

Energy That Succeeds.

The energy that wins success begins very early in life. The characteristics of the boy will commonly prove those of a man, and the best characteristics of young life should be encouraged and educated in the wisest possible manner.

After thirty years ago I stepped into a bookstore in Cincinnati, in search of some books that I wanted. While there, a little ragged boy, not over twelve years of age, came in and enquired for a geography.

"Plenty of them," was the salesman reply. "How much do they cost?" "One dollar my lad."

"I did not think they were so much," He turned to go out, and opened the door, but closed it again and came back.

"I've got sixty-one cents," said he, "could you let me have a geography and wait a little while for the rest of the money?"

How eager his little bright eyes looked for an answer, and how he seemed to shrink within his ragged clothes, when the man, not very kindly told him he could not. The disappointed little fellow looked up at me with a poor attempt to smile, and left the store. I followed and overtook him.

"And what now," I asked. "Try another place, sir."

"Shall I go too, and see how you succeed?" "Oh yes, if you like," said he in surprise.

Four different stores I entered with him, and each time he was refused. "Yes sir, I shall try them all, or I should not know whether I should get one."

We entered the fifth store, and the little fellow walked manfully and told the gentleman just what he wanted and how much he had.

"You wanted the book very much?" asked the proprietor. "Yes, very much."

"Why do you want it so much?" "To study, sir. I can't go to school, but I study when I can at home. All the boys have one and they will get ahead of me. Besides, my father was a sailor, and I want to learn of the places he used to go."

"Well, my lad, I will tell you what I will do. I will let you have the new geography, and you pay me the remainder when you can, or I will let you have one that is not quite new for fifty cents."

"Are the leaves all in it and just like the others, only not new?" "Yes, just like the new one."

"It will do just as well, then. I will have eleven cents left towards buying some other books. I am glad they did not let me have one at the other places."

Last year I went to Europe on one of the finest steamers that ever ploughed the waters of the Atlantic. We had very beautiful weather until very near the end of the voyage; then came a most terrible storm that would have sunk all on board had it not been for the captain.

The captain, who had been below with his chart, now came up. He saw how matters stood, and with a voice that I distinctly heard above the roar of the tempest, orders every man to his post.

"I will land you safe in Liverpool," said he, "if you be men."

He did land us safely; but the vessel sank, moored to the dock. The captain stood on the deck of the sinking vessel, receiving the thanks and the blessings of the passengers as they passed down the gang-plank. As I passed he caught my hand and said:

"Judge P—do you recognise me?" "I told him I was not aware that I ever saw him until I stepped on board of his vessel."

"Do you remember the boy in Cincinnati?" "Very well, sir; William Haverly." "I am he," he said, "God bless you." And God bless noble Captain Haverly.
