as the evening wore on, more and more couples were seen in the dancing square. Of course there was no scarcity of men because about 500 sailors from the three visiting warships were on hand, anxious to strut their stuff.

"Tonight there will be a dance at the Queen Charlotte High School for naval cadets and the usual Saturday evening dance will be held at the Rollaway Club.

Exhibition of Paintings By Island Artist

The exhibition of paintings and drawings by Hubert Rogers at the Centennial Civic Center is now open to the public. Featured are twenty-two works, mostly portraits, in oil, charcoal and water color. A fine craftsman, Mr. Rogers is chiefly interested in portraying character as it is revealed in a person's face.

Born in Alberton, P.E.I., he fought in the First World War; then studied in Toronto, Boston and other centers, illustrating for his earliest work in magazines such as Maclean's and various international publications. He has painted many well-known people, such as Churchill and Mackenzie King, and several studies of soldiers from his war experiences.

Notable at the exhibition here is his study of a girl's head, "The Music Student", and the portrait of actor John Carridine. The exhibition will be open to the public until Saturday, July 23; and all are cordially invited to attend.

Plan Security For Conference

GENEVA (Reuters) — British, American, French and Russian secret service men agreed here Friday on security arrangements for the arrival of the Big Four leaders this weekend.

The security precautions being laid down by the four nations in co-operation with Switzerland are blanketing this lakeside town with the strictest police and military control.

A bullet-proof secret service car, a Cadillac sedan and a Lincoln convertible are being flown here from the U.S. for the use of President Eisenhower and his party. Six Russian limousines, two of them armored and with bullet-proof windows, arrived Thursday night.

Friday's rehearsal, intently watched by security officials of the four nations and Swiss police and military officials, was pronounced satisfactory.

The bureau of statistics reported Friday, however, that the number of new houses completed in May dropped slightly to 8,332, down one per cent from 8,424 last year. But the number completed in the first five months totalled 41,239, up 16 per cent from 35,525 last year.

One of the social highlights of the Centennial year was the ball given last evening by His Honour the Lieutenant Governor T. W. L. Prowse and Mrs. Prowse at Government House. It was in honour of the cruiser H.M.C.S. Quebec and the destroyers H.M.C.S. Huron and H.M.C.S. Iroquois, now paying their official visit to Charlottetown.

In attendance on His Honour were Captain J. J. Connelly, V.D.; Surgeon Commander L. E. Prowse, V.D.; Lieut. Col. A. W. Rogers, E.D., and Wing Commander A.G. Macmillan.

The ballroom was gay with colour as the beautiful gowns of the lady guests contrasted with the gentlemen's attire and the military uniforms. Dancing was enjoyed to the music of Austin Connelly and his orchestra. Between dances the guests strolled about the floodlit lawns or formed conversation groups on the verandas, in the cool breezes from the harbour.

For the supper hour the long refectory table was centred with a beautiful arrangement of snapdragons and carnations, artistically complimented by a huge reflector framed with tiny pink rosebuds and flanked by pink tapers in silver candelabra.

Presiding at the urns during the supper hour were: Mrs. G. H. Buntala, Mrs. St. Clair Trainor, Mrs. J. N. Kenny, and Mrs. G. K. Peake.
