Nun Decides Against Early Return To Africa

SUBURBY ONT. (CP)—Sister Superiora Marie Dams, a nun of the Daughters of Wisdom order and one of seven Canadian nuns who have joined the rebels in Stanleyville, said Monday she is not going back to Africa. She arrived in Canada Dec. 1.

In an interview here she said the Congolese disagree among themselves and act like children.

They are not ready for independence, she said.

She said she had a nurse in a hospital 200 miles from Stanleyville, the rebel capital.

She said the rebels attacked because they thought a radio transmitter was hidden there. However she feels the rebels were actually afraid that Belgian paratroops would take over Stanleyville for good.

"They beat us hard and often," she said. "The soldiers were drugged and that was why they were so cruel."

She said she told 40 priests and nuns were held for more than 24 hours in a seven-day detention camp. All hostages suffered from starvation and lack of water.

She said she and other nuns were just as cruel to their own people," she added. "They killed and tortured government officials."

4 Soviet Sub Bases Are Claimed in Cuba

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—State Dept. officials said today that the U.S. military has learned of the existence of at least four Soviet submarine bases in Cuba.

The story, written by John Edgar Hoover, was built at a news conference in Washington.

Ennis wrote: "One base is located at San Juan Bay. The other three are located in the vicinity of Havana. The depth of the sea near this coast has been deepened and a tunnel excavated from one end of the submarine to the other. At least two submarines operate from this tunnel."

"On the island of Guantanamo, a base has been constructed at a cost of $5,500,000. This also consists of a large tunnel and supports at least three submarines. These two bases were established to keep an eye on the area known as the Bahama Canal, used by both commercial and naval ships.

"In Matanzas province, a little over 100 miles from Havana, the Communists have built their closest submarine base to the United States. It is located in the Yumuri Valley. The other known submarine base is in the Pinar del Rio province at Mariel Bay. These last two bases support at least two submarines to the other. At least two submarines operate from this tunnel."

SNOW TIME FOR SOVIET BATHERS

Province's Bracing Itself For Hail, Snow Onslaught

Islanders braced themselves yesterday for an onslaught of snow, freezing rain and ice pellets which began early in the day and was forecast to dump two to five more inches of snow on the province today.

Hardest hit so far was the western end of the province. With snow accompanied by drizzle, beginning yesterday morning, some roads in West Prince were blocked before noon.

By nightfall, travelling was extremely heavy on all western highways. Winds gusting to 40 miles per hour whirled snow into drifts which brought traffic almost to a standstill throughout the area.

An Island Motor Transport bus was bogged down at O'Leary Corner around 8.30 p.m., but a plow was expected to be on hand to clear it later in the night.

An RCAF Met spokesman said a snowfall of between nine and 11 inches was anticipated for the Summerside area by this morning.

FURRIES FORECAST

By 8.30 last evening seven inches had been recorded and from two to four more were expected. A change to snowflurries was forecast for early this morning.

Winds from the northeast of 30 miles per hour gusting to 40 and 45 causing drifting in town, but a plow dispatcher said last night roads were passable, although it was expected to be fair, although motorists reported extremely heavy travelling on clay roads.

Plows were not expected to be sent out, except in an emergency, because of weight restrictions on paved highways.

The wintry blast which brought a halt to last week's unseasonable mildness also kept snow on the ground in Nova Scotia and made for poor driving conditions throughout the Maritimes.

All Eastern Provincial Airways flights were cancelled yesterday.

CNR ferries between Bord and Tormentine, however, ran on schedule.

Mystery Trip By Officials Explained By Premier Shaw

The mystery of the mysterious trip to Summerside has been cleared up.

Yesterday, Premier Walter R. Shaw and Provincial Secretary J. David Stewart went to the Prince County town to meet with cabinet ministers, Henry Wedge and Dr. Hubert MacNeill.

While there was speculation that the unannounced trip may have been to discuss a by-election to fill the vacant Prince George County seat or a possible cabinet position, the trip was described as a speculation last night.

"We took the opportunity," the premier said, "to review progress with Mr. Wedge on the new industrial park. Our visit had no political overtones."

The premier said he has great interest in the industrial park. He said "I want to see that the project is off to a good ground properly."

"Some small industries have expressed interest in the park," the premier said, "but we have nothing definite to announce at this time on their possible location there."

Dr. MacKinnon Places Fourth In National Poll

Dr. Frank MacKinnon, described as the "force behind the 1964 election," placed fourth in a cross-country public opinion poll for "Canada of the Year" conducted by Teleglobe, sponsored by Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Telecommunications.

Prime Minister Lester Pearson came in second, while second and third spots were won by Cardinal Léger and Gordon Schrum, chancellor of Simon Fraser University, respectively.

The title "Woman of the Year" went to Miss Judy LaMarsh, minister of health, and 46.8 per cent of the women polled named him as their choice.
