Teachers' Conventions At Mt. Stewart And Souris

The two-day Teachers Convention opened yesterday morning jointly at Mt. Stewart and Souris with large numbers of teachers from the surrounding territories in attendance to hear some of the leading educationists of the Province.

At Souris the morning meetings were devoted to resolutions and nominations. The convention president, Mrs. Sadie Coffin welcomed the teachers to the convention and reviewed the activities of the past year citing some of the notable improvements made.

Miss Helen MacIsaac, secretary, read the minutes of the last annual convention, which were approved. Mr. Malcolm MacKenzie, assistant director of education, gave a comprehensive review of the course of studies, stressing the fact that through government subventions amounting to approximately $30,000.00, the cost of the text books to students was much cheaper than would ordinarily be the case. He new with each phase of the curriculum, noting any changes which had been made in the work to be covered, offering also supplementary books to assist the teacher in the presentation of the material.

Science Talk

Mr. Kenneth Parker, supervisor of city schools, spoke primarily on science, and its relation to the life of the child living in a social world. His philosophy, he said, was such that the growth and development of the child in all necessary phases, physically, mentally, morally, and socially, to be of paramount importance.

Science is an important factor in our daily living, he said, and although its misuse has caused considerable hardship, it was nonetheless necessary, but needed to be directed to the right goal, inasmuch as science attempts to control our environment in our everyday living. Consequently science must be an important part of the school curriculum, and the student should be introduced to it early through field studies, classroom experiments, radio, pictures and also through elementary text books in the school library, and in this way to acquire those fundamental principles necessary to advanced science training.

Miss Marie Bowness opened the afternoon session with an instructive report on the activities of the P. E. I. Teachers Federation. She dwelt to some extent on the work of teachers and introduced by the Federation, and solicited suggestions from the assembled teachers.

Miss Helen Foley, Souris, presented an excellent language demonstration, stating that the language growth of the child was derived through many ways, reading, literature, oral composition, written composition, spelling, choral reading, and singing. It is the work of the teacher to develop thought in the child through the introduction of ideas, and then provide the child with the means of expressing fluently these thoughts by a vocabulary knowledge and unity of expression. She then presented a group of five and six grade pupils of the Souris Convent who sang several selections with Sister St. George as piano accompanist.

A brief sing-song followed with all the teachers joining in to make a changed interlude in the work of the day.

Miss Mona Clay of the Mental Health Department, of child guidance, and Miss Ruth Ross, of the Department of Health, spoke briefly on their respective fields. Supervisor H. J. Hynes concluded the afternoon session with a timely address to the teachers who have begun or are about to begin the year's work. He stressed primarily that teachers should try to inculcate in students a love of reading so that their mental development should grow through the acquisition of new ideas. A teacher should use many means to impart ideas, he said, and especially those which appeal to hearing, seeing and touching. He urged teachers to begin a lesson with a review, then cover the day's lesson and then open up new material. In assisting the new teachers, he stressed the need for a suitable time table through which the material designated for the day would be covered, and also permit time for seat work.

He concluded by commending the teachers for their work during the past year in which he was most gratified. He was of the opinion that the new year would bring results equally as gratifying as in the past. The committees formed in the morning session included: Pres. Mrs. Floyd MacLean, Mrs. Walter Dixon; resolutions, Mr. Sterling McLeod, Mr. E. James McDonald, Sister St. Alden; nominations, Mrs. Marjorie McDonald, Miss Helen Foley, Mr. Eugene Hennessey.

MT. STEWART MEETING

In general the program at Mt. Stewart was the same with the president of the convention, Mr. Warren McGuirk, presiding, and addressing the gathering.

Mr. Kenneth Parker, Supervisor of City Schools, addressed the group on the teaching of science and told of the methods employed.

Miss Ruth Ross, Public Health Nurse, spoke to the teachers and described the best methods of teaching the children proper health habits. Also addressing them briefly was Mr. G. E. Rice, School Supervisor. In addition to the short address of the president there was a brief language demonstration.

Today the two-day convention will close with the speakers including Dr. L. W. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Education, Mrs. Gordon MacDonald, who will deal with the Home and School theme. Mr. J. G. Dennis, who will discuss Credit Unions for Teachers, Miss Marie Bowness, School Supervisor, and a talk on the Junior Red Cross in the Province. Mr. J. P.
