

Local and Other Items.

The Princess of Wales arrived from Point Du Chene and Summerside at noon yesterday.

The steamer Prince Edward sailed for Pictou at noon to-day to discharge the balance of her cargo and take a supply of coal.

We had a new moon yesterday morning. The weather then being unusually mild, we will, no doubt, have open weather till December.

The steamer "Princess of Wales" brought over from Point du Chene during the past week, two thousand four hundred and forty four barrels flour.

MR. EDWARD WYATT, of this city, passed a very creditable examination before John Caven, Esq., preparatory to entering the office of Messrs. Hodgson & McLeod, as a law student.

We learn that Mr. J. J. Chappell has been appointed to the office in the Railway Department vacated by Mr. J. W. McLeod. Mr. Chappell will, we have no doubt, prove a worthy and painstaking official.

The steamer M. A. Starr arrived from Halifax yesterday with a cargo of general merchandise and Mr. W. A. Hutchinson, wife and child, and five seamen, passengers. She will take freight and sail on her return trip this evening.

MR. ALEXANDER McDONALD, sub-editor of the Argus, was early this morning united in matrimony to Miss M. A. Ryan. We cordially congratulate the happy pair, and wish them every earthly happiness, as "hand in hand through life they go."

"BETTER late than never" was not altogether applicable to the case of a newly-married young man who was about to start on his bridal tour this morning, and who had the misfortune to see the 6.25 train glide off with his bride, and he unable to overtake it.

A CITY correspondent asks us to "kindly comment on the conduct of two or three girls who walk up and down Queen street after tea and insult ladies who pass there." He says his wife and sister have been insulted several times by the same parties, and if it happens again he will publish their names.

WHILE Mr. William Noonan, of Albany, Lot 27, was returning from Craupaud with a horse and cart on Tuesday night last, his horse took fright, and ran away, upsetting the cart and throwing Mr. Noonan out. The Progress says the box of the cart fell upon the man's body, and when found in the morning, he was dead. Deceased leaves a wife and small family.

PETER McNEILL, who killed Hector McNeill, in such a brutal manner recently at Washabok, Cape Breton, is in jail at Baddeck. The prisoner is a perfect specimen of a man of violent nature. His manner of speech is coarse and brutal, and he is said to have declared that he is "sorry he had not the chance to kill his man two or three times over."

DROWNED AT ALBERTON.—On Friday last as the master of a bark owned by John A. Matheson, Campbellton (whose name we have been unable to learn), was out shooting in company with a man named Wells, in Cascumpec Harbor, the boat accidentally upset. Wells, in attempting to swim ashore, was drowned. The other man climbed upon the bottom of the boat and was rescued in an unconscious condition.

"A BRIGHT OUTLOOK," "Brisk times," "Business Rushing," etc., are phrases the weight of which have been seldom felt, or their meanings properly understood within the past five years. But now, when we hear of ten marriage publications in one Church on a Sunday, it is impossible for us to continue without feeling the weight and knowing the meaning of the first, if not the remaining of these phrases.

THE GREAT NORTH WEST.—The well known traveller, Dr. Lanchin Taylor, of Toronto, whose Lectures on Eastern travel are well remembered in Charlottetown, will deliver a Lecture next Monday evening, December 2nd, in the Hall of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, on "Manitoba, Sas Katchewan and the Great North West." Dr. Taylor is at present in Halifax as one of the Special Committee for the Reception of the Marquis of Lorne; and during his visit to the Maritime Provinces will deliver several lectures.

WILLIAM MOORE, a native of this city, was horribly mangled on the railway track between Boston and Worcester on Tuesday night last. He was employed by the Boston Waterworks Company at Farmingham, Mass., and was run over in that town. One of his legs was carried 24 miles on the track beam of the passenger train, from Boston to Worcester. His body was terribly mangled and portions of it were strewn for 30 feet along the track. The young man is, we learn, the son of Mr. Joseph Moore, pensioner, St. Peter's Road.

On Saturday evening about half-past seven o'clock, a daring attempt was made to rob the store of Messrs. E. & B. Smith of a case of boots. The robber entered the front door of the store, and seized a case containing three or four dozen pairs of boots, and made off across Queen Street. A girl who was in the shop at the time, quickly followed him, shouting lustily for the police. There was a large number of people on the Street at the time, and the thief, in order to make his escape, dropped the box, and disappeared in the darkness of Richmond Street. No trace of him has yet been found.

THE bird's-eye view of Charlottetown is now completed, and Messrs. J. J. Stoner and W. R. Patchen will immediately commence the delivery of the copies subscribed for. We have examined the picture, and find it to surpass in neatness, correctness of plan and general duty, anything of like nature that we have had brought before us. Charlottetown should indeed feel proud of this lithographic production, and every house in the city should have hanging on its walls a picture where all the buildings, streets, avenues, etc., are so correctly and finely located. The sum of $500 was expended in order to bring this view to its perfect condition, and our citizens will not fail to appreciate the labor that has been done for them. Mr. Patchen informs us that only a few extra copies were printed; so if anyone who is not a subscriber wishes to obtain one, he will have to procure them at the present time.

City Council!

To the Editor of the Examiner: Sir—Can not the City Fathers do something to prevent those itinerant vendors of shoddy fancy goods, &c., from prosecuting their business in this City, at a great loss to our own citizens? About this season of the year we are visited with persons of this class, who are anxious to dispose of their bankrupt (?) stock at low prices.

Is it not too bad that our own merchants must suffer the loss of trade occasioned by the flooding of the market with worthless trash? The times have been, goodness knows, bad enough during the past year or two, and it is only right that our own people should be "protected" against impositions of this kind? Why will not our worthy Mayor and Council levy a tax upon those temporary sellers and compel them to pay into the City treasury an amount similar to that exacted in the other Provincial towns?

The Civic exchequer is sadly in need of funds, and it is to be hoped it may be slightly replenished in this manner. Yours, A SUFFERER.

New Publication.

Parson Brown: His Talk; or Evenings with Parson Brown. By an old acquaintance. Charlottetown, 1878.

This work has just been issued from the Nonpartei Printing Office. It is a neat publication. It deals with great mysteries of humanity and Christianity. In style it is very peculiar. It will, doubtless, be widely read. We have not yet had time to peruse it attentively; but we note that the Rev. J. V. Jost certifies that it is "not a rehash of other men's opinions; but the result of the authors deep, vigorous thinking, and is eminently original."

At the Stipendiary Magistrate's Court this forenoon, Frank McLeod, drunk and incapable, was fined $2 and costs or eight days. S. McKinnon, drunk and sleeping in a yard on Saturday evening, was fined the same. Michael Began appeared on summons for assaulting Joseph Hogan while he was at work on the Boston steamer, on Wednesday last. Joseph charged that Began struck him with a potato in the eye. His witness failed to substantiate the charge, and the case was dismissed. Joe protests that that witness was bribed.

THE English papers just arrived say that Dr. Newman is to be made a Cardinal, as Dr. Cullen's successor. But one writer says:—"Those who do know something on the subject believe that the late Cardinal's assistant, Dr. McCabo, will be his successor, and that no sensational appointment whatever will be made. Dr. MacCabe is, I believe, a very good type of the respectable Irish Parish Priest, and nothing more. He has never been accused of intellectual brilliancy or undiscovered greatness of any kind; but he is a good administrator, and was the protegee of the late Cardinal, which may not be much in his favour with the Dublin priests, but may be a recommendation at Rome. Failing him, the Cardinal's nephew, Bishop Moran, is named as the new archbishop. Dr. Moran was the executor of the Cardinal's policy in the country, and has earned favour by his energy in suppressing the well-known Father O'Keefe."

THE St. John Telegraph remarks that the coming of the Marquis of Lorne as Governor General of Canada, and of the Princess Louise, recalls the Governorship of the Duke of Richmond, who was, in one sense, connected with royalty, and who was of higher rank than any of his predecessors or successors. Indeed, he finally succeeded to two other Dukedoms, that of Lennox, in Scotland, and that of Aubigny, in France. This Duke was descended from an illegitimate son of Charles II., and he won some notoriety while he was simply Col. Lennox, by his duel, fought at Wimbledon with the Duke of York, one of the many sons of George III. The Duke of Richmond had been Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and became Governor General of Canada in 1818. He died suddenly on August 23rd, 1819, of hydrophobia, caused by the bite of a tame fox which he was caressing. The Acadian Recorder of March 4th, 1820, contains a memoir of the unfortunate Duke.
